but as part of a much needed realignment of our spiritual responsibilities as human beings on planet Earth Ted Hughes, Nature and Culture Neil Roberts, Mark Wormald, Terry Gifford, 2018-09-29 The fourteen contributors to this new collection of essays begin with Ted Hughes's proposition that every child is nature's chance to correct culture's error. Established Hughes scholars alongside new voices draw on a range of approaches to explore the intricate relationships between the natural world and cultural environments, political as well as geographical, which his work unsettles. Combining close readings of his encounters with animals and places and explorations of the poets who influenced him, these essays reveal Ted Hughes as a writer we still urgently need. Hughes helps us manage in his words the powers of the inner world and the stubborn conditions of the other world under which ordinary men and women have to live The Mabinogi Charles William Sullivan, 1996

Culture in Practice collects the academic and political writings from the 1960s through the 1990s of anthropologist Marshall Sahlins. More than a compilation, Culture in Practice unfolds as an intellectual autobiography. The book opens with Sahlins's early general studies of culture, economy, and human nature. It then moves to his reportage and reflections on the war in Vietnam and the antiwar movement, the event that most strongly affected his thinking about cultural specificity. Finally, it offers his more historical and globally aware works on indigenous peoples, especially those of the Pacific islands. Sahlins exposes the cultural specificity of the West, developing a critical account of the distinctive ways that we act in and understand the world. The book includes a play review of Robert Ardrey's sociobiology, essays on native consumption patterns of food and clothes in America, and the West's explorations of how two thousand years of Western cosmology affect our understanding of others and ethnohistorical accounts of how cultural orders of Europeans and Pacific islanders structured the historical experiences of both. Throughout, Sahlins offers his own way of thinking about the anthropological project. To transcend critically our native categories in order to understand how other peoples have historically constructed their modes of existence, even now in the era of globalization, is the great challenge of contemporary anthropology Magical Religion and Modern Witchcraft James R. Lewis, 1996-01-01 Provides an overview of neo-paganism from the Goddess to magic and rituals from history and ethics to the relationship of neo-paganism to Christianity The Waters of Sul Moyra Caldecott, 2006-03-10 It is 72 AD. Most of Britain is under Roman domination. But there is unrest in Aquae Sulis. The local people are threatening rebellion. The centurion Decius Brutus, a Celt, is ordered to return to his home town to deal with the troublemakers. The Waters of Sul is set at a time of transition and adjustment when beliefs are questioned and loyalties tested. Love and hate, conflict and reconciliation, troubled romance and an uneasy traffic with the supernatural, all feature in this brilliantly conceived novel from a masterful storyteller The Celts M. Chapman, 1992-09-15 The Celts are commonly considered to be one of the great peoples of Europe with continuous racial, cultural, and linguistic genealogy from the Iron Age to the modern-day Celtic fringe. This book shows in contrast that the Celts as they have been known and understood over two thousand years are simply the other of the dominant cultural and political traditions of Europe. It is this continuous otherness which lends them apparent continuity and substance
