Sartre, Self-formation, and Masculinities Jean-Pierre Boulé, 2005 Published on the occasion of Sartre's Centenary this book helps to understand the man behind the work offering a psycho-social analysis of Jean Paul Sartre with an emphasis on his masculinity It sets out to contextualize Sartre in terms of his psycho-sexual formation and processes of self-constitution in view of his childhood The main period under detailed study is 1905-1945 before Sartre became the Sartre It concentrates on his early childhood his teenage years in La Rochelle the years at the Ecole Normale and the first few years of his adulthood with specific attention on the war years An analysis of Sartre's relationships follows with Simone de Beauvoir and other women and men including love and sex before a postscript covering the period 1973-1980 This essay is not a reductive account It tells the story of Jean Paul Sartre from the inside out so that the achievements of one of the major intellectuals of the 20th Century can be measured against his own internal struggles

Faith of the Fatherless Dr. Paul C Vitz, 2013-10-23 In this updated expanded edition starting with Freud's projection theory of religion that belief in God is merely a product of man's desire for security Professor Vitz argues that psychoanalysis actually provides a more satisfying explanation for atheism Disappointment in one's earthly father whether through death absence or mistreatment frequently leads to a rejection of God A biographical survey of influential atheists of the past four centuries shows that this defective father hypothesis provides a consistent explanation of the intense atheism of these thinkers A survey of the leading defenders of Christianity over the same period confirms the hypothesis finding few defective fathers Vitz concludes with an intriguing comparison of male and female atheists and a consideration of other psychological factors that can contribute to atheism Professor Vitz does not argue that atheism is psychologically determined Each man whatever his experiences ultimately chooses to accept God or reject him Yet the cavalier attribution of religious faith to irrational psychological needs is so prevalent that an exposition of the psychological factors predisposing one to atheism is necessary

Downcast Eyes Martin Jay, 1993-10 Long considered the noblest of the senses vision has increasingly come under critical scrutiny by a wide range of thinkers who question its dominance in Western culture These critics of vision especially prominent in twentieth century France have challenged its allegedly superior capacity to provide access to the world They have also criticized its supposed complicity with political and social oppression through the promulgation of spectacle and surveillance Martin Jay turns to this discourse surrounding vision and explores its often contradictory implications in the work of such influential figures as Jean Paul Sartre Maurice Merleau Ponty Michel Foucault Jacques Lacan Louis Althusser Guy Debord Luce Irigaray Emmanuel Levinas and Jacques Derrida Jay begins with a discussion of the theory of vision from Plato to Descartes then considers its role in the French Enlightenment before turning to its status in the culture of modernity From consideration of French Impressionism to analysis of Georges Bataille and the Surrealists Roland Barthes's writings on photography and the film theory of Christian Metz Jay provides lucid and fair minded accounts of thinkers and ideas widely known for their difficulty His book examines the myriad links between the interrogation of vision and the pervasive antihumanist antimodernist and counter enlightenment tenor of much recent French thought Refusing however to defend the dominant visual order he calls instead for a plurality of scopic regimes Certain to generate controversy and discussion throughout the humanities and social sciences Downcast Eyes will consolidate Jay's reputation as one of today's premier cultural and intellectual historians

Alcibiades at the Door Lawrence R. Schehr, 1995 Focusing on works by Rene Crevel Jean Paul Sartre Roland Barthes and Herve Guibert this book studies how the figures of homosexuality function at the limits of narrative as part of the deep structure of narrative and at the border between public and private discourse The first three chapters follow the difference between inside and outside between public and private between what is known and what can only be surmised The homosexual Rene Crevel who is both inside Surrealism and outside it forces us to reread the marginalized figure of homosexuality in Surrealism Crevel is discussed in light of his most important work Mon corps et moi a sustained effort to negotiate the problems of public and private personae Long before concentrating on Jean Genet Jean Paul Sartre often turned to the subject of homosexuality in his writings of the 1930s and 1940s The figures and forms of homosexuality in Sartre's work are shown to relate to a phenomenology of perception to a persistence of the relation between vision and knowledge and to a set of narrative plays that put Sartre's own relation to homosexuality in a new light. The last of these three chapters focuses on Roland Barthes with a retrospective glance at André Gide through an examination of their travel and confessional writings. Discourses of homosexuality are related to discourse about social power dominant structures and a model of colonialism. The final chapter examines the AIDS-related works of Hervé Guibert which are both a meditation on and an exploration of AIDS that most public of private phenomena. It also examines the changing relation between public and private between the outside world and Guibert's inner world and between the singularity of literary writing and the nomothetic nature of the public document all of which change in a world and in an individual affected by AIDS. The Naturalness of Belief Charles Taliaferro, Paul Copan, 2018-11-13. Despite its name, naturalism as a world view turns out to be rather unnatural in its strict and more consistent form of materialism and determinism. This is why a number of naturalists opt for a broadened version that includes objective moral values, intrinsic human dignity, consciousness, beauty, personal agency, and the like. But in doing so, broad naturalism begins to look more like theism. As many strict naturalists recognize, broad naturalism must borrow from the metaphysical resources of a theistic world view in which such features are very natural, common, sensical, and quite at home in a theistic framework. The Naturalness of Belief begins with a naturalistic philosopher's own perspective of naturalism and naturalness. The remaining chapters take a multifaceted approach in showing theism's naturalness and greater explanatory power. They examine not only rational reasons for theism's ability to account for consciousness, intentionality, beauty, human dignity, free will, rationality, and knowledge; they also look at common, sensical, existential, psychological, and cultural reasons in addition to the insights of the cognitive science of religion.

Mourning Glory Marie-Hélène Huet, 2015-07-27. Mourning Glory sheds light on troubled times as it shows how passion and prejudice, grief and denial all contributed to the continuing creation of a revolutionary legacy that still affects our understanding of the nature of language and history. Yale French Studies, 1948. Encyclopedia of Contemporary

Literary Theory Irene Rima Makaryk, 1993-01-01. The last half of the twentieth century has seen the emergence of literary theory as a new discipline. As with any body of scholarship, various schools of thought exist and sometimes conflict within it. Irene Makaryk has compiled a welcome guide to the field. Accessible and jargon-free, the Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory provides lucid, concise explanations of myriad approaches to literature that have arisen over the past forty years. Some 170 scholars from around the world have contributed their expertise to this volume. Their work is organized into three parts. In Part I, forty evaluative essays examine the historical and cultural context out of which new schools of and approaches to literature arose. The essays also discuss the uses and limitations of the various schools and the key issues they address. Part II focuses on individual theorists. It provides a more detailed picture of the network of scholars, not always easily pigeonholed into the categories of Part I. This second section analyses the individual achievements as well as the influence of specific scholars and places them in a larger critical context Part III deals with the vocabulary of literary theory It identifies significant complex terms places them in context and explains their origins and use Accessibility is a key feature of the work By avoiding jargon providing mini bibliographies and cross referencing throughout Makaryk has provided an indispensable tool for literary theorists and historians and for all scholars and students of contemporary criticism and culture Sartre et Beauvoir, du je au nous Catherine Poisson, 2021-10-25 Sartre et Beauvoir constituent un des couples littéraires les plus célèbres du XXe siècle même s'ils n'ont jamais collaboré un projet littéraire Pourtant leur relation est fondée sur l'écriture et c'est l'écriture de leur lien qui en assure en grande partie la postérité Sartre et Beauvoir ont en effet mis en scène leur rapport transposé dans la fiction théorisés dans le journal ou exposés dans la lettre ou l'entretien ce qu'on appellera ici le nous autobiographique de Sartre et Beauvoir peut être considéré comme leur œuvre commune menée en contiguïté avec leur œuvre personnelle Puisant dans de nombreux écrits Sartre et Beauvoir Du je au nous a pour objectif de présenter une vue globale de cette entreprise d'auto-représentation marquée tout ensemble par l'exhibition et le secret l'authenticité et l'affabulation La variété de textes et de questions traités dans Sartre et Beauvoir Du je au nous contribue à l'investigation du champ autobiographique tout en proposant une lecture personnelle du couple littéraire Φαντάσματα του θεάτρου Πεφάνης Γιώργος, 2015-10-22 Sartre Jean-Paul Sartre Charles G.
