

Do birds come from dinosaurs?

Evolution of birds is a debate topic in science. The most widespread theory says that they come from the Theropods, dinosaurs that walked on two legs. Fossils of specimens with feathers have been found, and the Archaeopteryx, which lived 150 millions of years ago is the oldest relative known. Covered with feathers, it had a primitive wing and it is believed it flew. However, it kept a good amount of dinosaurian features.

STRANGE BIRD

The Archaeopteryx lithographica is the most primitive and known. It lived in the Jurassic, 150 years ago. It was carnivorous and about 50 cm of height, and 20 long, similar to a crow. Its features make it the closest model to observe the transition between dinosaurs and birds.

OTHER THEORIES

A second theory says that birds came from the first cynodonts, which were small mammals with claws. The third and last one claims that they came from the first amphibians, along with the first reptiles and the first dinosaurs.

CHARACTERISTICS OF BIRDS
The first group is the modern birds, like the modern ones, and it had a set of very strong teeth in both jaws.

TEETH
Presence of teeth in the early, transitional, typical in reptiles and dinosaurs.

FROM REPTILE TO BIRD

1 THEROPOD REPTILE
From the Reptiles group

2 ARCHAEOPTERYX
From the Archaeopteryx group

3 BIRD
From the Birds group

WINGED LIMBS
The Archaeopteryx has the characteristic without primary, while in modern birds the primary and the secondary are joined.

WINGS
The bird is functionally able to fly longer. Archaeopteryx, on the other hand, was not able to fly and it is considered close to birds.

THE FOSSIL

There are several fossil specimens found between 1868 and 1910. The first one, found in Bavaria, Germany, was very important because it was of the same time of the publication of "The Origin of Species" by Charles Darwin. It is a fossil in which the search for "missing links" is evolution-based.
