Classical and modern literature is full of patients with interesting neurological cognitive or psychiatric diseases often including detailed and accurate descriptions which suggests the authors were inspired by observations of real people In many cases these literary portrayals of diseases even predate their formal identification by medical science Fictional literature encompasses nearly all kinds of disorders affecting the nervous system with certain favorites such as memory loss and behavioral syndromes There are even unique observations that cannot be found in scientific and clinical literature because of the lack of appropriate studies Not only does literature offer a creative and humane look at disorders of the brain and mind but just as authors have been inspired by medicine and real disorders clinicians have also gained knowledge from literary depictions of the disorders they encounter in their daily practice This book provides an amazing and fascinating look at neurological conditions patients and doctors in literature and film in a way which is both nostalgic and novel

Lambert / The Exiles / Seraphita Honoré de Balzac, 2015-01-14 Louis Lambert The Exiles and Seraphita are three titles from the Philosophical Studies of Honoré de Balzac's magnum opus The Human Comedy which includes about 100 linked stories and novels The three works included in this volume are thematically connected by their engagement with the spiritual doctrines of Emanuel Swedenborg Louis Lambert examines the life and theories of a boy genius who is enrolled in the Collège de Vendôme by a benefactor the real life author Madame de Staël But the actual events of Louis Lambert are secondary to its extended discussions of philosophy and human emotion The Exiles is a short story published in 1831 about two poets named Dante and Godefroid de Gand who attend the Sorbonne at the start of the fourteenth century It explores questions of metaphysics and mysticism particularly the spiritual quest for illuminism and enlightenment Seraphita is Balzac's paean to spiritual love It departs from the realism of the author's best known works Seraphita is a strange and melancholic being loved by Minna who believes him to be a man and also by Wilfrid who considers her a woman In fact Seraphita is an androgyne the perfect example of humanity

The Dream of an Absolute Language Lynn R. Wilkinson, 1996-07-03 Traces the reception of Swedenborg's doctrine of correspondences in French literature and culture from the late 1700s to 1870

The Habit of Lying John Vignaux Smyth, 2002-03-18 An investigation of deceit and concealment that proposes a new theory of fiction both as a new genre of literature and as a strategy in the social world

The Poetics of Death Beatrice Martina Guenther, 1996-07-12 Traditionally the act of writing constitutes a challenge to the finality of death Yet writing as a subject for literary texts has its own tradition of imagery whose rhetoric is associated with loss rather than immortality The limit of death seems to force a more explicit analysis of the process of writing Writers consider the impact of their work on their readers or re-articulate the link between the written text and the subject it is meant to represent Each writer constructs a subversive text The conjunction of writing and death besides highlighting or demystifying the creative act leads in each case to a decidedly critical stance Guenther examines how Kleist's and Balzac's representations of death bring with them a critical awareness that calls attention to the historical context in which the texts are produced
