The early sculpture of Jacopo Sansovino Mary D. Garrard,1989 Architecture, Art and Identity in Venice and its Territories, 1450-1750 Dr Nebahat Avcioglu,2013-12-23 Inspired by Deborah Howard s leading role in fostering a historically grounded and interdisciplinary approach to the art and architecture of Venice the essays here examine the connections and rapports between art and identity through the discussion of patronage space domestic and ecclesiastical and dissemination of architectural knowledge as well as models within Venice its territories and beyond

"Architecture, Art and Identity in Venice and its Territories, 1450?750 " Nebahat Avcioglu,2017-07-05 Cities are shaped as much by a repertoire of buildings works and objects as by cultural institutions ideas and interactions between forms and practices entangled in identity formations This is particularly true when seen through a city as forceful and splendid as Venice The essays in this volume investigate these connections between art and identity through discussions of patronage space and the dissemination of architectural models and knowledge in Venice its territories and beyond They celebrate Professor Deborah Howard s leading role in fostering a historically grounded and interdisciplinary approach to the art and architecture of Venice Based on an examination and re interpretation of a wide range of archival material and primary sources the contributing authors approach the notion of identity in its many guises as self representation as strong sub currents of spatial strategies as visual and semantic discourses and as political and imperial aspirations Employing interdisciplinary modes of interpretation these studies offer ground breaking analyses of canonical sites and works of art diverse groups of patrons as well as the life and oeuvre of leading architects such as Jacopo Sansovino and Andrea Palladio In so doing they link together citizens and nobles past and present the real and the symbolic space and sound religion and power the city and its parts Venice and the Stato da Mar the Serenissima and the Sublime Port The Materiality of Terracotta Sculpture in Early Modern Europe Zuzanna Sarnecka,Agnieszka Dziki,2023-07-31

Through meticulously researched case studies this book explores the materiality of terracotta sculpture in early modern Europe Chapters present a broad geographical perspective showcasing examples of modelling firing painting and gilding of clay in Portugal Spain Italy Germany and the Netherlands The volume considers known artworks by celebrated artists such as Luca della Robbia Andrea del Verrocchio Filipe Hodart or Hans Reichle in parallel with several lesser studied terracotta sculptures and tin glazed earthenware made by anonymous artisans This book challenges arbitrary distinctions into the fine art and the applied arts that obscured the image of artistic production in the early modern world The centrality of clay in the creative processes of artists working with two and three dimensional artefacts comes to the fore The role of terracotta figures in religious practices as well as processes of material substitutions or mimesis confirm the medium's significance for European visual and material culture in general. This book will be of interest to scholars working in art history, Renaissance studies, and material culture.

The Performance of Sculpture in Renaissance Venice Lorenzo G. Buonanno, 2022-03-02. This study reveals the broad material, devotional, and cultural implications of sculpture in Renaissance Venice. Examining a wide range of sources, the era's art theoretical and devotional literature, guidebooks, and travel diaries, and artworks in various media, Lorenzo Buonanno recovers the sculptural values permeating a city most famous for its painting. The book traces the interconnected phenomena of audience response, display, and thematization of sculptural bravura and artistic self-fashioning. It will be of interest to scholars working in art history, Renaissance history, early modern art and architecture, material culture, and Italian studies.

Making and Moving Sculpture in Early Modern Italy Kelley Helmstutler DiDio, 2017-07-05. In recent years, art historians have begun to delve into the patronage, production, and reception of sculptures, sculptors' workshop practices, practical, aesthetic, and esoteric considerations of material and materiality, and the meanings associated with materials and the makers of sculptures. This volume brings together some of the top scholars in the field to investigate how sculptors in early modern Italy confronted such challenges as procurement of materials, their costs, shipping and transportation issues, and technical problems of materials, along with the meanings of the usage, hierarchies of materials, and processes of material acquisition and production. Contributors also explore the implications of these facets in terms of the intended and perceived meanings for the viewer, patron, and/or artist. A highlight of the collection is the epilogue, an interview with a contemporary artist of large-scale stone sculpture, which reveals the similar challenges sculptors still encounter today as they procure, manufacture, and transport their works.

Renaissance Art in Venice Tom Nichols, 2012-04-09. This book examines how sustainability has the potential to transform both the fashion system and the innovators who work within it. Sustainability is arguably the defining theme of the twenty-first century. The issues in fashion are broad-ranging and include labour abuses, toxic chemicals use, and conspicuous consumption, giving rise to an undeniable tension between fashion and sustainability. The book is organized in three parts. The first part is concerned with transforming fashion products across the garment's lifecycle and includes innovation in materials, manufacture, distribution, use, and re-use. The second part looks at ideas that are transforming the fashion system at root into something more sustainable, including new business models that reduce material throughput. The third section is concerned with transforming the role of fashion designers and looks to examples where the designer changes from a stylist or creator into a communicator, activist, or facilitator.
