Rogue Regimes Terrorism And Proliferation:

Rogue Regimes Raymond Tanter, 1999-02-15 Explores U S foreign policy with regard to nations such as Iran Iraq Syria and Libya uncovering the reasons why these countries are so menacing to the United States

The Evolution of Nuclear Strategy Lawrence Freedman, Jeffrey Michaels, 2019-07-31 The Evolution of Nuclear Strategy quickly established itself as a classic when it first appeared in 1981 This edition makes it even better incorporating as it does new material about the Cold War and up dating to include subsequent developments Filled with insights and penetrating analysis this volume is truly indispensable Robert Jervis Author of How Statesmen Think Freedman and Michaels have written a thorough and thought provoking guide to nuclear strategy The authors analyze the causes of both wise and unwise strategic decisions in the past and thereby shine a bright light on dilemmas we face in our common nuclear future Scott Sagan Stanford University USA With its comprehensive coverage clear and direct language and judicious summaries of a vast literature this new and wholly revised edition of The Evolution of Nuclear Strategy will be essential reading for any student of nuclear history strategic studies or contemporary international relations Matthew Jones London School of Economics and Political Science UK Sir Lawrence Freedman s The Evolution of Nuclear Strategy has been the first port of call for three generations of academics and policy makers wanting to familiarize themselves with the subject matter The success of this book could have led Professor Freedman to satisfy himself with regular updates or afterwords But the tireless author is now gracing us with an entirely revised edition of his masterpiece nearly forty years after its initial publication taking into account findings from archives and declassified documents At the same time The Evolution of Nuclear Strategy remains true to its original purpose and spirit an easy to read manual light with footnotes focusing on policy rather than on theory and thus the best possible introduction to an arcane subject In an era when nuclear strategy issues seem to be becoming relevant again its historical scope and breadth will make its reading or re reading even more useful if only because knowing about the absurdity of the Cold war arms race is a prerequisite if one does not want to repeat its mistakes Bruno Tertrais Deputy Director Fondation pour la Recherche Stratégique France This updated and improved edition of the classic text on the evolution of nuclear strategy is a must read for anyone attempting to understand the nuclear predicament and where it is heading Impressive in every respect T V Paul James McGill Professor of International Relations McGill University Canada and the author of The Tradition of Non Use of Nuclear Weapons After the end of the Cold War we hoped for a world in which nuclear weapons would have low salience or might even disappear into virtual non assembled arsenals Alas they are coming to the fore again With changes in political context and technology it is thus pressing that the Bible on the Evolution of Nuclear Strategy should be updated Lawrence Freedman s great classic has been admirably updated with the help of Jeff Michaels The work just as its previous editions thus remains the definitive and authoritative point of reference on nuclear strategy in the twenty first century Beatrice Heuser Chair of International Relations University of Glasgow Scotland First published in 1981 Lawrence

Freedman's The Evolution of Nuclear Strategy was immediately acclaimed as the standard work on the history of attempts to cope militarily and politically with the terrible destructive power of nuclear weapons. It has now been completely rewritten drawing on a wide range of new research and updated to take account of the period following the end of the cold war and covering all nuclear powers. QDR 2001: Strategy-Driven Choices for America's Security, Routledge Handbook of Nuclear Proliferation and Policy Joseph Pilat, Nathan Busch, 2015-05-15 This new Handbook is a comprehensive examination of the rich and complex issues of nuclear proliferation in the early 21st century. The future of the decades long effort to prevent the further spread of weapons of mass destruction is at a crossroads today. If international nonproliferation efforts are to be successful an integrated multi tiered response will almost certainly be necessary. A serious thorough and clear eyed examination of the range of threats challenges and opportunities facing the international community is a necessary first step. This Handbook which presents the most up to date analysis and policy recommendations on these critical issues by recognized leading scholars in the field intends to provide such an examination. The volume is divided into three major parts. Part I presents detailed threat assessments of proliferation risks across the globe including specific regions and countries. Part II explains the various tools developed by the international community to address these proliferation threats. Part III addresses the proliferation risks and political challenges arising from nuclear energy production including potential proliferation by aspiring states and nonstate groups. This Handbook will be of great interest to students and practitioners of nuclear proliferation arms control global governance diplomacy and global security and IR general. A Grand Strategy for America Robert J. Art, 2013-02-15 The United States today is the most powerful nation in the world perhaps even stronger than Rome was during its heyday. It is likely to remain the world's preeminent power for at least several decades to come. What behavior is appropriate for such a powerful state? To answer this question Robert J. Art concentrates on grand strategy the deployment of military power in both peace and war to support foreign policy goals. He first defines America's contemporary national interests and the specific threats they face then identifies seven grand strategies that the United States might contemplate examining each in relation to America's interests. The seven are: dominion forcibly trying to remake the world in America's own image; global collective security attempting to keep the peace everywhere; regional collective security confining peacekeeping efforts to Europe; cooperative security seeking to reduce the occurrence of war by limiting other states' offensive capabilities; isolationism withdrawing from all military involvement beyond U.S. borders; containment holding the line against aggressor states; and selective engagement choosing to prevent or to become involved only in those conflicts that pose a threat to the country's long term interests. Art makes a strong case for selective engagement as the most desirable strategy for contemporary America. It is the one that seeks to forestall dangers not simply react to them that is politically viable at home and abroad and that protects all U.S. interests both essential and desirable. Art concludes that selective engagement is not a strategy for all times but it is the best grand strategy for these times. The Routledge

Handbook of Terrorism Research Alex Schmid, 2011-02-25 This major new Handbook synthesises more than two decades of scholarly research and provides a comprehensive overview of the field of terrorism studies. The content of the Handbook is based on the responses to a questionnaire by nearly 100 experts from more than 20 countries as well as the specific expertise and experience of the volume editor and the various contributors. Together they guide the reader through the voluminous literature on terrorism and propose a new consensus definition of terrorism based on an extensive review of existing conceptualisations. The work also features a large collection of typologies and surveys a wide range of theories of terrorism. Additional chapters survey terrorist databases and provide a guide to available resources on terrorism in libraries and on the Internet. It also includes the most comprehensive World Directory of Extremist Terrorist and other Organizations associated with Guerrilla Warfare, Political Violence, Protest and Organized and Cyber Crime. The Routledge Handbook of Terrorism Research will be an essential work of reference for students and researchers of terrorism and political violence, security studies, criminology, political science and international relations and of great interest to policymakers and professionals in the field of counter terrorism.

Terrorism and U.S. Foreign Policy Paul R. Pillar, 2004-05-13 The United States government backed by the overwhelming support of the American public takes a hard line against international terrorism. The tenets of official U.S. counterterrorist policy are: make no concessions or deals with terrorists; bring them to justice for their crimes; isolate and apply pressure on states that sponsor terrorism; and bolster the counterterrorist capabilities of countries willing to work with the United States. While these tenets are sound principles, their application specifically overseas raises difficult questions. Does the no deal policy actually deter terrorists' acts? Are there cases where agreements might reduce terrorism while advancing other U.S. interests? Do isolation and pressure really force offending states to alter their support for terrorists? What factors affect the willingness not just the capability of foreign governments to help the United States in counterterrorism? In this critical study, a career CIA officer provides a guide to constructing and executing counterterrorist policy, urging that it be formulated as an integral part of broader U.S. foreign policy. In the first four chapters, Paul R. Pillar identifies the necessary elements of counterterrorist policy; he examines why the United States is a prime terrorist target and he reveals why the counterterrorist policies that seem strongest are not always the most effective. Chapter 5 examines the widely varying nature of terrorist groups and the policy tools most appropriately applied to them. Chapter 6 focuses on states that sponsor terrorism, including Iran, Libya, North Korea, and Cuba, along with those that enable it to occur, particularly Greece and Pakistan. Pillar examines ways in which the American public's perspective toward terrorism can actually constrain counterterrorist policy and he concludes that terrorism cannot be defeated only reduced, attenuated, and to some degree controlled. The final chapter summarizes his recommendations.

Dictionary of International Security Paul Robinson, 2008 This dictionary provides readers with a handy reference guide to the field of international security by including over 200 articles on a wide range of concepts, issues, treaties, and institutions from absolute war to weapons of mass

Cimbala,2006-03-10 Nuclear weapons once thought to have been marginalized by the end of the Cold War have returned with a vengeance to the centre of US security concerns and to a world bereft of the old certainties of deterrence This is a major analysis of these new strategic realities The George W Bush administration having deposed the regime of Saddam Hussein in Iraq now points to a new nuclear Axis of Evil Iran and North Korea These nations and other rogue states as well as terrorists may pose key threats because they are beyond deterrence which was based on the credible fear of retaliation after attack This new study places these and other developments such as the clear potential for a new nuclear arms race in Asia within the context of evolving US security policy Detailing the important milestones in the development of US nuclear strategy and considering the present and future security dilemmas related to nuclear weapons this is a major new contribution to our understanding of the present international climate and the future Individual chapters are devoted to the key issues of missile defenses nuclear proliferation and Israel s nuclear deterrent This book will be of great interest to all students and scholars of strategic studies international relations and US foreign policy Terrorists in Our Midst Yonah Alexander,2010-04-09 This unique work analyzes for the first time how foreign affinity terrorism works in a major democratic nation like the United States and what this country must do to survive the terror challenge on both conventional and unconventional levels To date no definitive study has dealt specifically with the role of American citizens in supporting a foreign political ideological and religious illegal agenda Terrorists in Our Midst Combating Foreign Affinity Terrorism in America remedies that as six expert authors discuss the threats of Americans to security interests in the United States and elsewhere exploring what can and should be done to reduce a risk that may threaten the very survival of the free world Terrorists in Our Midst focuses not only on foreign nationals operating in the United States but also on American citizens participating in terror networks at home and abroad The book presents an overview of both conventional and unconventional terrorism surveys the terrorist threat in the United States by state and nonstate actors and analyzes the foreign affinity links of American operatives in this country and abroad Most important for the safety and security of the United States it offers an assessment of what policies worked and what did not work specifying a best practices agenda of recommendations that should be adopted by the United States and the international community Regime Change Robert Litwak,2007-01-30 The 9 11 terrorist attacks starkly recast the U S debate on rogue states In this new era of vulnerability should the United States counter the dangers of weapons proliferation and state sponsored terrorism by toppling regimes or by promoting change in the threatening behavior of their leaders Regime Change examines the contrasting precedents set with Iraq and Libya and provides incisive analysis of the pressing crises with North Korea and Iran A successor to the author s influential Rogue States and U S Foreign Policy 2000 this compelling book clarifies and critiques the terms in which today s vital foreign policy and security debate is being conducted Terrorism Rosemary H. T. O'Kane,2014-06-06 The history of terrorism stretches back nearly two thousand years and terrorism both in the forms of terrorist groups and terror regimes is an inherent part of the modern world from Anarchist groups to al Qaida from Hitler's Germany and SS to al Bashir's Sudan and Janjaweed militias. It is a subject of high current interest that is rarely out of the news not least as the legacy of 9/11 and it is also of enduring interest. As a new volume in the Seminar Studies series Terrorism has been brought up to date and now looks at both contemporary terrorism and its historical antecedents providing a much needed introduction to the subject.

Maritime Counterproliferation Operations and the Rule of Law Craig H. Allen, 2007-06-30 Allen examines the maritime counterproliferation activities of nations participating in the Proliferation Security Initiative as set out in their Statement of Interdiction Principles. He explains the framework for conducting maritime interception activities, examines the importance of intelligence to PSI operations and assesses the legal issues raised by those operations. The threat of WMD use by terrorist groups and rogue regimes has added new urgency to global security discussions. Responses to the dangers posed by WMD include the nonproliferation regime safeguards for WMD materials while in transit, export controls, treaties on terrorism, Security Council resolutions and the new Protocol to the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts Against the Safety of Maritime Navigation. The existing nonproliferation regime will never by itself provide an adequate level of security. As a result, risk management strategies must include layered counterproliferation activities and consequence management. Counterproliferation measures may include maritime interdictions. The Proliferation Security Initiative, a cooperative undertaking launched in 2003, provides a framework for those interdictions. The framework was formalized in the Statement of Interdiction Principles. After providing an overview of the threats posed by WMD proliferation, this book surveys the nonproliferation regime and counterproliferation measures states have adopted to supplement it. It next provides an overview of maritime interception operations and the intelligence issues surrounding them, before turning to the laws governing such operations. It then examines each of the actions described in the PSI Statement of Interdiction Principles to assess their compliance with applicable laws. Finally, it looks at the laws that establish the responsibility of states for taking unwarranted counterproliferation actions against vessels.

Deviant Conduct in World Politics D. Geldenhuys, 2004-01-20 A long list of countries labelled outcasts, pariahs and rogues have failed to meet international standards of good conduct. In the Cold War years Rhodesia, Israel, Chile, Taiwan and South Africa among others featured among the ranks of the disreputable. In modern world politics the serious sinners not only include states, terrorists, rebels, criminals and mercenaries also participate in the great game of who gets what, when and how. Highlighting the rules of good behaviour that both state and non-state actors have violated, Geldenhuys takes a novel approach that breaks through the narrow parameters of the rogue state paradigm and of other state-centric perspectives.
