Phantom Lake Birk Sproxton, 2005-09-01 Phantom Lake explores the stories legends and tall tales that make up Flin Flon a real imaginary place perched on rocky outcrops and lakes of the Canadian Shield Birk Sproxton traverses the high latitudes of Manitoba and Saskatchewan in a quest for the mystery of Flin Flon and in search of himself The northern stories like Shield Lakes seen from the air become ink blots to test the writer's mettle Sproxton tells of the first gold rush the draining of Flin Flon Lake the emergence of the open pit smelter smoke and slag pour headframes and tailings ponds At the center of this fictional and historical mosaic lies the elusive Phantom Lake Making it Home Deborah Keahey, 1998-12-01

Traditional approaches to Prairie literature have focussed on the significance of the land in attempts to make a place into a home The emphasis on the importance of landscape as a defining feature ignores the important roles played by other influences brought to the land such as history culture gender ethnicity religion community family and occupation Deborah Keahey considers over 70 years of Canadian Prairie literature including poetry autobiography drama and fiction The 17 writers range from the well established like Martha Ostenso and Robert Kroetsch to newer writers like Ian Ross and Kelly Rebar Through their works she asks whether the Prairies are a physical or a political creation whether home is made by what you bring with you or what you find when you arrive and she incorporates the influences and effects far beyond landscape to understand what guides the home making process of both the writers and their creations Her study acknowledges that home is a complicated concept and making a place into a home place is a complicated process Informed by current linguistic feminist postcolonial and cultural theory Keahey explores these concepts in depth and redefines our understanding of place home and the relationship between them The Redheaded Woman with the Black Black Heart Birk Sproxton, 1993
