Gabriel Zeldis, 2014-02-10 I remember the things I felt at that bar in the mountains The music was over Some songs played on the Jukebox The tears welled within me The dusty road outside I had my whole life ahead of me a vision of the indescribable future Tears fell within Mountain life was different but it fit me A ship set sail on a lonely river What was love anyway Complicated There was no one that could hurt me again I imagined Just scars Scars and a desire to make something out of my life My cabin was just a shadow in the night And I was supposed to believe I didn t know Jesus I poured shots and beers that night to the locals Some who had hearts and some whose hearts had escaped them I ll never forget the songs that played on the Jukebox The moon cast weary shadows and eyes met eyes in the smoky bar Smoke rising All I could think of was having a fire for myself in my shell of a cabin outside by the river A river that always ran Peaceful Living In A

Persons and their Minds Svend Brinkmann, 2017-07-06 Today's approaches to the study of the human mind are divided into seemingly opposed camps On one side we find the neurosciences with their more or less reductionist research programs and on the other side we find the cultural and discursive approaches with their frequent neglect of the material sides of human life Persons and their Minds seeks to develop an integrative theory of the mind with room for both brain and culture Brinkmann's remarkable and thought provoking work is one of the first books to integrate brain research with phenomenology social practice studies and actor network theory all of which are held together by the concept of the person Brinkmann's new and informative approach to the person the mind and mental disorder give this book a wide scope The author uses Rom Harré's hybrid psychology as a meta theoretical starting point and expands this significantly by including four sources of mediators the brain the body social practices and technological artefacts The author draws on findings from cultural psychology and argues that the mind is normative in the sense that mental processes do not simply happen but can be done more or less well and thus are subject to normative appraisal In addition to informative theoretical discussions this book includes a number of detailed case studies including a study of ADHD from the integrated perspective Consequently the book will be of great interest to academics and researchers in the fields of psychology philosophy sociology and psychiatry

Anxiety, Modern Society, and the Critical Method Joel Michael Crombez, 2021-03-08. Anxiety, Modern Society, and the Critical Method interrogates the historical intersections of political economy, technology, and anxiety. By analyzing and building upon the tools developed by critical theorists to diagnose the symptoms of modern life such as alienation, anomie, the Protestant ethic, and repression, Joel Michael Crombez convincingly argues for a revitalization of critical social science to better confront the anxiety of life in modern societies. With anxiety typically falling under the purview of psychology and its biomedical approach to treatment, here anxiety is demonstrated to have origins in the totalizing logics of modern society. As such, Crombez provides an interdisciplinary roadmap to diagnose and treat anxiety, which he calls critical socioanalysis, that accounts for the psychosocial complexity of its production.

Approaches to Human Geography Stuart C. Aitken, Gill Valentine, 2014-12-01. The book covers some of the traditionally most obtuse and difficult to grasp philosophical ideas that have influenced geographers' geography. Can We Zoom into God? Andrew Hemingway, 2023-10-19 When Zoom worship emerged in Britain during the COVID lockdown of 2020 Christians quickly turned to an art form a form of theater to deliver their worship It was a quest for immanence the very thing the Reformation dealt with by the elevation of transcendence What an intriguing thought Could John Calvin with his dictum regarding piety have practiced Zoom worship Served as he was with the principle that the finite cannot contain the infinite we must admit it looks very unlikely At least in this Calvin saw eye to eye with Erasmus but what of Luther He may have been a comfortable Zoom worshiper with his views that Religious artworks are neither here nor there and We may have them or not as we please Little did the church realize that it would be a step back into the past because what you permit you promote The desire to use images was much more sinister than in Medieval times as these were now images of ourselves Regardless of the age the image reigns supreme What had caused the demise Was it bereavement It could not be bereavement of God rather it was the loss of the social the bereavement of one another The need for one another had forced the hand of Christians to turn to a practice completely untested Zoom worship was born the genie is out and will never go back in But in the face of the now acceptable force of contemporary narcissism who cares Rational Religion and Morals: Presenting Analysis of the Functions of Mind, Under the Operations and Directions of Reason Thomas J. Vaiden, 1852 Mysterious Minds Elise Nykänen, 2017-11-22 This study examines the narrative tools techniques and structures that Marja Liisa Vartio a classic of Finnish post war modernism used in presenting fictional minds in her narrative prose The study contributes to the academic discussion on formal and thematic conventions of modernism by addressing the ways in which fictional minds work in interaction and in relation to the enfolding fictional world The epistemic problem of how accurately the world the self and the other can be known is approached by analyzing two co operating ways of portraying fictional minds both from external and internal perspectives The external perspective relies on detachment and emotional restraint dominating in Vartio s early novels Se on sitten kevät and Mies kuin mies tyttö kuin tyttö The internal perspective pertains to the mental processes of self reflection speculation and excessive imagining that gain more importance in her later novels Kaikki naiset on kevätunien tunteet and Hän on ollut linnut In the theoretical chapter of this study fictional minds are discussed in the context of the acclaimed inward turn of modernist fiction by suggesting alternative methods for reading modernist minds as embodied emotional and social entities In respect to fictional minds interaction this study elaborates on the ideas of mind reading intersubjectivity and the social mind established within post classical cognitive narratology Furthermore it employs possible world poetics when addressing the complexity incompleteness and inaccessibility of Vartio s epistemic worlds including the characters private worlds of knowledge beliefs emotions hallucinations and dreams In regards to the emotional emplotment of fictional worlds this study also benefits from affective narratology as well as the plot theory being influenced by possible world semantics narrative dynamics and cognitive narratology As the five analysis chapters of this study show fictional minds in Vartio s fiction are not only introspective solipsist and streaming but also embodied and social entities In the readings of the primary texts the concept of embodiedness is used to examine the situated presence of an experiencing mind within the time and space of the storyworld Fictional minds interactions are also demonstrated as evolving from local experientiality to long term calculations that turn emotional incidents into episodes and episodes into stories In Vartio s novels the emotional story structure of certain conventional story patterns such as the narratives of female development and the romance plot the sentimental novel and epistolary fiction are modified and causally altered in the portrayal of the embodied interactions between the self the other and the world The trajectories of female self discovery in Vartio s novels are analyzed through the emotional responses of characters their experiences of randomness their ways of counterfactualizing their traumatic past their procrastinatory or akratic reactions or indecisiveness The gradual move away from the percepts of the external world to the excessive imaginings and mis readings of other minds triggered by the interaction of worlds and minds challenges the contemporary and more recent accounts of modernism both in Finnish and international contexts
