Metaphors for Interdependence Nicholaos Jones, 2025-05-30 Fazang 643 712 third patriarch of the Huayan tradition of Buddhism was one of the most celebrated and influential thinkers in the history of Chinese Buddhist philosophy Much of his renown derives from his efforts to articulate a vision of reality as a realm of thoroughgoing interdependence For Fazang the smallest grain of sand contains the largest mountain and even the most distant star is inseparable from the lowliest of insects In Metaphors for Interdependence Nicholaos Jones develops a rigorous and accessible examination of Fazang s metaphysical vision The first part of the book explains Fazang s conceptual framework and the precise language he uses to articulate his vision The explanations show how Fazang s terminology derives from and sometimes departs from contributions by influential predecessors in Indian and Chinese traditions of Buddhism The explanations also use engaging examples to illustrate Fazang s more difficult concepts The second part of the book develops incisive interpretations for Fazang s metaphors of Indra s net counting coins and the integrated building The interpretations show how each metaphor illustrates an aspect of Fazang s metaphysical vision and how each relates to similar metaphors in prior Buddhist writings The interpretations also reveal intriguing and hitherto unexplored connections between Fazang s metaphors and Buddhist approaches to optical theory breathing meditation and architecture Taken together Jones s explanations and interpretations demonstrate the coherence and attraction of Fazang s vision challenge facile conceptions of interdependence and invite readers to reconsider a range of common metaphysical assumptions

Art, Religion, and Politics in Medieval China Qiang

Ning,2004-03-31 The cave temple complex popularly known as the Dunhuang caves is the world's largest extant repository of Tang Buddhist art. Among the best preserved of the Dunhuang caves is the Zhai Family Cave built in 642. It is this remarkable cave temple that forms the focus of Ning Qiang's cross disciplinary exploration of the interrelationship of art, religion, and politics during the Tang. The author combines in his careful examination of the paintings and sculptures found there the historical study of pictures with the pictorial study of history. By employing this two fold approach he is able to refer to textual evidence in interpreting the formal features of the cave temple paintings and to employ visual details to fill in the historical gaps inevitably left by text oriented scholars. The result is a comprehensive analysis of the visual culture of the period and a vivid description of social life in medieval China. The original Zhai Family Cave pictures were painted over in the tenth century and remained hidden until the early 1940s. Once exposed the early artwork appeared fresh and colorful in comparison with other Tang paintings at Dunhuang. The relatively fine condition of the Zhai Family Cave is crucial to our understanding of the original pictorial program found there and offers a unique opportunity to investigate the visual details of the original paintings and sculptures in the cave. At the same time the remaining traces of reconstruction and redecoration provide a new perspective on how for over three centuries a wealthy Chinese clan used its familial cave as a political showcase.

The Rāmāyaṇa of Vālmīki: An Epic of Ancient India, Volume V ,2016-12-13

The fifth and most popular book of the Ramayana of Valmiki the Sundarakanda recounts the adventures of the monkey hero Hanuman in leaping across the ocean to the island citadel of Lanka. Once there he scours the city for the abducted Princess Sita. The poet vividly describes the opulence of the court of the demon king Ravana, the beauty of his harem and the hideous deformity of Sita's wardresses. After witnessing Sita's stern rejection of Ravana's blandishments Hanuman reveals himself to the princess and restores her hope of rescue. The great monkey then wreaks havoc on the royal park and fights a series of hair raising battles with Ravana's generals. Permitting himself to be captured by the warrior Indrajit Hanuman is led into the presence of Ravana whom he admonishes for his lechery. His tail is set ablaze but he escapes his bonds and leaping from rooftop to rooftop sets fire to the city. Taking leave of Sita Hanuman once more leaps the ocean to rejoin his monkey companions. This is the fifth volume translated from the critical edition of the Valmiki Ramayana. It contains an extensive introduction, exhaustive notes and a comprehensive bibliography.
