Catton Jr.,2009-05-06 Ecological roots of our troubled time are deeper than its economic manifestations Anguished posterity will look back on this 21st century as the bottleneck century Bottleneck Humanity's Impending Impasse was written to show how and why three converging trends have put humankind in much deeper peril than is generally acknowledged First there are many more of us inhabiting this planet than it can sustain Second technological advances of recent centuries have made gigantic and prodigal our per capita resource appetites and our per capita environmental impacts Third even though as the symbol using species we humans conceivably could do better at anticipating future circumstances and planning ahead our evolutionary heritage together with unanticipated dysfunctions of modern division of labor have kept us too preoccupied with short term concerns People today are dependent upon a fantastically intricate web of exchange relations the market Even when functioning normally and not in a collapsed condition as currently this system of relations has a serious and pervasive dehumanizing effect not adequately discerned by economists nor sociologists Recognition of and adequate adaptation to the deteriorating ecological context of human life has been impeded Human societies even our own are almost certainly going to act in ways that will make an inevitably difficult future unnecessarily worse Factors analyzed in this book have made people seriously averse to the kind and extent of cooperation our difficult future will require Together with the basic trio of disturbing trends humans having become so numerous so ravenous and so short sighted this has made the nature of today's human prospect far more dire than most policymakers dare admit It tempts even the wisest and most civic minded to seek or promote remedial policies that will worsen the real predicament      Smuggling Donkeys David Helwig,2007 Abandoned by his wife for spirituality and yoga she says a retired teacher surviving a hard winter on memory and jokes finds that life still has surprises in store for him Including an attractive former student and an empty old church that he's turned into a theatre As Ingrid Ruthig of Canadian Notes Queries wrote Smuggling Donkeys lacks nothing in largeness of thought or spirit      White Bird in a Blizzard Laura Kasischke,2014-07-15 I am sixteen when my mother steps out of her skin one frozen January afternoon pure self atoms twinkling like microscopic diamond chips around her perhaps the chiming of a clock or a few bright flute notes in the distance and disappears No one sees her leave but she is gone Laura Kasischke's first novel Suspicious River was hailed by the critics as extremely powerful The Los Angeles Times amazing The Boston Globe and a novel of depth beauty and insight The Seattle Times Now Kasischke follows up her auspicious debut with a spellbinding and erotic tale of marriage secrets and self deception When Katrina Connors mother walks out on her family one frigid January day Kat is surprised but not shocked the whole year she has been becoming sixteen falling in love with the boy next door shedding her baby fat discovering sex her mother has slowly been withdrawing As Kat and her father pick up the pieces of their daily life she finds herself curiously unaffected by her mother's absence But in dreams that become too real to ignore she's haunted by her mother's cries for help

Graham Rawle's Lost Consonants III Graham Rawle, 1993 All social researchers need to think about ethical issues Their salience has recently been increased by the pressures of ethical regulation particularly in the case of qualitative research But what are ethical issues And how should they be approached These are not matters about which there is agreement Ethics in Qualitative Research explores conflicting philosophical assumptions the diverse social contexts in which ethical problems arise and the complexities of handling them in practice The authors argue that the starting point for any discussion of research ethics must be the values intrinsic to research above all the commitment to knowledge production However the pursuit of inquiry is rightly constrained by external values and the book focuses on three of these minimising harm respecting autonomy and protecting privacy These external values are shown to be far from unequivocal in character often in conflict with one another or with the commitments of research and always subject to situational interpretation and practical judgment Nevertheless it is contended that in the present challenging times it is essential that qualitative researchers uphold research values Martyn Hammersley is Professor of Educational and Social Research at The Open University Anna Traianou is Senior Lecturer in the Department of Educational Studies Goldsmiths University of London

Instructor, 1979-08      The Malahat Review, 2003      Stuttering Barry Guitar, Stuttering Foundation, The, 2008 The authors of this book show how it is possible and desirable to integrate and coordinate the two most commonly used therapy approaches and retain the advantages of both methods in order to obtain even more satisfactory results P iii      The Collected Papers of Albert Einstein, Volume 14 Albert Einstein, 1987 The more than one thousand letters and several dozen writings included in this volume cover the years immediately before the final formulation of new quantum mechanics. The discovery of the Compton effect in 1923 vindicates Einstein's light quantum hypothesis. Niels Bohr still criticizes Einstein's conception of light quanta and advances an alternative theory, but Walther Bothe and Hans Geiger perform a difficult experiment that decides in favor of Einstein's theory. At the same time, Satyendranath Bose sends a new quantum theoretical derivation of Planck's law to Einstein and he discovers what is now known as Bose-Einstein condensation. Einstein attempts to reformulate a unified theory of the gravitational and electromagnetic fields. In early November 1923, Einstein flees overnight to the Netherlands in the wake of threats on his life and anti-Semitic rioting in Berlin. He rejoins the International Committee on Intellectual Cooperation in June 1924 and supports the idea of a European union. He joins the board of governors of Hebrew University, which opens in April 1925 and celebrates the event in Buenos Aires while on a seven-week lecture tour of Argentina, Uruguay, and Brazil. During this period, he delivers lectures, meets with heads of state, visits major institutions, and attends receptions hosted by the local Jewish and German communities. He has a serious but short-lived falling out with his son Hans Albert and his first wife Mileva Maric Einstein over how to invest part of the Nobel Prize money, and he rescues his sister Maja and her husband from debt on their house. Einstein has a fourteen-month romantic relationship with his secretary Betty Neumann, which he ends in October 1924.
