Sea Of Regret Two Turn Of The Century Chinese Romantic Novels:

The Sea of Regret Wu Jianren, Fu Lin, 2021-05-25 Published within a few months of each other in 1906 Stones in the Sea by Fu Lin and The Sea of Regret by Wu Jianren take opposite sides in the heated turn of the century debate over the place of romantic and sexual love and passion in Chinese life. The Sea of Regret which came to be the most popular short novel of this period is a response to the less well known but equally significant Stones in the Sea. Taken together this pair of novels provides a fascinating portrait of early twentieth century China's struggle with its own cultural, ethical and sexual redefinition. Patrick Hanan's masterful translation brings together these novels, neither of which has before been available in any foreign language in a single volume with a valuable introduction and notes. A tour de force in the art of translation, The Sea of Regret is not only accurate but in the typical Hanan fashion it is succinct and elegant as well. Impeccable work from an eminent scholar of Chinese fiction and a master of prose. Lee Ou fan Lee UCLA. These two short novels are especially interesting for their insights into the debate in educated circles concerning marriage, family and the status of women. The chaos in China caused by the Boxer Rebellion of 1900 is also vividly rendered in both works. Readers will find not only intrinsic interest but also historical relevance in these early modern novels. Michael S. Duke, University of British Columbia. Patrick Hanan is Victor S. Thomas, Professor of Chinese Literature at Harvard University. He is the author of The Chinese Vernacular Story and The Invention of Li Yu and the translator of The Carnal Prayer Mat and A Tower for the Summer Heat. The Columbia

History of Chinese Literature Victor H. Mair, 2010-02-22 Comprehensive yet portable, this account of the development of Chinese literature from the very beginning up to the present brings the riches of this august literary tradition into focus for the general reader. Organized chronologically with thematic chapters interspersed, the fifty-five original chapters by leading specialists cover all genres and periods of poetry, prose fiction and drama with a special focus on such subjects as popular culture, the impact of religion upon literature, the role of women and relationships with non-Sinitic languages and peoples.

Chinese Modern Xiaobing Tang, 2000-04-03 An analysis of the Chinese experience of modernity through the literary works, films and other cultural artifacts that represent it. The Oxford Guide to Literature in English Translation Peter France, 2000 Translation has been a crucial process in world culture over the past two millennia and more. In the English-speaking cultures many of the most important texts are translations from Homer to Beckett, the Bible to Freud. Although recent years have seen a boom in translation studies, there has been no comprehensive yet convenient guide to this essential element of literature in English. Written by eminent scholars from many countries, The Oxford Guide to Literature in English Translation meets this need and will be essential reading for all students of English and comparative literature. It highlights the place of translation in our culture, encouraging awareness of the issues raised, making the translator more visible. Concentrating on major writers and works, it covers translations out of many languages from Greek to Korean, from Swahili to Russian. For some works, e.g. Virgil's Aeneid, which have been much translated, the discussion is historical and critical, showing how translation has evolved over the centuries and bringing out the differences between versions Elsewhere with less familiar literatures the Guide examines the extent to which translation has done justice to the range of work available The Guide is divided into two parts Part I contains substantial essays on theoretical questions a pioneering outline of the history of translation into English and discussions of the problems raised by specific types of text e g poetry oral literature The second much longer part consists of entries grouped by language of origin some are devoted to individual texts e g the Thousand and One Nights or writers e g Ibsen Proust but the majority offer a critical overview of a genre e g Chinese poetry Spanish Golden Age drama or of a national literature e g Hungarian Scottish Gaelic There is a selective bibliography for each entry and an index of authors and translators

Translating Chinese Fiction Tan Yesheng, 2024-06-28 Drawing on the cognitive translational paradigm this book introduces a situation embedded cognitive construction model of translation and explores the thinking portfolios of British and American sinologists cum translators to re-examine their multiple voices and cognition in translating Chinese fiction By placing sinologists cum translators in the same discourse space the study transcends the limitations of previous case studies and offers a comprehensive cognitive panorama of how Chinese novels are rendered The author explores the challenges and difficulties of translating Chinese fiction from the insider perspectives of British and American sinologists and cross-validates their multiple voices by aligning them with cross-cultural communication scenarios Based on the cognitive construction model of translation the book provides a systematic review of the translation thoughts and ideas of the community of sinologists in terms of linguistic conventions narrative styles contextual and cultural frames readership categories and metaphorical models of translation It envisions a new research path to enhance empirical research on translators' cognition in a dynamic translation ecosystem The title will be an essential read for students and scholars of translation studies and Chinese studies It will also appeal to translators and researchers interested in cognitive stylistics literary studies and intercultural communication studies

Detecting Chinese Modernities Yan Wei, 2020-05-18 In Detecting Chinese Modernities: Rupture and Continuity in Modern Chinese Detective Fiction 1896-1949 Yan Wei historicizes the two stages in the development of Chinese detective fiction and discusses the rupture and continuity in the cultural transactions, mediation and appropriation that occurred when the genre of detective fiction traveled to China during the first half of the twentieth century Wei identifies two divergent or even opposite strategies for appropriating Western detective fiction during the late Qing and the Republican periods She further argues that these two periods in the domestication of detective fiction were also connected by shared emotions Both periods expressed ambivalent and sometimes contradictory views regarding Chinese tradition and Western modernity

The Cultural Roots of Strategic Intelligence Gino LaPaglia, 2019-11-20 Strategic Intelligence is a form of meaning that promises the possibility of strategic advantage, dignity, the achievement of objective and the fulfillment of potential in hostile environments In The Cultural Roots of Strategic Intelligence Gino LaPaglia demonstrates that the strategic aspect of reason arising in human experience encoded as value and born by culture as a strategic resource has been encoded as values that have been memorialized in culturally authoritative sources in various Eurasian cultures for thousands of years These sources have validated a strategic orientation in the world legitimized the strategist as a heroic identity and transmitted a coherent world view that enables the practitioner of strategy to overcome asymmetric threat By excavating the provenance of strategic thought expressed in the cultural identity of the strategist in the most culturally authoritative mythological literary philosophical and religious sources and excavating the underlying strategic values expressed in cultural products LaPaglia demonstrates that the strategic aspect of human rationality is one of the most basic structural dynamics of human meaning and that the transmission of this strategic way of being and acting in the world offers hope for life's underdogs

Homesickness Carlos Rojas, 2015-04-06 Carlos Rojas focuses on the trope of homesickness in China discomfort caused not by a longing for home but by excessive proximity to it This inverse homesickness marks a process of movement away from the home conceived of as spaces associated with the nation family and individual body and gives rise to the possibility of long term health

Doubt, Time and Violence in Philosophical and Cultural Thought Artur K. Wardega, 2012-11-16 As the title of the present publication suggests the ten essays of this book try to approach an inconvenient trauma of global human reality and the uniformity of media and cyberspace in which human lives suffer harm loss of inner identity and of broader meaning Indeed our postmodern and post identity times are characterized by a flux of rapid social changes uncertainty vague and shaking moral values by violence and frightening information with its contradictory truths and genuine ambiguity finally by the violence of unpredictable climate change resulting in various and frequent calamities and devastation of life Doubt and time are the central concern of modern philosophy and remind us that violence is inherent in the human condition and that reflection on it regardless of different cultural sensibilities is ipso facto part of the mainstream of our individual and global concerns These and many other fascinating topics from Western and Chinese history were explored and brought to light by a learned forum of distinguished scholars and experts whose contributions are contained in this publication

The Literature of China in the Twentieth Century Bonnie S. McDougall, Kam Louie, 1997 A historical survey of 20th century Chinese literature this book chronicles the writers who continuing in the Chinese tradition of using literature to exert moral social and political leadership debated the nature development and future of Chinese society

A History of European Literature Walter Cohen, 2017 Walter Cohen argues that the history of European literature and each of its standard periods can be illuminated by comparative consideration of the different literary languages within Europe and by the ties of European literature to world literature World literature is marked by recurrent systematic features outcomes of the way that language and literature are at once the products of major change and its agents Cohen tracks these features from ancient times to the present distinguishing five main overlapping stages Within that framework he shows that European literature's ongoing internal and external relationships are most visible at the level of form rather than of thematic statement or mimetic representation European literature emerges from world literature before the birth of Europe during antiquity whose Classical languages are the heirs to the complex heritage of Afro Eurasia This legacy is later transmitted by Latin to the various vernaculars The uniqueness of the process lies in the gradual displacement of the learned language by the vernacular long dominated by Romance literatures That development subsequently informs the second crucial differentiating dimension of European literature the multicontinental expansion of its languages and characteristic genres especially the novel beginning in the Renaissance This expansion ultimately results in the reintegration of European literature into world literature and thus in the creation of today's global literary system The distinctiveness of European literature is to be found in these interrelated trajectories

Revolution of the Heart Haiyan Lee, 2006-12-07 This book is an engagingly written critical genealogy of the idea of love in modern Chinese literature thought and popular culture It examines a wide range of texts including literary historical philosophical anthropological and popular cultural genres from the late imperial period to the beginning of the socialist era It traces the process by which love became an all pervasive subject of representation and discourse as well as a common language in which modern notions of self gender family sexuality and nation were imagined and contested Winner of the Association for Asian Studies 2009 Joseph Levenson Book Prize for the best English language academic book on post 1900 China

Orthodox Passions Maram Epstein, 2021-02-01 In this groundbreaking interdisciplinary study Maram Epstein identifies filial piety as the dominant expression of love in Qing dynasty texts At a time when Manchu regulations made chastity the primary metaphor for obedience and social duty filial discourse increasingly embraced the dramatic and passionate excesses associated with late Ming chastity narratives Qing texts especially those from the Jiangnan region celebrate modes of filial piety that conflicted with the interests of the patriarchal family and the state Analyzing filial narratives from a wide range of primary texts including local gazetteers autobiographical and biographical nianpu records and fiction Epstein shows the diversity of acts constituting exemplary filial piety This context Orthodox Passions argues enables a radical rereading of the great novel of manners The Story of the Stone ca 1760 whose absence of filial affections and themes make it an outlier in the eighteenth century sentimental landscape By decentering romantic feeling as the dominant expression of love during the High Qing Orthodox Passions calls for a new understanding of the affective landscape of late imperial China Gender and Sexuality in Modern Chinese History Susan L. Mann,2011-09-19 Gender and sexuality have been neglected topics in the history of Chinese civilization despite the fact that there is a massive amount of historical evidence on the subject China s late imperial government was arguably more concerned about gender and sexuality among its subjects than any other pre modern state How did these and other late imperial legacies shape twentieth century notions of gender and sexuality in modern China Susan Mann answers this by focusing on state policy ideas about the physical body and notions of sexuality and difference in China s recent history from medicine to the theater to the gay bars from law to art and sports More broadly the book shows how changes in attitudes toward sex and gender in China during the twentieth century have cast a new light on the process of becoming modern while simultaneously challenging the universalizing assumptions of Western modernity China in War and Revolution, 1895-1949 Peter Zarrow,2006-06-07 Providing historical insights essential to the understanding of contemporary China this book explores the events that led to the rise of communism and a strong central state during the early twentieth century
