Mind Of An Ape:

The Mind of an Ape David Premack, Ann J. Premack, 1983-01-01 Kanzi Sue Savage-Rumbaugh, 1996-09-01 The remarkable story of a talking chimp a leading scientist and the profound insights they have uncovered about our species He has been featured in cover stories in Time Newsweek and National Geographic and has been the subject of a NOVA documentary He is directly responsible for discoveries that have forced the scientific community to recast its thinking about the nature of the mind and the origins of language He is Kanzi an extraordinary bonobo chimpanzee who has overturned the idea that symbolic language is unique to our species This is the moving story of how Kanzi learned to converse with humans and the profound lessons he has taught us about our animal cousins and ourselves The underlying thesis is informative and well argued Savage Rumbaugh s results are impressive The Washington Post This popular absorbing and controversial account is recommended Library Journal Apes, Monkeys, Children, and the Growth of Mind Juan Carlos Gómez, 2009-07 What can the study of young monkeys and apes tell us about the minds of young humans In this fascinating introduction to the study of primate minds Juan Carlos Gomez identifies evolutionary resemblances and differences between human children and other primates He argues that primate minds are best understood not as fixed collections of specialized cognitive capacities but more dynamically as a range of abilities that can surpass their original adaptations In a lively overview of a distinguished body of cognitive developmental research among nonhuman primates Gomez looks at knowledge of the physical world causal reasoning including the chimpanzee like errors that human children make and the contentious subjects of ape language theory of mind and imitation Attempts to teach language to chimpanzees as well as studies of the quality of some primate vocal communication in the wild make a powerful case that primates have a natural capacity for relatively sophisticated communication and considerable power to learn when humans teach them Gomez concludes that for all cognitive psychology s interest in perception information processing and reasoning some essential functions of mental life are based on ideas that cannot be explicitly articulated Nonhuman and human primates alike rely on implicit knowledge Studying nonhuman primates helps us to understand this perplexing aspect of all primate minds Apes, Language, and the Human Mind E. Sue Savage-Rumbaugh, Stuart Shanker, Talbot J. Taylor, 1998 Current primate research has yielded stunning results that not only threaten our underlying assumptions about the cognitive and communicative abilities of nonhuman primates but also bring into question what it means to be human At the forefront of this research Sue Savage Rumbaugh recently has achieved a scientific breakthrough of impressive proportions Her work with Kanzi a laboratory reared bonobo has led to Kanzi s acquisition of linguistic and cognitive skills similar to those of a two and a half year old human child Apes Language and the Human Mind skillfully combines a fascinating narrative of the Kanzi research with incisive critical analysis of the research s broader linguistic psychological and anthropological implications The first part of the book provides a detailed personal account of Kanzi s infancy youth and upbringing while the second part addresses the theoretical conceptual and methodological issues raised by the Kanzi research The authors discuss the challenge to the foundations of modern cognitive science presented by the Kanzi research the methods by which we represent and evaluate the abilities of both primates and humans and the implications which ape language research has for the study of the evolution of human language Sure to be controversial this exciting new volume offers a radical revision of the sciences of language and mind and will be important reading for all those working in the fields of primatology anthropology linguistics philosophy of mind and cognitive and developmental psychology

Ape Mind, Old Mind, New Mind John Wylie, John Wylie, M D, 2017 The Evolution of the Human Spirit excerpt The remarkable aspect of evolution by sexual selection which Darwin so courageously proposed is that it is driven merely by the desire for a trait in this case the desire for justice I had realized that sexual selection is not only driven by the peahen s desire for the peacock s tail but also by the peacock s desire to be desired for his tail i e vanity So what gave sexual selection the creative power to launch and then sustain our hominin tribe was and still is the combined effect of both the desire for justice and the desire to be just both passed down together tightly engaged in pioneering the frontiers of rightness and wrongness Indeed the fact that our minds are comprised of capacities determined by motivations that are both subject and object has much to do with both our expansive consciousness and our linguistic virtuosity We are at once the seer and the seen condemner and condemned lover and loved However because human evolution has left us so intricately fraught with these condensed motivations our minds are also vulnerable to the unraveling of emotion into the spinning feedback scream of mental illness I had not initially realized the extent of the role played by natural selection in the conversion from submission and dominance in apes to obedience and authority in humans Under the protective shield of justice groups of mated pair bonds could evolve the productive benefits of coordinating and dividing the labor of child care and food gathering At the end of the day those groupings of relationships that believed in the rules of this organic social structure would be naturally selected The procreative benefits to individuals within a given group immersed in this obedience authority system would exceed any benefits of pursuing their own dominance The will to dominate in the ape mind transformed into the authority of justice in the early human old mind by migrating from individuals to dwelling within the thin ether of relationships between individuals no one could see it but all could feel it This invisible but biologically based will could be said to possess intentions i e a spirit the human spirit Human bonds animated by this still evolving spirit ultimately would become more powerful than those of blood tribe or country

The Ape that Spoke John McCrone, 1990 An Ape Ethic and the Question of Personhood Gregory F. Tague, 2020-03-05 Gregory F Tague s An Ape Ethic and the Question of Personhood argues that great apes are moral individuals because they engage in a land ethic as ecosystem engineers to generate ecologically sustainable biomes for themselves and other species Tague shows that we need to recognize apes as eco engineers in order to save them and their habitats and that in so doing we will ultimately save earth s biosphere The book draws on extensive empirical research from the ecology and behavior of great apes and synthesizes past and current understanding of the similarities in cognition social behavior and culture found in apes Importantly this book proposes that differences between humans and apes provide the foundation for the call to recognize forest personhood in the great apes While all ape species are alike in terms of cognition intelligence and behaviors there is a vital contrast unlike humans great apes are efficient ecological engineers Therefore simian forest sovereignty is critical to conservation efforts in controlling global warming and apes should be granted dominion over their tropical forests Weaving together philosophy biology socioecology and elements from eco psychology this book provides a glimmer of hope for future acknowledgment of the inherent ethic that ape species embody in their eco centered existence on this planet The Lopsided Ape Michael C. Corballis,1991 The Lopsided Ape takes readers on a fascinating tour of the origins and implications of the specialization of the two halves of the brain in human evolution offering a provocative new theory on how the left hemisphere of the brain controls language Animal Bodies, Human Minds: Ape, Dolphin, and Parrot Language Skills W.A. Hillix,Duane Rumbaugh,2013-04-17 Several books chronicle attempts most of them during the last 40 years to teach animals to communicate with people in a human designed language These books have typically treated only one or two species or even one or a few research projects We have provided a more encompassing view of this field We also want to reinforce what other authors for example Jane Goodall Sue Savage Rumbaugh Penny Patterson Birute Galdikas and Roger and Deborah Fouts so passionately convey about our responsibility for our closest animal kin This book surveys what was known or believed about animal language throughout history and prehistory and summarizes current knowledge and the controversy around it The authors identify and attempt to settle most of the problems in interpreting the animal behaviours that have been observed in studies of animal language ability The Catholic's Ready Answer Michael Peter Hill,1915 Reaching Into Thought Anne E. Russon,Kim A. Bard,Sue Taylor Parker,1998-11-26 What special qualities of mind set the great apes apart from other nonhuman primates and indeed from ourselves In this book field and laboratory researchers show that the great apes have high level abilities in both social and ecological domains including tool use pretense self awareness deception consolation teaching and culture itself Great apes are also shown to be capable of thinking at symbolic levels traditionally considered to be uniquely human Here the mechanisms involved in building these abilities especially the lengthy developmental and enculturation processes are emphasized showing how new discoveries are changing views on how primates and human intelligence evolved This book is for anyone interested in current research and theoretical views of great ape cognition New Church Review ,1925 From Matter to Mind Marcus R. P. Dorman,1895 Back To Darwin John B. Cobb,2008-02-04 This book provides a distinctive radical way beyond the quarrels between evolutionary science and Christian belief Leading scientists philosophers and theologians critically discuss the metaphysical assumptions of neo Darwinism and offer concrete ways of broadening mainstream evolutionary theory Their open exchange moderated by

Apes and Monkeys Richard Lynch Garner,1900 Phenomenology of Life - From the Animal Soul to the Human Mind Anna-Teresa Tymieniecka,2007-08-23 Transcendental phenomenology presumed to have overcome the classic mind body dichotomy in terms of consciousness yet according to progress in scientific studies the biological functions of the brain seem to appropriate significant functions attributed traditionally to consciousness Should we indeed dissolve the specificity of human consciousness by explaining human experience in its multiple sense giving modalities through the physiological functions of the brain The present collection of studies addresses this crucial question challenging such naturalizing reductionism from multiple angles In search for the roots of The Specifically Human Experience Bombala moving along the line of Animality and Intellection Gosetti Ferencei Naturalistic Attitude and Personalistic Attitude Villela Petit and numerous other perspectives we arrive at a novel proposal to explain the scholar functional differentiation of conscious modalities We reach their source in the onto-poietic thread conducting the Logos of Life in its stepwise Evolutionary Unfolding Carmen Cozma and in sentience as its quintessential core of further irreducible continuity Tymieniecka dispelling dichotomies and reductionisms Understanding Human Evolution Ian Tattersall,2022-07-28 Human life and how we came to be is one of the greatest scientific and philosophical questions of our time This compact and accessible book presents a modern view of human evolution Written by a leading authority it lucidly and engagingly explains not only the evolutionary process but the technologies currently used to unravel the evolutionary past and emergence of Homo sapiens By separating the history of palaeoanthropology from current interpretation of the human fossil record it lays numerous misconceptions to rest and demonstrates that human evolution has been far from the linear struggle from primitiveness to perfection that we've been led to believe It also presents a coherent scenario for how Homo sapiens contrived to cross a formidable cognitive barrier to become an extraordinary and unprecedented thinking creature Elegantly illustrated Understanding Human Evolution is for anyone interested in the complex and tangled story of how we came to be Beautiful Minds Maddalena Bearzi,Craig Stanford,2010-05-01 This book explains how and why apes and dolphins are so distantly related yet so cognitively alike and what this teaches us about another large brained mammal Homo sapiens Noting that apes and dolphins have had no common ancestor in nearly 100 million years the authors describe the parallel evolution that gave rise to their intelligence The American Naturalist ,1890 A Brief History of the Mind William H. Calvin,2004-04-01 This book looks back at the simpler versions of mental life in apes Neanderthals and our ancestors back before our burst of creativity started 50 000 years ago When you can't think about the future in much detail you are trapped in a here and now existence with no What if and Why me William H Calvin takes stock of what we have now and then explains why we are nearing a crossroads where mind shifts gears again The mind s big bang came long after our brain size stopped enlarging Calvin suggests that the development of long sentences what modern children do in their third year was the most likely trigger To keep a half dozen concepts from blending together like a summer drink you need some mental structuring In saying I think I saw him leave to go home you are nesting three sentences inside a fourth We also structure plans play games with rules create structured music and chains of logic and have a fascination with discovering how things hang together Our long train of connected thoughts is why our consciousness is so different from what came before Where does mind go from here its powers extended by science enhanced education but with its slowly evolving gut instincts still firmly anchored in the ice ages We will likely shift gears again juggling more concepts and making decisions even faster imagining courses of action in greater depth Ethics are possible only because of a human level of ability to speculate judge quality and modify our possible actions accordingly Though science increasingly serves as our headlights we are out driving them going faster than we can react effectively
