Luster Of Jade Poetry Painting Music:

Luster of Jade Catherine Yi-yu Cho Woo, 1992-01-01 Poetry and Painting in Song China Alfreda Murck, 2020-10-26

Throughout the history of imperial China the educated elite used various means to criticize government policies and actions. During the Song dynasty 960-1278 some members of this elite found an elegant and subtle means of dissent: landscape painting. By examining literary archetypes, the titles of paintings, contemporary inscriptions, and the historical context, Alfreda Murck shows that certain paintings expressed strong political opinions; some transparent, others deliberately concealed. She argues that the coding of messages in seemingly innocuous paintings was an important factor in the growing respect for painting among the educated elite and that the capacity of painting's systems of reference to allow scholars to express dissent with impunity contributed to the art's vitality and longevity.

The Pastoral in Charles Griffes's Music Taylor A. Greer, 2024-06-18

At the turn of the century, visionary composer Charles Tomlinson Griffes synthesized highly diverse elements from other musical traditions into his distinct artistic voice. As American as he was far-ranging in his interests, Griffes was an aesthetic polyglot combining elements of literature, visual arts, global folk melodies, and contemporary European art music into a new musical language. The breadth of his sources of inspiration are breathtaking, including the sensual harmonies of fin de siècle French music, the British Aesthetic Movement, folk music drawn from the Middle East and Java, and a wide range of poets including William Blake, Samuel Taylor Coleridge, and William Sharp. The Pastoral in Charles Griffes's Music explores both his music and the rich historical context from which it grew to enrich our understanding of the composer's artistic contribution and reveal new intersections and contradictions in European and American culture during the early twentieth century. Taylor A. Greer also critiques the philosophical foundation of topic theory and its relationship to the pastoral in Griffes's music to reflect on the end of the nineteenth century and clarify our understanding of his artistic influences. With Griffes's conception of the pastoral, he transformed the Sicilian-based tradition he inherited from the eighteenth century into a new and vibrant genre that preserved the usual associations of simplicity and tranquility and introduced new elements of tension into the pastoral ideal, including global voices, paradox, and occasional conflict.

Wu Wenying and the Art of Southern Song Ci Poetry Grace S. Fong, 2014-07-14

The author begins with a biography exploring the moral and aesthetic implications of Wu's life as a guest poet patronized by officials and aristocrats and continues with a reconstruction of the historical and literary context needed for modern readers to grasp his poetic techniques. Originally published in 1987, The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print-on-demand technology to again make available previously out-of-print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press. These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions. The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905.

Crystal Catherine Yi-yu Cho Woo, Sandra Ann Wawrytko, 1995 The many manifestations of Chinese poetry are crystals in which we may glimpse the multi faceted reflections of Chinese life values philosophy and emotions This artistic and literary genre reveals the inner lives of the Chinese people how they think feel imagine and hope The authors have sought to convey some sense however fragmentary of the artistic impulse in China as it confronts the endless mystery of existence through the millenia The continuing impact of external influences on a culture remains uncertain So too does the scope of the influence China will have on the world community in the twenty first century and beyond If you listen closely and with a receptive ear the resounding echoes of China's past present and future can be heard in the mellifluous voices of its poets

Song Dynasty Figures of Longing and Desire Lara C.W. Blanchard, 2018-06-05 This book is the winner of the 2020 Joseph Levenson Pre 1900 Book Prize awarded by the Association for Asian Studies In Song Dynasty Figures of Longing and Desire Lara Blanchard analyzes images of women in painting and poetry of China's middle imperial period focusing on works that represent female figures as preoccupied with romance She discusses examples of visual and literary culture in regard to their authorship and audience examining the role of interiority in constructions of gender exploring the rhetorical functions of romantic images and considering connections between subjectivity and representation The paintings in particular have sometimes been interpreted as simple representations of the daily lives of women or as straightforward artifacts of heteroerotic desire Blanchard proposes that such works could additionally be interpreted as political allegories representations of the artist's or patron's interiorities or models of idealized femininity

Senses of the City Joseph S C Lam, 2017-03-15 From its first designation as temporary capital in 1138 the city of Hangzhou then called Lin an was deemed representative of the diminished empire of the Song 960 1279 in all its contradictory aspects The exquisite beauty of the city

confirmed its destiny to become an imperial residence but it also portended its fatal corruption The wealth and ease of Hangzhou epitomized the vigor of the southern empire as well as its oblivious decadence The city was paramount and feeble aweinspiring and threatened the most admired city in the civilized world and a disgrace to the dynastic founders Rather than perpetuating the debate about the merit of these polemical judgments the contributors of Senses of the City treat them as expressions of their historical moment revealing of ideological conviction or aesthetic preference rather than of historical truth By reading the sources as expressions of individual experience and political conviction the contributors defy the impassioned rhetoric of past generations in order to recover the solid ground of historical evidence Leading scholars of the field including Beverly Bossler Stephen West and Martin Powers have produced essays that relate changes in literary convention to shifts in territorial boundaries and analyze writing painting dance and music as means by which individual literati placed themselves in time and space The contributors reestablish the historical connections between writing and meaningful action between text and world between the sources and their own words and between the page and the senses Their efforts to retrieve the sounds sights and smells of Hangzhou from Southern Song texts replicate in reverse direction the attempts of twelfth and thirteenthcentury authors to devise effective tropes and suitable genres that would preserve their living impressions of the city in writing
