characterized the university as it has sought to preserve and propagate the intellectual achievements the cultures and the values of our civilization However the capacity of the university to change through a process characterized by reflection reaction and consensus simply may not be sufficient to allow the university to control its own destiny Not only will social and technical change be a challenge to the American university Duderstadt says it will be the watchword for the years ahead And with change will come unprecedented opportunities for those universities with the vision the wisdom and the courage to lead in the twenty first century The real question raised by this book is not whether higher education will be transformed but rather how and by whom

The Gift of the Other Andrew Shepherd,2014-11-27 We live in an age of global capitalism and terror In a climate of consumption and fear the unknown Other is regarded as a threat to our safety a client to assist or a competitor to be overcome in the struggle for scarce resources And yet the Christian Scriptures explicitly summon us to welcome strangers to care for the widow and the orphan and to build relationships with those distant from us But how in this world of hostility and commodification do we practice hospitality In The Gift of the Other Andrew Shepherd engages deeply with the influential thought of French thinkers Emmanuel Levinas and Jacques Derrida and argues that a true vision of hospitality is ultimately found not in postmodern philosophies but in the Christian narrative The book offers a compelling Trinitarian account of the God of hospitality a God of communion who makes room for otherness who overcomes the hostility of the world through Jesus life death and resurrection and who through the work of the Spirit is forming a new community the Church a people of welcome

Economic Globalisation as Religious War Michael McKinley,2007-06-28 Using a critical theory approach to analyze the globalization of the world economy this provocative and topical new book presents economic globalization not as a recent development but rather as a familiar process that has occurred throughout history Michael McKinley argues that it is ultimately a self serving arbitrary and destructive imperial project that should be viewed as a religious war

Borderland Laszlo Kurti, 2001-07-19 The Remote Borderland explores the significance of the contested region of Transylvania to the creation of Hungarian national identity Author L szl K rti illustrates the process by which European intellectuals politicians and artists locate their nation s territory embody it with meaning and reassert its importance at various historical junctures The book s discussion of the contested and negotiated nature of nationality in its East Central European setting reveals cultural assumptions profoundly mortgaged to twentieth century notions of home nation state and people The Remote Borderland shows that it is not only important to recognize that nations are imagined but to note how and where they are imagined in order to truly understand the transformation of European societies during the twentieth century

Development and Social Change Philip McMichael, 2008 Fourth edition of this international bestseller Adopted by sociology politics development and also geography departments The Good Life and the Greater Good in a Global Context Laura Savu Walker, 2015-11-19 The Good Life and the Greater Good in a Global Context offers a timely contribution to the debates about the good life that surround us every day in the media politics the humanities and social sciences The authors examine the relationship between the good life and the greater good as represented across different genres media cultures and disciplines This enables them to develop a framework of values that transcends the overly rational and individualistic model of the good life advanced by neoliberalism and the happiness industry Thus over and against normative conceptualizations of the good life that reduce meaning to money creativity to consumption and compassion to self help the contributors propose an ethically charged philosophy of living that views the care for the self for the other and for the planet as the catalysts of true human flourishing In addition to recovering the original usage of the good life from classical thought especially the Aristotelian understanding of eudaimonia as living well and doing well the essays gathered here highlight its entanglement with distinctly modern ideas of happiness wellbeing flourishing progress revolution democracy the American Dream utopia and sustainability As such the essays capture the breadth and depth of the conversation about the good life that is of central importance to how we relate to the past engage the present and envision the future The Future of Human Rights Upendra Baxi, 2007-12-12 This book critically examines the contemporary discourses on the nature of human rights their histories the myths that are embedded in them and contributes an alternative reading of those histories by placing the concerns and interests of the people in struggle and communities of resistance at centre stage The work analyses the significance of the United Nations UN and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and goes on to study the more contemporary issues such as women s struggle to feminize the understanding and practice of human rights the postmodernist critique of the universal idiom of human rights and most pertinently for the current world scene it analyses the impact of globalization on the human rights movement The volume includes a discussion on the proposed UN norms regarding the human rights responsibilities of multinational corporations and other business entities Youth and the State in Hungary Laszlo Kurti, 2002-07-20 Youth and the State in Hungary takes as its focus the nature of Hungary s youth movements over the last seventy years In a detailed ethnographic study Laszlo Kurti examines the lives of youth workers in the Csepel district of Budapest in the context of the wider political and economic transformations witnessed during the twentieth century Kurti follows State Youth relations from the inter war capitalism that made peasants into workers through the post war state socialism Stalinism and after to the reintroduction of capitalism in 1990 This time frame allows an exploration of the transformations and dilemmas of youth class gender and ethnicity as they develop across time In the course of this study two main themes emerge the reproduction of class in youth culture across shifting socio economic conditions and the mobilisation of youth movements in resistance to the state Youth and the State in Hungary challenges the orthodox equation of youth and resistance by arguing that youth mobilisation has in fact served the interests of the state Nevertheless there remains a genuine space for resistance and contestation in the reproduction of youth culture
