The role of households in solid waste management in East Africa capital cities Aisa Oberlin Solomon, 2023-09-04 Household solid waste management is a severe problem in East Africa capital cities Domestic actors tend to be neglected in their role in solving the problem This book develops a new conceptual framework for analyzing the role of households in solid waste management in East Africa s capital cities This conceptual framework is derived from the theory of the Modernized Mixture Approach By focusing on households in informal settlements in particular domestic routines for handling wastes are analyzed for their technical and social dimensions By elaborating upon the technical and social aspects of domestic solid wastes and the role of householders in producing and handling these wastes this book adds to the scanty body of scientific knowledge of sustainable waste management by householders in East African countries The knowledge generated with respect to technical and social dimensions can be used in the future by researchers and policy makers in SWM policies both in East Africa and comparable situations elsewhere in the world

Emerging Leadership in the Pauline Mission Jack Barentsen, 2011-08-04 Where did Paul find leaders for his new churches How did he instruct and develop them What processes took place to stabilize the churches and institute their new leadership This book carves a fresh trail in leadership studies by looking at leadership development from a group dynamic social identity perspective Paul engages the cultural leadership patterns of his key local leaders publicly affirming correcting and improving those patterns to conform to a Christlike pattern of sacrificial service Paul s own life and ministry offer a motivational and authoritative model for his followers because he embodies the leadership style he teaches As a practical theologian avant la lettre Paul contextualizes key theological themes to strengthen community and leadership formation and equips his church leaders as entrepreneurs of Christian identity A careful comparison of the Corinthian and Ephesian churches demonstrates a similar overall pattern of development This study engages Pauline scholarship on church office in depth and offers alternative readings of five Pauline epistles generating new insights to enrich dogmatic and practical theological reflection In a society where many churches reflect on their missional calling such input from the NT for contemporary Christian leadership formation is direly needed

Ottewill-Soulsby,2022-03-24 The Greco Roman world is identified in the modern mind by its cities This includes both specific places such as Athens and Rome but also an instantly recognizable style of urbanism wrought in marble and lived in by teeming tunic clad crowds Selective and misleading this vision may be but it speaks to the continuing importance these ancient cities have had in the centuries that followed and the extent to which they define the period in subsequent memory Although there is much that is mysterious about them the cities of the Roman Mediterranean are for the most part historically known That the names and pasts of these cities remain known to us is the product of an extraordinary process of remembering and forgetting stretching back to antiquity that took place throughout the former Roman world This volume tackles this subject of the survival and transformation of the ancient city through memory drawing upon the methodological and theoretical lenses of memory studies and resilience theory to view the way the Greco Roman city lived and vanished for the generations that separate the present from antiquity This book analyzes the different ways in which urban communities of the post Antique world have tried to understand and relate to the ancient city on their own terms examining it as a process of forgetting as well as remembering Many aspects of the ancient city were let go as time passed but those elements that survived that were actively remembered have shaped the many understandings of what it was In order to do so this volume assembles specialists in multiple fields to bring their perspectives to bear on the subject through eleven case studies that range from late Antiquity to the mid twentieth century and from the Iberian Peninsula to Iran Through the examination of archaeological remains changing urban layouts and chronicles travel guides and pamphlets they track how the ancient city was made useful or consigned to oblivion Tourism and the Millennium Development Goals Jarkko Saarinen,Christian M. Rogerson,Haretsebe Manwa,2013-10-31 In 2000 United Nations adopted the Millennium Development Goals UN MDGs committing the member nations to a new global partnership to reduce extreme poverty and setting out a series of specific targets with a deadline of 2015 Related to the UN MDGs tourism is increasingly seen as a promising tool for poverty reduction ensuring environmental sustainability and developing a global partnership for development for example Thus the industry has become an important policy tool for community and regional development in many developing countries and the expectations for tourism and its social and economic outcomes have evolved to a high level However there are still many challenges to overcome in the relationship between tourism industry development and poverty reduction This book aims to discuss the promises challenges and outcomes of tourism in development with a specific aim of drawing together research related to tourism and UN MDGs The papers discuss what lessons can be learnt and conclusions drawn from the utilisation of tourism for development and poverty reduction What emerges from this collection is a set of interesting results and notions which both support and challenge the connections between tourism and development and the new role of tourism in global development This book is an extended version of a special issue published in Current Issues in Tourism Indian Ocean In Antiquity Julian Reade,2013-10-28 The beaches of the Indian Ocean stretch in a golden arc from the Atlantic to the Pacific delimiting the entire southern boundary of the old world On the lands adjoining this ocean and its inlets almost every variety of human adaptation is or has been represented as have the interactions between them Societies of fisherman and pirates hunters and gatherers herdsman and agrarian farmers states and urban civilizations based on farming or trade have all flourished at one time or another Yet studies of the systems of the Indian Ocean before the spread of Islam remain in their infancy and until now the record on early Indian Ocean civilizations has been fragmented The Indian Ocean in Antiquity brings together an international group of leading scholars to present for the first time a comprehensive view of the current state of research on the early populations of the area After an introductory chapter the twenty six papers are grouped into four sections The Environment and Natural Resources The Early Civilizations The Classical Period and Between Africa and China They comprise the most far reaching look at this vast region in pre modern times that has ever been available This pioneering volume makes an important contribution to the understanding of a region of great significance in world history both past and future Topics include sea levels and other factors affecting coastal settlement contracts between Mesopotamia and the Indus Achaemenid Parthian and Sasanian maritime activity Roman interests in the Red Sea and the Indian Ocean the archeological evidence for early trade between South and Southeast Asia the early settlement of Madagascar the ethnographic evidence for long distance contacts between Oceania and East Africa and recent discoveries of Christian and Hindu remains in Quanzhou
