ranging from early modern Europe to the postmodern United States and covering a variety of media from books and paintings to film and photography their essays seek a deeper understanding of what censorship criticism and the public sphere really mean Getting rid of the censor the contributors suggest does not eliminate the problem of censorship In varied but complementary ways they view censorship as something more than a negative unified institutional practice used to repress certain discourses Instead the authors contend that censorship actually legitimates discourses not only by allowing them to circulate but by staging their circulation as performances through which good and bad discourses are differentiated and opposed These essays move discussions of censorship out of the present discourse of diversity into what might be called a discourse of legitimation In doing so they open up the possibility of realignments between those who are disenchanted with both stereotypical right wing criticisms of political critics and aesthetics and stereotypical left wing defenses Contributors Richard Burt Stuart Culver Donald Hedrick Christian Jouhaud Michael G Levine Timothy Murray Aamir Mufti David Norbrook Dennis Porter Brook Thomas Jirina Smejkalov Strickland Jeffrey Wallen and Rob Wilson The Oxford Handbook of Adaptation Studies Thomas Leitch, 2017-03-17 This collection of forty new essays written by the leading scholars in adaptation studies and distinguished contributors from outside the field is the most comprehensive volume on adaptation ever published Written to appeal alike to specialists in adaptation scholars in allied fields and general readers it harkens back to the foundations of adaptation studies a century and more ago surveys its ferment of activity over the past twenty years and looks forward to the future It considers the very different problems in adapting the classics from the Bible to Frankenstein to Philip Roth and the commons from online mashups and remixes to adult movies It surveys a dizzying range of adaptations around the world from Latin American telenovelas to Czech cinema from Hong Kong comics to Classics Illustrated from Bollywood to zombies and explores the ways media as different as radio opera popular song and videogames have handled adaptation Going still further it examines the relations between adaptation and such intertextual practices as translation illustration prequels sequels remakes intermediality and transmediality The volume's contributors consider the similarities and differences between adaptation and history adaptation and performance adaptation and revision and textual and biological adaptation casting an appreciative but critical eye on the theory and practice of adaptation scholars and occasionally each other The Oxford Handbook of Adaptation Studies offers specific suggestions for how to read teach create and write about adaptations in order to prepare for a world in which adaptation already ubiquitous is likely to become ever more important
