Metabolic Compartmentation and Neurotransmission Soll Berl, 2013-03-07 The first symposium on metabolic compartmentation in brain was held at the Rockefeller Foundation Bellagio Italy July 11-16 1971 the proceedings CR Balazs and J E Cremer editors MacMillan appeared in 1973 At the conclusion of the first symposium it was decided to assess in 2-3 years the progress in this rapidly developing area This volume represents the proceedings of an Advanced Study Institute made possible by a grant from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Scientific Affairs Division Additional generous support by the Wellcome Trust allowed attendance by participants from non-NATO countries S Ber D D Clarke D Schneider xi Introduction The term metabolic compartmentation as related to the chemistry of the brain appeared in print for the first time about 15 years ago The concept was developed in the laboratory of Dr Heinrich Waelisch as a result of studies related to the metabolism of glutamic acid and glutamine It was welcomed by a number of neurochemists who felt that the concept had validity and would help explain metabolic phenomena that were otherwise quite puzzling The concept gradually achieved general acceptance and by 1971 the amount of information that could profit by being examined from the point of view of metabolic compartmentation had increased sufficiently to warrant a symposium on the subject Metabolic Compartmentation in the Brain Balazs and Cremer eds MacMillan 1973 Almost all the participants at that initial symposium were present at the second one on which this volume is based      Selected Topics from Neurochemistry Neville N. Osborne, 2013-10-22 This book contains up-dated versions of articles which proved very popular when first published in Neurochemistry International The articles draw attention to developments in a specific field perhaps unfamiliar to the reader collating observations from a wide area which seem to point in a new direction giving the author's personal view on a controversial topic or directing soundly based criticism at some widely held dogma or widely used technique in the neurosciences      The Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1973      Gas Chromatography-mass Spectrometry in Neurobiology Erminio Costa, Bo Holmstedt, 1973
