Marvels like enchanted rings and sorcerers stones were topics of fascination in the Middle Ages not only in romance and travel literature but also in the period s philosophical writing Rather than constructions of belief accepted only by simple minded people Michelle Karnes shows that these spectacular wonders were near impossibilities that demanded scrutiny and investigation This is the first book to analyze a diverse set of writings on such wonders comparing texts from the Latin West including those written in English French Italian and Castilian Spanish with those written in Arabic as it works toward a unifying theory of marvels across different disciplines and cultures Karnes tells a story about the parallels between Arabic and Latin thought reminding us that experiences of the strange and the unfamiliar travel across a range of genres spanning geographical and conceptual space and offering an ideal vantage point from which to understand intercultural exchange Karnes traverses this diverse archive showing how imagination imbues marvels with their character and power making them at once enigmatic creative and resonant Skirting the distinction between the real and unreal these marvels challenge readers to discover the highest capabilities of both nature and the human intellect Karnes offers a rare comparative perspective and a new methodology to study a topic long recognized as central to medieval culture

The Ancient Mediterranean Sea in Modern Visual and Performing Arts Rosario Rovira Guardiola, 2017-12-14 When thinking about the Mediterranean Fernand Braudel s haunting words resound like an echo of the sea and its millenary history From Prehistory until today the Mediterranean has been setting witness and protagonist of mythical adventures of encounters with the Other of battles and the rise and fall of cultures and empires of the destinies of humans Braudel s appeal for a long dur e history of the Mediterranean challenged traditional views that often present it as a sea fragmented and divided through periods This volume proposes a journey into the bright and dark sides of the ancient Mediterranean through the kaleidoscopic gaze of artists who from the Renaissance to the 21st century have been inspired by its myths and history The view of those who imagined and recreated the past of the sea has largely contributed to the shaping of modern cultures which are inexorably rooted and embedded in Mediterranean traditions. The contributions look at modern visual reinterpretations of ancient myths, fiction and history and pay particular attention to the theme of sea travel and travellers which since Homer's Odyssey has become the epitome of the discovery of new worlds of cultural exchanges and a metaphor of personal developments and metamorphoses.
