The Military Balance in the Middle East Anthony H. Cordesman, 2004-09-30 Noted Middle East military expert Anthony H Cordesman details the complex trends that come into play in determining the military balance in a region that has become so critical to world peace This ready resource provides a wealth of information on military expenditures and major arms systems as well as qualitative trends by country and by zone However as Cordesman stresses because the greater Middle East is more a matter of rhetoric than military reality mere data summarizing trends in 23 different countries is no substitute for a substantive explanation Using tables graphs and charts this study explores every aspect of the regional military balance with attention to sub regional balances internal civil conflicts and low level border tensions The Middle East is certainly one of the most militarized areas in the world and changes in technology access to weapons of mass destruction and political instability contribute to a situation that has long been in constant flux Some of the regional flashpoints covered in this study include the Maghreb North Africa the Arab Israeli conflict dominated by Israel versus Syria and the Gulf divided into those states that view Iran as the primary threat and those who lived in fear of Iraq Internal conflicts such as those in Mauritania Algeria Libya Egypt Sudan Bahrain Saudi Arabia Iraq and Yemen increasingly dominate regional tensions In addition border conflicts within the region and with neighboring countries could further aggravate the delicate balance

The Middle East Military Balance 2000-2001 Shai Feldman, Yiftah Shapir, 2001 With its wealth of current hard to find information The Middle East Military Balance offers an authoritative and indispensable guide to military capabilities in the Middle East Although Israel and its Arab neighbors have taken many steps toward peace in recent years the Middle East remains an uncertain and volatile region Stretching from Morocco to Iran the area has seen numerous international and internal conflicts in recent decades Understanding the dynamics of these conflicts requires detailed information on the military capabilities of the region s countries The Middle East Military Balance is prepared annually by the Jaffee Center for Strategic Studies in Tel Aviv Israel It is based on data from many sources including some that are unavailable to other institutes With its wealth of current hard to find information it offers an authoritative and indispensable guide to military capabilities in the Middle East Governments the media and researchers pay close attention to its data and analysis each year The Jaffee Center s new reorganized Middle East Military Balance provides the most comprehensive and objective analysis of Middle East military developments available in the open literature A first rate product Geoffrey Kemp Director of Regional Strategic Programs The Nixon Center

New Security Issues in Northern Europe Clive Archer, 2007-08-07 This volume analyzes the Nordic and Baltic states relationship with the European Security and Defence Policy ESDP Clive Archer presents a general background to the European Union's ESDP the strategic situation of Northern Europe the main security and defence policy issues faced by the states there as well as outlining the main theoretical considerations concerning security in the region Key chapters cover the three Baltic states of Estonia Latvia and Lithuania and the four Nordic states of Denmark Finland Norway and Sweden The selected contributors provide an analysis of the region as seen from Brussels and of the practical and theoretical issues arising from the study This new text tackles an aspect of the ESDP that has previously received little attention and reinvigorates old ground blending together analytical theoretical and policy relevant approaches New Security Issues in Northern Europe will be a welcome addition to all those with an interest in security studies European politics and international relations

Managing the Revolution in Military Affairs R. Matthews, J. Treddenick, 2001-08-20 The collapse of the Soviet Union and the end of the Cold War was the catalyst for profound changes in the global security and defence management environment including alterations in the size structure and configuration of the Armed Forces emergence of asymmetrical warfare recognition of the strategic significance of military infosphere embracing all dimensions of the virtual and vertical battlespace emphasis on coalition warfare and defence industrial cooperation and reform of the financial procurement and logistical systems The contributors to this book evaluate these environmental changes within a defence management context

A Guide to Intra-state Wars

Jeffrey S. Dixon, Meredith Reid Sarkees, 2015-10-22 This title describes how civil war is defined and categorized and presents data and descriptions for nearly 300 civil wars waged from 1816 to the present Analyzing trends over time and regions this work is the definitive source for understanding the phenomenon of civil war

Taiwan's Security in the Post-Deng Xiaoping Era Martin L. Lasater, Peter Kien-hong Yu, 2000 This study analyzes the many domestic and international factors comprising Taiwan's security situation in the late 1990s and early 21st century The critical issues of China's willingness to wage war over Taiwan and the US's probable defence are discussed in detail Strategic Assessment, Middle Power Statecraft Jonathan H. Ping, 2017-11-30 Jonathan Ping's volume establishes a unifying theory for the concept of middle power MP MPs are states which have an innate form of statecraft and perceived power as a result of their size The book presents hybridization theory as a basis for analysis policy development and prediction of MP statecraft and perceived power A prerequisite to the founding of hybridization theory is the new statistical method of definition which identifies sixteen MPs of Asia and the Pacific The volume takes a comparative focus on Indonesia and Malaysia to inform and test hybridization theory as well as to provide a historical analysis of Southeast Asia from a statecraft and perceived power perspective It offers researchers and scholars of international relations and international political economy a theory that can be applied to the practical study of all middle sized states while middle sized states can apply the same theory to enhance their own ability to re create their state

Japan and the Reconstruction of East Asia D. Kelly, 2001-12-17 Dominic Kelly has written a fascinating study of Japanese policies designed to lead to the reconstruction of East Asia He presents a detailed picture of Japanese activity in East Asia in the areas of production finance security and knowledge and maps out the historical context upon which this activity rests In doing so Kelly sheds light on the increasingly powerful but imperfectly understood phenomenon of regionalism He goes on to identify the major fault line situated beneath both theoretical accounts of Japanese regionalism and real world predictions of its success or failure

A Tragedy of Arms Anthony H. Cordesman, 2002 Annotation Examines a region overburdened by unnecessary military expenditures and where most military forces have limited effectiveness and the impact this has on the political and economic health of Morocco Algeria Libya and Tunisia

Political-Military Relations and the Stability of Arab Regimes Risa Brooks, 2013-09-13 Arab leaderships have been remarkably stable since the 1970s particularly given the frequency of military coups in preceding years Nonetheless the military remains a key force in most Arab states and political leaders must maintain its loyalty if they are to retain office Regimes have used a range of methods to ensure the military's backing In Egypt President Hosni Mubarak has maintained political control largely through providing the military with private and corporate benefits selective appointments and institutional checks are also useful instruments Tribal relations underpin King Hussein's political control in Jordan Transjordanians have not only been the main beneficiaries of political power but have also occupied the key positions in the armed forces In Syria President Hafez al Assad has built his regime on the Alawi minority while the vast security apparatus limits the spread of sectarian class or ideological grievances in the military President Saddam Hussein has established multiple security agencies in Iraq designed to prevent conspiracies against his regime Regular rotations and purges ensure that few officers are in place long enough to contemplate let alone organise a coup while the severe punishments meted out to suspected plotters are a further disincentive to rebellion In this paper Risa Brooks argues that the need for Arab regimes to maintain political control can undermine the combat potential of their armed forces Centralising command creating overlapping commands politicising selection criteria and authorising involvement in economic activities all potentially compromise military effectiveness The fact that regimes have successfully managed political military relations in the past does not mean that they will automatically do so in the future Changing social or economic conditions could upset the equilibrium in political military relations Regime stability cannot therefore be taken for granted Transition to new leadership is a looming issue for the key regimes in Egypt Syria and Jordan political military relations will play a crucial role in how it is resolved New leaders must gain and maintain social support if they are to consolidate power The fact that so many Middle Eastern regimes face uncertain transitions raises the sobering prospect of profound instability and change in this strategically vital region Maintaining political control is a continuous and evolving process A breakdown in social support for the leadership failure to detect a conspiracy within the military and economic or political change that threatens military prerogatives could all disrupt political military relations Current stability should not give rise to complacency

Asia-Pacific Strategic Relations William T. Tow, 2001-12-10 This comprehensive 2002 book is an overview of security issues in the Asia Pacific It is also an argument for a strategy that promises to achieve greater regional stability It argues that current approaches by policy makers increase the likelihood of conflict Instead it proposes that a strategy of convergent security be adopted to build a more enduring and peaceful regional security framework A concise survey of key approaches to regional security politics it presents a vast selection of empirical discussion both historical and current Assessing the outlook for the three powers most likely to vie for regional dominance the United States China and Japan the book also reviews the prospects for other secondary powers including Korea and Taiwan and analyses the role of Australia and the ASEAN nations of Southeast Asia Unique accessible authoritative and broad ranging survey designed for a wide body of analysts and students of contemporary Asian politics and strategy
