Pereira, 2011-10 Faces of Dual Diagnosis A Canadian Perspective

Studies reveal that about 1 in every 350 people perhaps 90 000 Canadians are affected by both mental health problems and addictions a condition referred to as dual diagnosis or DD Although the impacts on society are considerable on our health system's resources on our legal and social welfare programs on employers friends neighbours and family and on the individual him or herself remarkably little has been written in the popular media about this widespread problem There is also inadequate awareness and training within the health legal and social welfare systems contends physician Robert B Pereira who specializes in treatment of DD clients In Faces of Dual Diagnosis A Canadian Perspective Pereira explains the various types of mental illnesses and addictions which typically are found in DD He discusses treatment regimes and offers case studies based on real patient profiles to demonstrate his contention that the most successful approach includes a holistic examination and treatment of the client's mental, physical, and spiritual health. Pereira discusses his own life path and then presents a case for the creation of a Canadian Center for Policy Research on Dual Diagnosis. Dozens of DD-related resources are listed in the appendix. Dr. Pereira practices medicine in Surrey, BC. In the heat of the midday sun, I rest by the ocean under the shade of a large tree. At midnight, where there is darkness all around, but the light shines just as brightly, I awaken. A creature of darkness, I have been. This, I have not understood, but now accept. Light, many things it is. An end to the darkness, it cannot bring. Of darkness is borne the light. Robert B. Pereira

We See Things They'll Never See Chantelle Jessica Lewis, Jason Arday, 2025-09-16. How neurotypical hegemony reproduces a culture of exclusion and how to overcome this with love, hope, and solidarity. Ableism is embedded in our daily lives. Social life, education, work, and especially mental health have been organized around rigid ideas of the ideal and the normal citizen, ideas that always exclude neurodiversity. In this pathbreaking book, Chantelle Jessica Lewis and Jason Arday argue that the neurodiversity movement offers ways to mobilize against not only ableism but also other isms, including racism and capitalism. By focusing on the prevalence of neurotypical dominance and power or neurotypical hegemony, Lewis and Arday show the ways that neurotypical dominance has often been used to justify and normalize some of our more harmful cultures around productivity and value. Throughout the book, Lewis and Arday use theories of Blackness, feminism, class, and neurodivergence to offer a vision of solidarities across differences. They show that race, class, ethnicity, gender, and nation are just some of the social structures for which the politics of neurodiversity can produce an emancipatory analysis. This is a book about applying social theory in practice, taking seriously how academic research and theory can be used outside of academic spaces. With We See Things They'll Never See, Lewis and Arday issue a call to action and a call for understanding, acceptance, and humility.

Contours of Creation Aran J. E. Persaud, 2022-04-18. If we pick up the Bible as God's word and at the beginning read with trepidation, then the whole of the Bible is so read. This book was written to help Christians navigate some of the forces of modernity which have crept into the church and influenced the way Christians view the reliability of the biblical creation account and more generally the Bible. Its purpose is to encourage readers to see the steadfastness of God's word as a way of making sense of our lives and the world we live in. It hopes to show that a faith-based historical reading of Gen 1-3 provides a more trustworthy explanation of reality than atheistic evolutionary theories or reading the Genesis story as a make-believe myth. But the book is not a polemic per se. It proposes a faith-based historical reading of the creation story in hopes of learning more about God, creation, and ourselves.
