Rethinking the Mind-Body Relationship in Early Modern Literature, Philosophy, and Medicine Charis

Charalampous, 2015-08-20 This book explores a neglected feature of intellectual history and literature in the early modern period the ways in which the body was theorized and represented as an intelligent cognitive agent with desires appetites and understandings independent of the mind It considers the works of early modern physicians thinkers and literary writers who explored the phenomenon of the independent and intelligent body Charalampous rethinks the origin of dualism that is commonly associated with Descartes uncovering hitherto unknown lines of reception regarding a form of dualism that understands the body as capable of performing complicated forms of cognition independently of the mind The study examines the consequences of this way of thinking about the body for contemporary philosophy theology and medicine opening up new vistas of thought against which to reassess perceptions of what literature can be thought and felt to do Sifting and assessing this evidence sheds new light on a range of historical and literary issues relating to the treatment perception and representation of the human body This book examines the notion of the thinking body across a wide range of genres topics and authors including Montaigne's Essays Spenser's allegorical poetry Donne's metaphysical poetry tragic dramaturgy Shakespeare and Milton's epic poetry and shorter poems It will be essential for those studying early modern literature cognition and the body

Integral Investing Mariana Bozesan, 2020-10-09 Today early stage investors and entrepreneurs find themselves in a dilemma in which they must choose between profit and impact between traditional for profit only models on the one hand and multiple bottom line structures with a positive social or environmental impact on the other At a time in which climate change exponentially growing technologies social polarization and looming pandemics are calling into question humanity's priorities this Report to the Club of Rome and the World Academy of Art and Science dissolves this dilemma by proposing a new investment paradigm namely Integral Investing Integral Investing incorporates and transcends the best practices of both traditional venture capital and impact investing It provides a seamless integration and shows how technological progress need not be our rival but can instead be our ally in ensuring the prosperous society we all want Drawing on her own investments and stellar track record since 1995 the author reveals the mechanism of Integral Investing At the heart of it is a powerful 360 degree de-risking tool called the Theta Model which reveals how to make smart investment decisions based on the comprehensive integration of traditional due diligence criteria sustainability metrics and assessments of the founders and team culture But it doesn't stop there In turn this handbook demonstrates how to use human centered AI to scale and digitalize the investment process The goal here is to accelerate the use of exponential tech capital and consciousness leadership to transition to a sustainable global society a process the author refers to as the Investment Turnaround The 21 principles of Integral Investing which she defines using Ken Wilber's Integral Theory lead to her manifesto on how to implement the UN Sustainable Development Goals within Planetary Boundaries by 2050 through early stage investing and entrepreneurship Similar to the 15th century when the Medicis inspired the Renaissance today humanity is once again at a crucial turning point where pioneering public and private financiers investors entrepreneurs and other committed individuals have the opportunity to leave behind the legacy of a prosperous society This handbook provides a source of inspiration and shows how self actualization a positive mindset and a consciousness that is backed by a world centric desire can become the driving force for solving the global grand challenges Feminist Philosophy of Mind Keya Maitra, Jennifer McWeeny, 2022 This is the first collection of essays to focus on feminist philosophy of mind It brings the theoretical insights from feminist philosophy to issues in philosophy of mind and vice versa Feminist Philosophy of Mind thus promises to challenge and inform dominant theories in both of its parent fields thereby enlarging their rigor scope and implications In addition to engaging analytic and feminist philosophical traditions essays draw upon resources in phenomenology cross cultural philosophy philosophy of race disability studies embodied cognition theory neuroscience and psychology The book s methods center on the collective consideration of three questions What is the mind Whose mind is the model for the theory To whom is mind attributed Topics considered with this lens include mental content artificial intelligence the first person perspective personal identity other minds mental illness perception memory attention desire trauma agency empathy grief love gender race sexual orientation materialism panpsychism enactivism and others Each of the book s twenty chapters are organized according to five core themes Mind and Gender Self and Selves Naturalism and Normativity Body and Mind and Memory and Emotion The introduction traces the development of these themes with reference to the respective literatures in feminist philosophy and philosophy of mind This context not only helps the reader see how the essays fit into existing disciplinary landscapes but also facilitates their use in teaching Feminist Philosophy of Mind is designed to be used as a core text for courses in contemporary disciplines and as a supplemental text that facilitates the ready integration of diverse perspectives and women s voices The Oxford Handbook of Contemporary Feminism, Foucault, and Embodied Subjectivity Margaret A. McLaren, 2012-02-01 Addressing central questions in the debate about Foucault's usefulness for politics including his rejection of universal norms his conception of power and power knowledge his seemingly contradictory position on subjectivity and his resistance to using identity as a political category McLaren argues that Foucault employs a conception of embodied subjectivity that is well suited for feminism She applies Foucault's notion of practices of the self to contemporary feminist practices such as consciousness raising and autobiography and concludes that the connection between self transformation and social transformation that Foucault theorizes as the connection between subjectivity and institutional and social norms is crucial for contemporary feminist theory and politics

Deleuze and Film Teresa Rizzo, 2012-04-26 In the first book length introduction to Deleuze's work on film from a feminist perspective Teresa Rizzo ranges across Deleuze's books on Cinema his other writings and feminist re-workings of his philosophy to re-think the film viewing experience More than a commentary on Deleuze's books on Cinema Rizzo's work addresses a significant gap in film theory building a bridge between the spectatorship studies and apparatus theories of the 1970s and new theorisations of the cinematic experience Developing a concept of a cinematic assemblage the book focuses on affective and intensive connections between film and viewer Through a careful analysis of a range of film texts and genres that have been important to feminist film scholarship such as the Alien series and the modern horror film Rizzo puts Deleuze's key concepts to work in exciting new ways

Dewey and the Aesthetic Unconscious Bethany Henning, 2022-03-30 John Dewey was the most celebrated and publicly engaged American philosopher in the twentieth century His naturalistic theory of experience generated new approaches to education and democracy and re grounded philosophy's search for truth in the needs of life as it is shared and lived However interpretations of Dewey after the linguistic turn have either obscured or rejected the considerable role that he gives to the non discursive dimension of experience In Dewey and the Aesthetic Unconscious The Vital Depths of Experience Bethany Henning argues that much classical American philosophy implicitly recognizes an unconscious dimension of mind that is distinct from Freud's theory Although the unconscious that emerges within American thought has never been treated systematically it found its fullest expression in Dewey's work particularly in his theory of aesthetic experience This dimension of mind illuminates the continuity between nature and culture and it provides us with an account of why artwork is often successful at communicating meanings from the ecological and intimate dimensions of life where discourse often fails If the relationship between the human and the organic world has emerged as the definitive question of twenty first century life then the aesthetic unconscious stands as a resource for our ecological and intimate well being

Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of engaging stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and gripping novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
