Minding The World:

Minding Minds Radu J. Bogdan, 2003-08-11 Drawing on philosophical psychological and evolutionary perspectives Bogdan analyzes how primates create the resources for metamentation the ability of the mind to think about its own thoughts Mental reflexivity or metamentation a mind thinking about its own thoughts underpins reflexive consciousness deliberation self evaluation moral judgment the ability to think ahead and much more Yet relatively little in philosophy or psychology has been written about what metamentation actually is or about why and how it came about In this book Radu Bogdan proposes that humans think reflexively because they interpret each other's minds in social contexts of cooperation communication education politics and so forth As naive psychology interpretation was naturally selected among primates as a battery of practical skills that preceded language and advanced thinking Metamentation began as interpretation mentally rehearsed through mental sharing of attitudes and information about items of common interest interpretation conspired with mental rehearsal to develop metamentation Drawing on philosophical psychological and evolutionary perspectives Bogdan analyzes the main phylogenetic and ontogenetic stages through which primates abilities to interpret other minds evolve and gradually create the opportunities and resources for metamentation Contrary to prevailing views he concludes that metamentation benefits from but is not a predetermined outcome of logical abilities language and consciousness

Georg Northoff, 2017-09-09 Neuroscience has raised many questions for philosophy and its traditional focus on the mind but what does the emerging field of neurophilosophy teach us about the relationship between mind and brain How have the new debates transformed our understanding of consciousness the self and free will Georg Northoff is a world leading expert in this exciting area and in Minding the Brain he provides a comprehensive introduction to non reductive neurophilosophy charting the developments of the discipline and applying its ideas to the debates that have captivated philosophers for centuries Minding the Brain Employs extensive pedagogy to help the reader get to grips with complex concepts Takes a transdisciplinary approach unifying science psychology and philosophy Unearthing new ways to tackle age old debates Minding the Brain is a stimulating text for anyone interested in philosophy psychology the cognitive sciences and neuroscience

Minding the Modern Thomas Pfau, 2015-02-15 In this brilliant study Thomas Pfau argues that the loss of foundational concepts in classical and medieval Aristotelian philosophy caused a fateful separation between reason and will in European thought Pfau traces the evolution and eventual deterioration of key concepts of human agency will person judgment action from antiquity through Scholasticism and on to eighteenth century moral theory and its critical revision in the works of Samuel Taylor Coleridge Featuring extended critical discussions of Aristotle Gnosticism Augustine Aquinas Ockham Hobbes Shaftesbury Mandeville Hutcheson Hume Adam Smith and Coleridge this study contends that the humanistic concepts these writers seek to elucidate acquire meaning and significance only inasmuch as we are prepared positively to engage rather than historicize their previous usages Beginning with the rise of theological and eventually secular voluntarism modern thought appears increasingly reluctant and in time unable to engage the deep history of its own underlying conceptions thus leaving our understanding of the nature and function of humanistic inquiry increasingly frayed and incoherent One consequence of this shift is to leave the moral self expression of intellectual elites and ordinary citizens alike stunted which in turn has fueled the widespread notion that moral and ethical concerns are but a special branch of inquiry largely determined by opinion rather than dialogical reasoning judgment and practice A clear sign of this regression is the present crisis in the study of the humanities whose role is overwhelmingly conceived and negatively appraised in terms of scientific theories methods and objectives The ultimate casualty of this reductionism has been the very idea of personhood and the disappearance of an adequate ethical language Minding the Modern is not merely a chapter in the history of ideas it is a thorough phenomenological and metaphysical study of the roots of today's predicaments Autonomy After

Auschwitz Martin Shuster, 2014-09-12 Ever since Kant and Hegel the notion of autonomy the idea that we are beholden to no law except one we impose upon ourselves has been considered the truest philosophical expression of human freedom But could our commitment to autonomy as Theodor Adorno asked be related to the extreme evils that we have witnessed in modernity In Autonomy after Auschwitz Martin Shuster explores this difficult question with astonishing theoretical acumen examining the precise ways autonomy can lead us down a path of evil and how it might be prevented from doing so Shuster uncovers dangers in the notion of autonomy as it was originally conceived by Kant Putting Adorno into dialogue with a range of European philosophers notably Kant Hegel Horkheimer and Habermas as well as with a variety of contemporary Anglo American thinkers such as Richard Rorty Stanley Cavell John McDowell and Robert Pippin he illuminates Adorno's important revisions to this fraught concept and how his different understanding of autonomous agency fully articulated might open up new and positive social and political possibilities Altogether Autonomy after Auschwitz is a meditation on modern evil and human agency one that demonstrates the tremendous ethical stakes at the heart of philosophy The Esoteric Hiram Erastus Butler, 1898 Rewilding Our Hearts Marc Bekoff, 2014-10-15 In wildlife conservation rewilding refers to restoring habitats and creating corridors between preserved lands to allow declining populations to rebound Marc Bekoff one of the world's leading animal experts and activists here applies rewilding to human attitudes Rewilding Our Hearts invites readers to do the essential work of becoming reenchanted with the world acting from the inside out and dissolving false boundaries to truly connect with both nature and themselves Albert Camus and the Philosophy of the Ordinary Raymond D.

Boisvert, 2023-02-23 The standard interpretation keeps repeating that Camus is the prototypical absurdist thinker Such a reading freezes Camus at the stage at which he wrote The Stranger and The Myth of Sisyphus By taking seriously how 1 Camus was always searching and 2 the rest of his corpus Albert Camus and the Philosophy of the Ordinary corrects the one sided and thus faulty depiction of Camus as committed to a philosophy of absurdism His guiding project which he explicitly acknowledged was an attempt to get beyond nihilism the general dismissal of value and meaning in ordinary life Tracing this project via Camus's works Albert Camus and the Philosophy of the Ordinary offers a new lens for thinking about the well known author Meditations of Global First Philosophy Ashok K. Gangadean, 2008-10-22 In Meditations of Global First Philosophy Ashok K. Gangadean builds on decades of research on the emergence of global reason to trace the roots of logos in different cultural milieus. Gangadean crosses into the uncharted frontier of global consciousness, global wisdom and global first philosophy to illustrate that there is a primal force, a global logos that is the generative source of our diverse worldviews, cultures, religions, philosophies, perspectives and disciplinary orientations

Teaching for EcoJustice Rita J. Turner, 2015-05-22 Teaching for EcoJustice is a unique resource for exploring the social roots of environmental problems in humanities based educational settings and a curriculum guidebook for putting EcoJustice Education into practice. It provides model curriculum materials that apply the principles of EcoJustice Education, giving pre and in-service teachers the ability to review examples of specific secondary and post-secondary classroom assignments, lessons, discussion prompts and strategies that encourage students to think critically about how modern problems of sustainability and environmental destruction have developed their root causes and how they can be addressed. The author describes instructional methods she uses when teaching each lesson and shares insights from evaluations of the materials in her classroom and by other teachers. Interspersed between lessons is commentary about the rationale behind the materials and observations about their effect on students

Between Communication and Information Brent Ruben, 2017-09-29 The current popularity of such phrases as information age and information society suggests that links between information, communication and behavior have become closer and more complex in a technology dominated culture. Social scientists have adopted an integrated approach to these concepts, opening up new theoretical perspectives on the media, social psychology, personal relationships, group process, international diplomacy and consumer behavior. Between Communication and Information maps out a richly interdisciplinary approach to this development, offering innovative research and advancing our understanding of integrative frameworks. This fourth volume in the series reflects recently established lines of research as well as the continuing interest in basic areas of communications theory and practice. In Part I contributors explore the junction between communication and information from various theoretical perspectives, delving into the multilayered relationship between the two phenomena. Cross disciplinary approaches in the fields of etymology and library science are presented in the second section. Part III brings together case studies that examine the interaction of information and communication at individual and group levels: information exchanges between doctors and patients, children and computers, journalists and electronic news sources are analyzed in depth. The concluding segment focuses on large social contexts in which the interaction of communication and information affects the evolution of institutions and culture. Between Information and Communication both extends and challenges current thinking on the
