Mills In The Medieval Economy England 1300 154:

Mills in the Medieval Economy John Langdon, 2004-07-01 The late medieval English milling industry epitomizes one of the most important technical achievements of early societies the exploitation of wind water and muscle power for augmenting human endeavours Through a computerized analysis of the number and variety of mills in England from 1300 to 1540 as well as the technology practices and personnel sustaining them Langdon reveals the structural evolution of the milling industry highlighting both its accomplishments and its limitations Although it focuses on England during the later middle ages the book s innovative methodologies and original findings will furnish useful comparative material for all scholars investigating pre industrial societies It also offers a challenging new perspective on the later middle ages as a time of change in addition to providing enthusiasts of old technologies generally with a wealth of detail about one of the most recognizable and enduring features of medieval society

The English Woollen Industry, c.1200-c.1560 John Oldland, 2019-01-15 This is the first book to describe the early English woollens industry and its dominance of the trade in quality cloth across Europe by the mid sixteenth century as English trade was transformed from dependence on wool to value added woollen cloth It compares English and continental draperies weighs the advantages of urban and rural production and examines both quality and coarse cloths Rural clothiers who made broadcloth to a consistent high quality at relatively low cost Merchant Adventurers who enjoyed a trade monopoly with the Low Countries and Antwerp s artisans who finished cloth to customers needs all eventually combined to make English woollens unbeatable on the continent

The Ancient Ways of Wessex Alexander Langlands, 2019-11-30 The Ancient Ways of Wessex tells the story of Wessex s roads in the early medieval period at the point at which they first emerge in the historical record This is the age of the Anglo Saxons and an era that witnessed the rise of a kingdom that was taken to the very brink of defeat by the Viking invasions of the ninth century It is a period that goes on to become one within which we can trace the beginnings of the political entity we have come to know today as England In a series of ten detailed case studies the reader is invited to consider historical and archaeological evidence alongside topographic information and ancient place names in the reconstruction of the networks of routeways and communications that served the people and places of the Anglo Saxon kingdom of Wessex Whether you were a peasant pilgrim drover trader warrior bishop king or queen travel would have been fundamental to life in the early middle ages and this book explores the physical means by which the landscape was constituted to facilitate and improve the movement of people goods and ideas from the seventh through to the eleventh centuries What emerges is a dynamic web of interconnecting routeways serving multiple functions and one perhaps even busier than that in our own working countryside A narrative of transition one of both of continuity and change provides a fresh and alternative window into the everyday workings of an early medieval landscape through the pathways trodden over a millennium ago

The World the Plague Made James Belich, 2024-06-25 A groundbreaking history of how the Black Death unleashed revolutionary change across the medieval world and ushered in the modern age In 1346 a catastrophic plague beset Europe and its neighbours The Black Death was a human tragedy that abruptly halved entire populations and caused untold suffering but it also brought about a cultural and economic renewal on a scale never before witnessed The World the Plague Made is a panoramic history of how the bubonic plague revolutionized labour trade and technology and set the stage for Europe's global expansion James Belich takes readers across centuries and continents to shed new light on one of history's greatest paradoxes Why did Europe's dramatic rise begin in the wake of the Black Death Belich shows how plague doubled the per capita endowment of everything even as it decimated the population Many more people had disposable incomes Demand grew for silks sugar spices furs gold and slaves Europe expanded to satisfy that demand and plague provided the means Labour scarcity drove more use of waterpower wind power and gunpowder Technologies like water powered blast furnaces heavily gunned galleons and musketry were fast tracked by plague A new crew culture of disposable males emerged to man the guns and galleons Setting the rise of Western Europe in global context Belich demonstrates how the mighty empires of the Middle East and Russia also flourished after the plague and how European expansion was deeply entangled with the Chinese and other peoples throughout the world Mills in the Medieval Economy John Langdon, 2023 After the Black Death Mark Bailey, 2021-02-11 The Black Death of 1348-9 is the most catastrophic event and worst pandemic in recorded history After the Black Death offers a major reinterpretation of its immediate impact and longer term consequences in England After the Black Death reassesses the established scholarship on the impact of plague on fourteenth century England and draws upon original research into primary sources to offer a major re interpretation of the subject It studies how the government reacted to the crisis and how communities adapted in its wake It places the pandemic within the wider context of extreme weather and epidemiological events the institutional framework of markets and serfdom and the role of law in reducing risks and conditioning behaviour The government's response to the Black Death is reconsidered in order to cast new light on the Peasants Revolt of 1381 By 1400 the effects of plague had resulted in major changes to the structure of society and the economy creating the pre conditions for England's role in the Little Divergence whereby economic performance in parts of north western Europe began to move decisively ahead of the rest of the continent After the Black Death explores in detail how a major pandemic transformed society and in doing so elevates the third quarter of the fourteenth century from a little understood paradox to a critical period of profound and irreversible change in English and global history Rural Economy and Society in the Duchy of Cornwall 1300-1500 John Hatcher, 1970-10-31 This study is centred on the Cornish manorial estates of the Duchy of Cornwall in the later Middle Ages and has been compiled from a very full and hitherto neglected series of records the completeness of which is perhaps unique for a lay estate Most aspects of the history of the estates have been recorded and those which differed from other regions of England have been stressed In order to place the Duchy estates within their regional context Dr Hatcher has studied a wide range of documents and produced a mass of new evidence concerning tin mining fishing trade towns and local industry in Cornwall and Devon He shows for example that agricultural prosperity in later medieval Cornwall followed an exceptional course and was determined by a series of interconnected changes within the regional economy with a much less direct and immediate causal link than is commonly assumed between declining population after 1349 and agricultural recession The intimate connexions between agriculture and industry and commerce are additionally emphasized by the manifold business interests of leading Duchy tenants Bread and Ale for the Brethren Philip Slavin,2012-04 Despite increased commercialization and an efficient network of local markets in 1300s Europe as well as significant costs and risks associated with the production transportation and storage of food some landed lords monasteries and convents continued to rely on the produce of their own estates This detailed study sets out to account for the puzzling situation covering the period between 1260 and 1536 with an in depth analysis of the changing patterns and fortunes of the provisioning of Norwich Cathedral Priory As it examines the entire process of food delivery from field to table the record explores the question of food security within the context of the various crises in the 14th century and also illustrates the aftereffects of the Black Death Although providing unparalleled insight into the Priory the book also serves as an important resource on understanding the Late Middle Ages economy of England and society during a time of upheaval Commercial Activity, Markets and Entrepreneurs in the Middle Ages Ben Dodds,Christian Drummond Liddy,2011 Numerous aspects of the medieval economy are covered in this new collection of essays from business fraud and changes in wages to the production of luxury goods Long dominated by theories of causation involving class conflict and Malthusian crisis the field of medieval economic history has been transformed in recent years by a better understanding of the process of commercialisation In recognition of the important work in this area by Richard Britnell this volume of essays brings together studies by historians from both sides of the Atlantic on fundamental aspects of the medieval commercial economy From examinations of high wages minimum wages and unemployment through to innovative studies of consumption and supply business fraud economic regulation small towns the use of charters and the role of shipmasters and peasants as entrepreneurs this collection is essential reading for the student of the medieval economy Contributors John Hatcher John Langdon Derek Keene John S Lee James Davis Mark Bailey Christine M Newman Peter L Larson Maryanne Kowaleski Martha Carlin James Masschaele Christopher Dyer Essays on Medieval Agriculture and General Problems of the Medieval Economy M. M. Postan,2008-10-30 Includes The economic foundations of medieval society The rise of a money economy The chronology of labour services and The charters of the villeins Wind & Water in the Middle Ages Steven A. Walton,2006 Designs Upon the Land Oliver Hamilton Creighton,2009 The phrase designed landscape is generally associated with the great parks and gardens of the post medieval period with grand country houses surrounded by parkland such as Chatsworth and Longleat However recent research has made it clear that its origins lie much further back than that in the middle ages and numerous examples have been identified This book offers the first full length survey of designed medieval landscapes not just the settings for castles but for palaces manor houses and monastic institutions Gardens and pleasure grounds gave their owners sensory enjoyment lakes ponds and walkways created routes of approach that displayed residences to best effect deer parks were stunning backdrops and venues for aristocratic enjoyment and peacocks swans rabbits and doves were some of the many species which lent these landscapes their elite appearance Richly illustrated with plans maps and photographs of key sites showing what can still be seen today Oliver H Creighton is Associate Professor in Archaeology University of Exeter

La moda come motore economico: innovazione di processo e prodotto, nuove strategie commerciali, comportamento dei consumatori / Fashion as an economic engine: process and product innovation, commercial strategies, consumer behavior Giampiero Nigro, 2022-05-03 The study of the textile sector has always been central to economic history from reconstructions of the dynamic growth in the medieval wool industry to the rise of silk and light and mixed fabrics in the modern era to the driving role of cotton in the industrialisation process Although the dynamics of textile manufacturing are closely linked to the transformations of fashion economic history has long neglected its role as a factor in economic change treating it primarily as a kind of exogenous catalyst This book makes a decisive contribution to the understanding of a fundamental transformation the consequences of which are projected into contemporary society but which matured in pre industrial times the advent of fashion Ale, Beer, and Brewsters in England Judith M. Bennett, 1996-11-07 Women brewed and sold most of the ale consumed in medieval England but after 1350 men slowly took over the trade By 1600 most brewers in London were male and men also dominated the trade in many towns and villages This book asks how when and why brewing ceased to be women s work and instead became a job for men Employing a wide variety of sources and methods Bennett vividly describes how brewsters that is female brewers gradually left the trade She also offers a compelling account of the endurance of patriarchy during this time of dramatic change Medieval Ireland Barryscourt Trust, 2004 Choice , 2005 Technology and Resource Use in Medieval Europe Elizabeth Bradford Smith, Michael Wolfe, 1997 The 10 essays here are the result of a conference devoted to the study of medieval technology in April 1995 Taken together they aim to help dispel the common misconception that medieval people somehow had to toil in a world bereft of technical innovation and ingenuity The authors of the papers all experts in their fields show the Middle Ages not only to be a time of considerable technological development but also the ways in which the technologies of building construction manufacture and metallurgy were shaped by broader forces of culture social identity political ambition and the local environment The Irish tower house Victoria L. McAlister, 2019-07-04 This book examines the social role of castles in late medieval and early modern Ireland It uses a multidisciplinary methodology to uncover the lived experience of this historic culture demonstrating the interconnectedness of society economics and the environment Of particular interest is the revelation of how concerned pre modern people were with participation in the economy and the exploitation of the natural environment for economic gain Material culture can shed light on how individuals shaped spaces around themselves and tower houses thanks to their pervasiveness in medieval and modern landscapes represent a unique resource Castles are the definitive building of the European Middle Ages meaning that this book will be of great interest to scholars of both history and archaeology Technological Change in Anglo-Norman Munster Colin Rynne,1998 A Comparative Sociology of World Religions Stephen Sharot,2001-08 Sharot sociology Ben Gurion U of the Neger focuses on the differences and interrelationships between religious elites and lay masses He presents several relevant concepts and theories including a model of religious action based on the work of Max Weber and a discussion of elites and masses as represented in Weber s comparison of world religions Coverage encompasses religious action in world religions Brahmans Renouncers and Hinduism in India Buddhism and Animism in Sri Lanka and Southeast Asia traditional Catholicism in Europe Islam and Judaism Protestants Catholics and the reform of popular religion and a comparison of religious elites and popular religions c Book News Inc
