

The background of the book cover is a painting in a dark, expressive style. It depicts a soldier in a trench, wearing a helmet and holding a machine gun. The scene is set in a dark, possibly underground or night-time environment, with a bright yellow light source on the right side, creating a strong contrast and casting long shadows. The overall mood is somber and dramatic.

Dunn, 1989-06-22 Many political regimes today draw such legitimacy as they have from a revolution the destruction of an existing political elite and its replacement by a different group or groups drawn from inside the same society A large part of the ideological dispute in world politics has come in consequence to turn on an interpretation of the character of revolutions as political and social events It is extremely difficult to separate ideological assessments of the desirability or otherwise of what has occurred in revolutions from causal explanations of why these revolutions occurred and both major traditions in the analysis of revolutionary phenomena have been damaged by their failure to distinguish clearly between explanation and assessment In examining eight major revolutions of the twentieth century John Dunn helps readers to remedy this state of affairs by thinking for themselves Americans and Chinese Communists, 1927-1945 Kenneth E.

Warlords and Muslims in Chinese Central Asia Andrew D. W. Forbes, 1986-10-09 This book provides a detailed study of Sinkiang China's largest province and of great strategic importance on the Russian border during the Warlord and Kuomintang Eras. It is an analysis of the internal warlord and Islamic politics of Sinkiang as well as to take account of great power interests in this region during a period in which it was essentially a Han Chinese colony in the heart of Central Asia. The study is of relevance not only to the history of twentieth century China but also to the politics of Islamic reassertion in Central Asia to the development of the Soviet Union as an imperial power in the Tsarist Russian mould to an understanding of the cultural and political aspirations of China's national minorities and should serve in a world preoccupied with Western colonialism and imperialism as a reminder that colonialism and imperialism was not and is not an exclusively European preserve.

Kangzhan Leland Ness, Bin Shih, 2016-09-16 Kangzhan Guide to Chinese Ground Forces 1937-45 is the first ready reference to the organization and armament of Chinese ground forces during the Sino Japanese War of 1937-45. The work integrates Chinese, Japanese and Western sources to examine the details of the structure and weapons of the period. Recent scholarship has contributed greatly to our understanding of China's role in the war but this is the first book to deal with the bottom level underpinnings of this massive army crucial to an understanding of its tactical and operational utility. An introductory chapter discusses the military operations in China often given short shrift in World War II histories. The work then traces the evolution of the national army's organizational structure from the end of the Northern Expedition to the conclusion of World War II. Included are tables of organization and strength reports for the wartime period. The armament section illustrates and details not only the characteristics of the many and varied weapons used in China many seen nowhere else but also their acquisition and such local production as was undertaken. This is complemented by a chapter on the arsenals and their evolution and production programs. The Chinese army was one of the largest of the war and it and Japan's fought longer than any other. It faced unique challenges including fragmented loyalties, huge expanses of territory, poor logistics networks, inadequate arms supplies and often incompetence and corruption. Nevertheless they fought bravely in major battles through 1941 and were able to counterpunch effectively in important regions through the rest of the war. Aimed at both military historians and wargamers, this work fills an important gap in our understanding of this the most underappreciated army of the war.

A Continent Erupts: Decolonization, Civil War, and Massacre in Postwar Asia, 1945-1955 Ronald H. Spector, 2022-08-23 A Foreign Affairs Best Book of 2022. Marvelous. Spector's gripping book helps us to understand why the legacy of these conflicts is still with us today. Sheila Miyoshi Jager, New York Times Book Review. The end of World War II led to the United States emergence as a global superpower. For war-ravaged Western Europe, it marked the beginning of decades of unprecedented cooperation and prosperity that one historian has labeled the long peace. Yet half a world away in China, Indonesia, Vietnam, Korea and Malaya, the fighting never really stopped as these regions sought to completely sever

the yoke of imperialism and colonialism with all too violent consequences East and Southeast Asia quickly became the most turbulent regions of the globe Within weeks of the famous surrender ceremony aboard the U S S Missouri civil war communal clashes and insurgency engulfed the continent from Southeast Asia to the Soviet border By early 1947 full scale wars were raging in China Indonesia and Vietnam with growing guerrilla conflicts in Korea and Malaya Within a decade after the Japanese surrender almost all of the countries of South East and Southeast Asia that had formerly been conquests of the Japanese or colonies of the European powers experienced wars and upheavals that resulted in the deaths of at least 25 million combatants and millions of civilians With A Continent Erupts acclaimed military historian Ronald H Spector draws on letters diaries and international archives to provide for the first time a comprehensive military history and analysis of these little known but decisive events Far from being simply offshoots of the Cold War as they have often been portrayed these shockingly violent conflicts forever changed the shape of Asia and the world as we know it today

The Rise and Fall of an Officer Corps Eric Setzekorn, 2018-08-30 The People's Republic of China is the only large country in the world that does not have a national military its military answers only to a political party the Chinese Communist Party For a brief period in the mid twentieth century China had the makings of a professional apolitical military force The Rise and Fall of an Officer Corps tells the story of that moment in the military history of modern China how it came to be why it ultimately failed and what it meant for China at home and abroad Between 1942 and 1955 a cadre of highly trained nationalistic and cosmopolitan Chinese officers created a professional depoliticized military a force that could effectively represent the aspirations of China as a world power Drawing on multiple archival sources and Chinese military journals author Eric Setzekorn charts the development of this new army as a critical cultural and political force with extensive connections to foreign powers During this period military officers were the primary actors in an intergovernmental partnership between the United States and the Republic of China The partnership gave officers access to educational opportunities and technological transfers that were central to their professional ideals Setzekorn's account of the career of General Sun Li jen an American educated Chinese army officer illustrates the rise of this new sense of professionalism as well as its decline after 1953 Setzekorn then traces the failure of the army building project to a renewed politicization of military forces marked by a purge of key military leaders in 1955 by Chiang Kai shek and his Koumintang KMT party By focusing on this important chapter in Chinese military history Setzekorn's work also highlights broader patterns of military transformation during the pivotal period from World War II through the early Cold War His work is critical to understanding the rise of China as a military and world power

Workers at War Joshua H. Howard, 2004 This book focuses on the lives struggles and contrasting perspectives of the 60 000 workers military administrators and technical staff employed in the largest most strategic industry of the Nationalist government the armaments industry based in the wartime capital Chongqing The author argues that China's arsenal workers participated in three interlocked conflicts between 1937 and 1953 a war of national liberation a civil war and a class war The work adds to the scholarship on the Chinese revolution which has previously focused primarily on rural China showing how workers alienation from the military officers directing the arsenals eroded the legitimacy of the Nationalist regime and how the Communists mobilized working class support in Chongqing Moreover in emphasizing the urban working class and nationalist components of the 1949 revolution the author demonstrates the multiple sources of workers identities and thus challenges previous studies that have exclusively stressed workers particularistic or regional identities

The U.S. Army and World War II Judith Bellafaire, 1998 The U S Army and World War II is an anthology of selected papers from three international conferences held in 1990 1992 and 1994 on the Army s role in the war Taking the best from those meetings Judith L. the geopolitical landscape of the world since those desperate times the human problems highlighted by the authors are not much different from many of those facing Army leaders today Although the past can never provide the specific recipes needed for the future experience has shown that both the basic ingredients and the manner in which they are prepared and processed have remained remarkably constant Those grappling with the challenges of stability operations and other contingency missions in support of the Global War on Terrorism will find this collection of readings invaluable

China 1949 Graham Hutchings, 2021-01-14 Excellent The Economist A gripping account South China Morning Post Well worth reading The Morning Star A persuasive and readable narrative History Today Elegantly written The Tablet An excellent study The Chartist Engaging Asia Times The events of 1949 in China reverberated across the world and throughout the rest of the century That tumultuous year saw the dramatic collapse of Chiang Kai shek s pro Western Nationalist government overthrown by Mao Zedong and his communist armies and the foundation of the People s Republic of China China 1949 follows the huge military forces that tramped across the country the exile of once powerful leaders and the alarm of the foreign powers watching on The well known figures of the Revolution are all here But so are lesser known military and political leaders along with a host of ordinary Chinese citizens and foreigners caught in the maelstrom They include the often neglected but crucial role played by the Guangxi faction within Chiang s own regime the fate of a country woman who fled her village carrying her baby to avoid the fighting a prominent Shanghai business man and a schoolboy from Nanyang ordered by his teachers to trek south with his classmates in search of safety Shadowing both the leaders and the people of China in 1949 Hutchings reveals the lived experiences aftermath and consequences of this pivotal year one in which careers were made and ruined and popular hopes for a new China contrasted with fears that it would change the country forever The legacy of 1949 still resonates today as the founding myth source of national identity and root of the political behaviour of modern China Graham Hutchings has written a vivid gripping account of the year in which China abruptly changed course and pulled the rest of world history along with it

China's Use of Military Force Andrew Scobell, 2003-09-08 In this unique study of China s militarism Andrew Scobell examines the use of military force abroad as in Korea 1950 Vietnam 1979 and the Taiwan Strait 1995 1996 and domestically as during the Cultural Revolution of the late 1960s and in the 1989 military crackdown in Tiananmen Square Debunking the view that China has become increasingly belligerent in recent years because of the growing influence of soldiers Scobell concludes that China s strategic culture has remained unchanged for decades Nevertheless the author uncovers the existence of a Cult of Defense in Chinese strategic culture The author warns that this Cult of Defense disposes Chinese leaders to rationalize all military deployment as defensive while changes in the People s Liberation Army s doctrine and capabilities over the past two decades suggest that China s twenty first century leaders may use military force more readily than their predecessors
