Thomas J. Cottle

Mind Fields Adolescent Consciousness In A Culture Of Distraction 01 Edition:

Mind Fields Thomas J. Cottle, 2001 In Mind Fields Thomas J. Cottle argues that the period known as adolescence is essentially a social construct influenced greatly by popular culture To understand young people therefore is to recognize how the very consciousness of adolescents is shaped by a culture dominated by the entertainment industry and the power of television and the computer constantly urging them to turn away from the normal evolution of their personal and social lives In this fundamentally distracting environment young people explore their consciousness sharing it with others as well as form their sense of identity all the while having these most inner experiences affected as much by the culture as by their own temperaments and personalities It is the culture that determines the forms of recognition and independence as well as intimacy and attachment that adolescents must learn In the end the author argues for the value of self reflection as a critical ingredient of identity formation and a fundamental antidote to distracting cultural influences

Drawing Life Thomas J. Cottle, 2013-11-21 In Drawing Life Thomas J. Cottle examines the ways people interpret their life experiences and construct meanings for the events they have encountered In this manner they discover their various identities and the essence of what we call the self In reading the sixteen life studies contained in this volume we encounter both inner reflections as well the power of culture to shape the meanings people give to their circumstances and the events that befall them The stories also reflect the role of human relationships and social institutions in defining our personal identities and sense of justice What makes us unique therefore is the personal story we tell as it reveals our constructions of the world and of ourselves The stories recounted in Drawing Life illuminate not only our past but also our perceptions of the present and our imaginings of the future In this way they become anthologies of our life experiences

Beyond Self-esteem Thomas J. Cottle, 2003 In Beyond Self Esteem Thomas J. Cottle argues that America's preoccupation with notions of self esteem and self regard not only does not reflect the fundamental nature of the self but leads to selfish behavior and an inability to devote one's self to friendships The self Cottle writes is predicated on social relationships and more specifically on the affirmation each of us offers to the other as well as the degree of responsibility we find ourselves willing to take for one another It is Cottle's contention reinforced by his theoretical positions and by the narrative accounts of children and adults alike that affirmation of and the assumption of responsibility for other people remain the most ethical human actions

Children and Television Norma Pecora, John P. Murray, Ellen Ann Wartella, 2009-03-04 This seminal volume is a comprehensive review of the literature on children's television covering fifty years of academic research on children and television The work includes studies of content effects and policy and offers research conducted by social scientists and cultural studies scholars The research questions represented here consider the content of programming children's responses to television regulation concerning children's television policies issues of advertising and concerns about sex and race stereotyping often voicing concerns that children's entertainment be held to a higher standard The volume also offers essays by scholars who have been seeking answers to some of the most critical questions addressed by this research. It represents the interdisciplinary nature of research on children and television and draws on many academic traditions including communication studies, psychology, sociology, education, economics, and medicine. The full bibliography is included on CD. Arguably the most comprehensive bibliography of research on children and television, this work illustrates the ongoing evolution of scholarship in this area and establishes how it informs or changes public policy as well as defining its role in shaping a future agenda. The volume will be a required resource for scholars, researchers, and policy makers concerned with issues of children and television, media policy, media literacy, and education, and family studies.

A Sense of Self Thomas J. Cottle, 2003. A clinical psychologist as well as a sociologist, Thomas J. Cottle is the author of more than twenty-five books. At the heart of his work is a concern with the problems confronted by ordinary people in their everyday lives, the kinds of issues that shape who we are and how we interact with the world around us. In A Sense of Self, his focus is on affirmation, on that mysterious process by which the self comes to know itself in relation to others and forges an identity. He pays particular attention to the role of devotion, showing how the taking of responsibility for another is the essence of affirmation, which in turn is the fundamental ingredient in the development of a self.

Content Area Reading and Writing Norman Unrau, 2004. This theory-based, strategy-driven approach to teaching content area and secondary reading keeps an eye on the cultural issues affecting secondary students while emphasizing reflective practice to promote the most effective teaching. Chapters on assessment, motivation, struggling readers, aligning standards with strategies and assessment, and a constant focus on diversity set this text apart. Frequent opportunities for readers to apply the concepts they are learning help to make this a truly informative text.

SPECIAL FEATURES INCLUDE: Step-by-step features which precisely explain a strategy's implementation. Plenty of simple and effective strategies for assessing and addressing students' reading capabilities. A strong focus on standards that shows beginning teachers how to integrate literacy goals with content standards. An abundance of student work samples to fully illustrate chapter concepts, strategies, and effective teaching. A Companion Website available at www.prenhall.com/unrau containing self-assessments, web links, and classroom video footage to round out content comprehension.
