Stempel on Insurance Contracts Jeffrey W. Stempel, 2005-12-30 World Insurance Peter Borscheid, Niels Viggo

Haueter, 2012-08-23 Since the end of the eighteenth century the insurance industry has cast a safety net around the world first in the British Isles and then further afield irrespective of cultural political and ideological divides Unlike previous publications on insurance history which tend to discuss the development of national markets or individual companies this book focuses on the creation of networks across borders from the end of the eighteenth century to the present day Distinguished international economic historians draw upon examples from twenty countries across the continents to demonstrate how what was called the British system of risk management spread out in waves and describes the forces that made this possible first among them migration from Europe and international trade The book explores the economic political religious and cultural obstacles that blocked the path of this European invention not only religious law and traditional practices but above all protectionism inflation and political ideologies It examines the process of transformation through which modern insurance supplanted traditional forms of protection against perils and risks and was able to keep on offering new ways of dealing with the risks of modern life As well as discussing primary insurance it also considers the role played by reinsurance without which the losses arising out of today s natural and man made disasters would be immeasurably greater Finally taking modern day disaster scenarios as examples the book shows just what the limits of insurability are and what risks worldwide networks entail

Islamic Financial Products Mohd Ma'Sum Billah, 2019-06-28 Islamic finance has grown exponentially since 1963 and has reached more than 70 countries around the world with the asset size of about 2.5 trillion. The Islamic financial system today comprises a sizable asset base and there is evidence of sustained demand for Islamic financial products and services in the global market with demand outstripping supply. This book provides a new source of understanding of the Islamic financial products in view of facilitating academia, industrialists, professionals, product designers, students and policymakers globally. There is a mass of literature on Islamic finance available to the market but very little research is found in the form of book exclusively on Islamic financial products and their structures. Thus, this book is a timely contribution to the global market with Islamic financial product solutions. Insurance World, 1909
