The Reaching for Mind workshop held at AISB 95 explicitly addressed itself to the current crisis in Cognitive Science. In particular, the issue of how this discipline can address consciousness was a leitmotiv in the workshop. The conclusion seems inescapable that there is a need for two sciences in this area: Cognitive Science can be freed to become a fully fledged experimental epistemology by the creation of a science of consciousness also encompassing subjectivity. This exciting collection of papers indicates where both these sciences may be heading. Series B: The programme committee of the workshop included Mike Brady, Oxford; Daniel Dennett, Tufts; Jerry Feldman, Berkeley; John Macnamara, McGill; and Zenon Pylyshyn, Rutgers.

Dining with Jesus Kate Jackson, 2022-11-25
 This seven-week guide aims to aid Christians individually or in small groups to take a closer look at seven of the meals Jesus attended, focusing on what Jesus was trying to communicate through them, either in the food eaten or in the social interactions he had whilst dining. Each session examines a set Bible passage, frequently considering them through the lens of the stories and teachings which bookend the meal. The sessions also prioritise posing questions to support Christians in reflecting upon their own lives and how they can further incorporate Jesus' teachings into them. This guide brings into one user-friendly volume a range of ideas that these meals explore, including God's grace, what real purity means, how Jesus equips us to further his Kingdom, the purpose of Jesus' miracles, and the nature of Jesus' Messiahship, as well as current interpretations of these occasions of commensality and the relevance of their historical and social context in a language that is easy to understand.
