Enduring Ovarian Cancer Susan Gubar, 2012-04-30 A 2012 New York Times Book Review Notable Book Staggering searing Ms Gubar deserves the highest admiration for her bravery and honesty New York Times Diagnosed with ovarian cancer in 2008 Susan Gubar underwent radical debulking surgery an attempt to excise the cancer by removing part or all of many organs in the lower abdomen Her memoir mines the deepest levels of anguish and devotion as she struggles to come to terms with her body s betrayal and the frightful protocols of contemporary medicine She finds solace in the abiding love of her husband children and friends while she searches for understanding in works of literature visual art and the testimonies of others who suffer with various forms of cancer Ovarian cancer remains an incurable disease for most of those diagnosed even those lucky enough to find caring and skilled physicians Memoir of a Debulked Woman is both a polemic against the ineffectual and injurious medical responses to which thousands of women are subjected and a meditation on the gifts of companionship art and literature that sustain people in need The Lioness in Winter Ann Burack-Weiss, 2015-10-13 When she started working with the aged more than forty years ago Ann Burack Weiss began storing the knowledge and skills she thought would help when she got old herself It was not until she hit her mid seventies that she realized she had packed sneakers to climb Mount Everest not anticipating the crevices and chasms that constitute the rocky terrain of old age The professional gerontological and social work literature offered little help so she turned to the late life works of beloved women authors who had bravely climbed the mountain and sent back news from the summit Maya Angelou Colette Simone de Beauvoir Joan Didion Marguerite Duras M F K Fisher Doris Lessing Mary Oliver Adrienne Rich May Sarton and Florida Scott Maxwell were among the many guides she turned to for inspiration In The Lioness in Winter Burack Weiss blends an analysis of key writings from these and other famed women authors with her own wisdom to create an essential companion for older women and those who care for them She fearlessly examines issues such as living with loss finding comfort and joy in unexpected places and facing disability and death This book is filled with powerful passages from women who turned their experiences of aging into art and Burack Weiss ties their words to her own struggles and epiphanies framing their collective observations with key insights from social work practice      A Season in Hell Marilyn French,1998 While this book is a consideration of what it feels like to be dying and as such it is a musing on death it is also centered on life death has cast a mark on life which gives us a new vision of meaning and purpose As French examines death s role in her life she shares a sense of what pain and suffering can mean to a person who utterly denies transcendent thought of how an experience of closeness to death affects the life we are living now      Encyclopedia of the American Novel Abby H.
