Militarizing Space Ideas In Conflict Series:

Militarizing Outer Space Alexander C.T. Geppert, Daniel Brandau, Tilmann Siebeneichner, 2020-12-02 Militarizing Outer Space explores the dystopian and destructive dimensions of the Space Age and challenges conventional narratives of a bipolar Cold War rivalry Concentrating on weapons warfare and violence this provocative volume examines real and imagined endeavors of arming the skies and conquering the heavens The third and final volume in the groundbreaking European Astroculture trilogy Militarizing Outer Space zooms in on the interplay between security technopolitics and knowledge from the 1920s through the 1980s Often hailed as the site of heavenly utopias and otherworldly salvation outer space transformed from a promised sanctuary to a present threat where the battles of the future were to be waged Astroculture proved instrumental in fathoming forms and functions of warfare's futures past both on earth and in space The allure of dominating outer space the book shows was neither limited to the early twenty first century nor to current American space force rhetorics

The Waning of Major War Raimo Vayrynen, 2013-10-31 This book is a systematic effort by leading international scholars to map the trends in major power warfare and explore whether it is waxing or waning The main point of departure is that major power war as a historical institution is in decline This does not mean though that wars between states are in general disappearing While there is some convergence in the conclusions by individual authors they are by no means unanimous about the trend The articles explore different causes and correlates of the declining trend in major power warfare including the impact of the international structure nuclear weapons international law multilateral institutions sovereignty and value changes

Militarized Conflict Modeling Using Computational Intelligence Tshilidzi Marwala, Monica Lagazio, 2011-08-24 Militarized Conflict Modeling Using Computational Intelligence examines the application of computational intelligence methods to model conflict Traditionally conflict has been modeled using game theory The inherent limitation of game theory when dealing with more than three players in a game is the main motivation for the application of computational intelligence in modeling conflict Militarized interstate disputes MIDs are defined as a set of interactions between or among states that can result in the display threat or actual use of military force in an explicit way These interactions can result in either peace or conflict This book models the relationship between key variables and the risk of conflict between two countries The variables include Allies which measures the presence or absence of military alliance Contiguity which measures whether the countries share a common boundary or not and Major Power which measures whether either or both states are a major power Militarized Conflict Modeling Using Computational Intelligence implements various multi layer perception neural networks Bayesian networks support vector machines neuro fuzzy models rough sets models neuro rough sets models and optimized rough sets models to create models that estimate the risk of conflict given the variables Secondly these models are used to study the sensitivity of each variable to conflict Furthermore a framework on how these models can be used to control the possibility of peace is proposed Finally new and emerging topics on modelling

conflict are identified and further work is proposed

War and the Media Daya Kishan Thussu, Des Freedman, 2003-05-16

No book is more timely than this collection which analyses brilliantly the Western media's relentless absorption into the designs of dominant rapacious power John Pilger A most timely book with many valuable insights Martin Bell O B E It has long been known that the outcome of war is deeply influenced by the battle to win hearts and minds This book provides a stimulating set of perspectives which combine the analyses of prominent academics with the experiences of leading journalists Professor Tom Woodhouse University of Bradford This volume represents an all star cast of authors who have a tremendous amount of knowledge about media and world conflict One of its strengths is that it doesn't focus entirely narrowly on media but puts the discussion of media issues in the context of changes in the world order in military doctrine Professor Daniel C Hallin University of California This book comes just in time A coherent and wide ranging collection of data analyses and insights that help our understanding of the complex interaction between communication and conflict A major intellectual contribution to critical thinking about the early 21st century Cees J Hamelink Professor International Communication University of Amsterdam With what new tools do governments manage the news in order to prepare us for conflict Are the media responsible for turning conflict into infotainment Is reporting gender specific How do journalists view their role in covering distant wars This book critically examines the changing contours of media coverage of war and considers the complexity of the relationship between mass media and governments in wartime Assessing how far the political cultural and professional contexts of media coverage have been affected by 9 11 and its aftermath the volume also explores media representations of the War on Terrorism from regional and international perspectives including new actors such as the Qatar based Al Jazeera the pan Arabic television network One key theme of the book is how new information and communication technologies are influencing the production distribution and reception of media messages In an age of instant global communication and round the clock news powerful governments have refined their public relations machinery particularly in the way warfare is covered on television to market their version of events effectively to their domestic as well as international viewing public Transnational in its intellectual scope and in perspectives War and the Media includes essays from internationally known academics along with contributions from media professionals working for leading broadcasters such as BBC World and CNN

Dangerous Brown Men Professor Gargi Bhattacharyya, 2009-01-26

Why is the public presentation of the war on terror suffused with sexualised racism What does this tell us about ideas of gender sexuality religious and political identity and the role of the state in the Western powers Can we diffuse inter ethnic conflicts and change the way the West pursues its security agenda by understanding the role of sexualised racism in the war on terror In asking such questions Gargi Bhattacharyya considers how the concepts of imperialism feminism terror and security can be applied in order to build on the influential debates about the sexualised character of colonialism She examines the way in which western imperial violence has been associated with the rhetoric of rights and democracy a project of bombing for freedom that has called into question the validity of western conceptions of democracy rights and feminism Such rhetoric has given rise to actions that go beyond simply protecting western interests or securing access to scarce resources and appear to be beyond instrumental reason The articulations of racism that appear with the war on terror are animated by fears and sexual fantasies inexplicable by rational interest alone There can be no resolution to this seemingly endless conflict without understanding the highly sexualised racism that animates it Such an understanding threatens to pierce the heart of imperial relations revealing their intense contradictions and uncovering attempts to normalise violent expropriation

Science and Technology in the Global Cold War Naomi Oreskes, John Krige, 2014-11-07 Investigations of how the global Cold War shaped national scientific and technological practices in fields from biomedicine to rocket science The Cold War period saw a dramatic expansion of state funded science and technology research Government and military patronage shaped Cold War technoscientific practices imposing methods that were project oriented team based and subject to national security restrictions These changes affected not just the arms race and the space race but also research in agriculture biomedicine computer science ecology meteorology and other fields This volume examines science and technology in the context of the Cold War considering whether the new institutions and institutional arrangements that emerged globally constrained technoscientific inquiry or offered greater opportunities for it The contributors find that whatever the particular science and whatever the political system in which that science was operating the knowledge that was produced bore some relation to the goals of the nation state These goals varied from nation to nation weapons research was emphasized in the United States and the Soviet Union for example but in France and China scientific independence and self reliance dominated The contributors also consider to what extent the changes to science and technology practices in this era were produced by the specific politics anxieties and aspirations of the Cold War Contributors Elena Aronova Erik M Conway Angela N H Creager David Kaiser John Krige Naomi Oreskes George Reisch Sigrid Schmalzer Sonja D Schmid Matthew Shindell Asif A Siddiqi Zuoyue Wang Benjamin Wilson

Military Waste Joshua O. Reno, 2020-02-04 World War III has yet to happen and yet material evidence of this conflict is strewn everywhere resting at the bottom of the ocean rusting in deserts and floating in near Earth orbit In Military Waste Joshua O Reno offers a unique analysis of the costs of American war preparation through an examination of the lives and stories of American civilians confronted with what is left over and cast aside when a society is permanently ready for war Using ethnographic and archival research Reno demonstrates how obsolete military junk in its various incarnations affects people and places far from the battlegrounds that are ordinarily associated with warfare Using a broad swath of examples from excess planes ships and space debris that fall into civilian hands to the dispossessed and polluted island territories once occupied by military bases to the militarized masculinities of mass shooters Military Waste reveals the unexpected and open ended relationships that non combatants on the home front form with a nation permanently ready for war

Accessory to War: The Unspoken Alliance Between Astrophysics and the Military Neil deGrasse

Tyson, Avis Lang, 2018-09-11 Extraordinary A feast of history an expert tour through thousands of years of war and conquest
Jennifer Carson New York Times Book Review In this far reaching foray into the millennia long relationship between science and military power acclaimed astrophysicist Neil deGrasse Tyson and co author Avis Lang examine how the methods and tools of astrophysics have been enlisted in the service of war Spanning early celestial navigation to satellite enabled warfare
Accessory to War is a richly researched and provocative examination of the intersection of science technology industry and power that will introduce Tyson s millions of fans to yet another dimension of how the universe has shaped our lives and our world

Military Masculinity and Postwar Recovery in the Soviet Union Erica L. Fraser, 2019-04-08 Catastrophic wartime casualties and postwar discomfort with the successes of women who had served in combat roles combined to shatter prewar ideals about what service meant for Soviet masculine identity The soldier had to be re imagined and resold to a public that had just emerged from the Second World War and a younger generation suspicious of state control In doing so Soviet military culture wrote women out and attempted to re establish soldiering as the premier form of masculinity in society Military Masculinity and Postwar Recovery in the Soviet Union combines textual and visual analysis as well as archival research to highlight the multiple narratives that contributed to rebuilding military identities Each chapter visits a particular site of this reconstruction including debates about conscription and evasion appropriate role models for cadets misogynist military imagery in cartoons the fraught militarized workplaces of nuclear physicists and the first cohort of cosmonauts who represented the completion of the project to rebuild militarized masculinity

A Research Agenda for Military Geographies Rachel Woodward, A Research Agenda for Military Geographies explores how military activities and phenomena are shaped by geography and how geographies are in turn shaped by military practices A variety of future research agendas are mapped out examining the questions faced by geographers when studying the military and its effects

Reading for the Body Jay Watson, 2012 Jay Watson argues that southern literary studies has been overidealized and dominated by intellectual history for too long In Reading for the Body he calls for the field to be rematerialized and grounded in an awareness of the human body as the site where ideas including ideas about the U S South itself ultimately happen Employing theoretical approaches to the body developed by thinkers such as Karl Marx Colette Guillaumin Elaine Scarry and Friedrich Kittler Watson also draws on histories of bodily representation to mine a century of southern fiction for its insights into problems that have preoccupied the region and nation alike slavery Jim Crow and white supremacy the marginalization of women the impact of modernization the issue of cultural authority and leadership and the legacy of the Vietnam War He focuses on the specific bodily attributes of hand voice and blood and the deeply embodied experiences of pain illness pregnancy and war to offer new readings of a distinguished group of literary artists who turned their attention to the South Mark Twain Jean Toomer Zora Neale Hurston William Faulkner Richard Wright Katherine Anne

Porter Bobbie Ann Mason and Walker Percy In producing an intensely embodied U S literature these writers Watson argues were by turns extending and interrogating a centuries old tradition in U S print culture in which the recalcitrant materiality of the body serves as a trope for the regional alterity of the South Reading for the Body makes a powerful case for the body as an important methodological resource for a new southern studies Soviet Military Doctrine and Western Policy

Gregory Flynn,2021-01-26 This book first published in 1989 analyses Western and Soviet perceptions of each other s military thoughts and doctrines a key part of the Cold War where both sides planned to both win a possible conflict and to avoid one The work demonstrates that both East and West made judgments about each other s military profile on the basis of political preconceptions The Routledge History of Global War and Society Matthew S. Muehlbauer,David J.

Ulbrich,2018-02-21 The Routledge History of Global War and Society offers a sweeping introduction to the most significant research on the causes experiences and impacts of war throughout history This collection of twenty seven essays by leading historians demonstrates how war and society studies have dramatically expanded the chronological geographic and thematic breadth of the field of military history Each chapter addresses the ways in which recent scholarship has integrated cultural ethical environmental medical and ideological factors to explain both conventional conflicts and genocide terrorism and other forms of mass violence The broad scope of the collection makes it the perfect primer for scholars and students seeking to understand the complex interactions of warfare and those affecting and affected by conflict Cold War Encounters in

US-Occupied Okinawa Mire Koikari,2015-07-15 In this innovative and engaging study Mire Koikari recasts the US occupation of Okinawa as a startling example of Cold War cultural interaction in which women s grassroots activities involving homes and homemaking played a pivotal role in reshaping the contours of US and Japanese imperialisms Drawing on insights from studies of gender Asia America and postcolonialism Koikari analyzes how the occupation sparked domestic education movements in Okinawa mobilizing an assortment of women home economists military wives club women university students and homemakers from the US Okinawa and mainland Japan These women went on to pursue a series of activities to promote modern domesticity and build multicultural friendship amidst intense militarization on the islands As these women took their commitment to domesticity and multiculturalism onto the larger terrain of the Pacific they came to articulate the complex intertwinement of gender race domesticity empire and transnationality that existed during the Cold War

Making Gender, Making War Annica Kronsell,Erika Svedberg,2011-09-08 Making Gender Making War is a unique interdisciplinary edited collection which explores the social construction of gender war making and peacekeeping It highlights the institutions and processes involved in the making of gender in terms of both men and women masculinity and femininity The war question for feminism marks a thematic red thread throughout it is a call to students and scholars of feminism to take seriously and engage with the task of analyzing war Contributors analyze how war making is intertwined with the making of gender in a diversity of empirical case studies organized around four themes gender violence and militarism how the making of gender is connected to a re making of the nation through military practices UN SCR 1325 and gender mainstreaming in institutional practices and gender subjectivities in the organization of violence exploring the notion of violent women and non violent men International Encyclopedia of Military History James C. Bradford,2004-12

With its impressive breadth of coverage both geographically and chronologically the International Encyclopedia of Military History is the most up to date and inclusive A Z resource on military history From uniforms and military insignia worn by combatants to the brilliant military leaders and tacticians who commanded them the campaigns and wars to the weapons and equipment used in them this international and multi cultural two volume set is an accessible resource combining the latest scholarship in the field with a world perspective on military history Globalize Liberation David Solnit,2004 A post 9 11
