Terry R. Wright, 2016-03-09 This book considers a range of twentieth century novelists who practise a creative mode of reading the Bible exploring aspects of the Book of Genesis which more conventional biblical criticism sometimes ignores Each chapter considers some of the interpretive challenges of the relevant story in Genesis especially those noted by rabbinic midrash which serves as a model for such creative rewriting of the biblical text All the novelists considered from Mark Twain John Steinbeck and Thomas Mann to Jeanette Winterson Anita Diamant and Jenny Diski are shown to have been aware of the midrashic tradition and in some cases to have incorporated significant elements from it into their own writing The questions these modern and postmodern writers ask of the Bible however go beyond those permitted by the rabbis and by other believing interpretive communities Each chapter therefore attempts to chart intertextually where the writers are coming from what principles govern their mode of reading and rewriting Genesis and what conclusions can be drawn about the ways in which it remains possible to relate to the Bible Godspeed: Riding Out the Recession Robert Linz, 2014-06-12

Godspeed: Riding Out the Recession chronicles the author's experience of a solo bicycle trek of over 14 000 miles around the USA Departing from his home in Cincinnati Ohio on Memorial Day of 2011 he returned just over a year later after promising his Dad that he would be back home in time to celebrate his 90th birthday Seeing adversity as an opportunity the journey was his response to the crippling effect of the recession upon his work as a carpenter contractor Renting his home and shutting down all of his expenses he created a food and lodging budget of 15 day Maps and smart phone were the major expenses of his experience Wild camping his way around the country he shares the curious and compelling nature of how people and events showed up for him along the way Was it simply a journey or a journey created At the very least it became a pilgrimage that confirmed many of his core beliefs and in subtle ways changed others Presidential Transitions Patrick Sanaghan, Larry Goldstein, 2009-11-01 A presidential transition has a major impact on the life of an institution Hundreds of presidential transitions take place annually and when they are not amicable and carefully orchestrated they can scar both the institution and the president Sanaghan Goldstein and Gaval estimate that more than one third of the presidential transitions in higher education are involuntary and have a negative effect on the institution This book is designed to provide assistance to presidents trustees faculty and other important stakeholder groups and help them avoid the pitfalls of poorly managed transitions The authors discuss how with proper planning care and execution this presidential passage can be an opportunity for a transitioning president and those who surround him or her to write a positive chapter in the campus history Readers will discover that appropriately addressing the anxiety that accompanies major transitions_for both those joining the institution and those already present_is essential Dozens of presidents chancellors board members and other senior executives were interviewed for this book Each major chapter includes selected personal observations from these interviews which illustrate the critical issues addressed in the book

Seizing the Ohio Country Robert Alexander,2024-04-19 After the American Revolution land speculators in the United States desired the bottom portion of the current state of Ohio with the full Northwest Territory being the ultimate prize Encompassing approximately 200 million acres gaining this territory became a priority for the developing United Colonies This land was ceded to the United Colonies now the United States when the British government signed the Treaty of Peace in 1783 Focusing on the first decade after the Revolution this book explains the United States

seizure of territory in Ohio from the Native People who had no desire or intention of parting with their land The Northwest Ordinance is discussed as a key event influencing how the United States would develop since this act created the desirable Northwest Territory How the young republic faced the challenge of gaining this territory from the Natives determined exactly what kind of nation it would become Gold, Ivory and Slaves Norman Handy, 2019-11-07 Norman Handy vividly describes travelling down the West Coast of Africa He writes about the misery of Africans captured and shipped across the Atlantic to be sold into slavery European manufactured goods were traded in Africa to buy slaves who were then shipped to the Americas to be traded again for tobacco sugar and rum More than twelve million Africans were slaves until they were eventually freed In the scramble for Africa colonial powers competed to grab as much African land as they could It wasn't about slavery but about despicable economic exploitation Borders were arbitrarily decided by colonial powers with no regard to local realities Then came independence and exploitation of the local people by their own people widely known as The African Way Is it any better today History of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, 1904 Travels and Discoveries in North and Central Africa (Complete) Heinrich Barth, On the 5th of October 1849 at Berlin Professor Carl Ritter informed me that the British Government was about to send Mr Richardson on a mission to Central Africa and that they had offered through the Chevalier Bunsen to allow a German traveller to join the mission provided he was willing to contribute two hundred pounds for his own personal travelling expenses I had commenced lecturing at the University of Berlin on comparative geography and the colonial commerce of antiquity and had just at that time published the first volume of my Wanderings round the Mediterranean which comprised my journey through Barbary Having undertaken this journey quite alone I spent nearly my whole time with the Arabs and familiarized myself with that state of human society where the camel is man's daily companion and the culture of the date tree his chief occupation I made long journeys through desert tracts I travelled all round the Great Syrtis and passing through the picturesque little tract of Cyrenaica traversed the whole country towards Egypt I wandered about for above a month in the desert valleys between Aswan and Kos r and afterwards pursued my journey by land all the way through Syria and Asia Minor to Constantinople While traversing these extensive tracts where European comfort is never altogether out of reach where lost supplies may be easily replaced and where the protection of European powers is not quite without avail I had often cast a wistful look towards those unknown or little known regions in the interior which stand in frequent though irregular connection with the coast As a lover of ancient history I had been led towards those regions rather through the commerce of ancient Carthage than by the thread of modern discovery and the desire to know something more about them acted on me like a charm In the course of a conversation I once held with a H u s a slave in K f in the regency of Tunis he seeing the interest I took in his native country made use of these simple but impressive words Please God you shall go and visit Kan These words were constantly ringing in my ears and though overpowered for a time by the vivid impressions of interesting and picturesque countries they echoed with renewed intensity as soon as I was restored to the tranquillity of European life During my three years travelling I had ample opportunity of testing the efficacy of British protection I experienced the kindness of all Her Britannic Majesty s consuls from Tangiers to Br sa and often enjoyed their hospitality It was solely their protection which enabled me to traverse with some degree of security those more desert tracts through which I wandered Colonel Warrington Her Majesty s consul in Tripoli who seems to have had some presentiment of my capabilities as an African explorer even promised me his full assistance if I should try to penetrate into the interior Besides this my admiration of the wide extension of the British over the globe their influence their language and their government was such that I felt a strong inclination to become the humble means of carrying out their philanthropic views for the progressive civilization of the neglected races of Central Africa Under these circumstances I volunteered cheerfully to accompany Mr Richardson on the sole condition however that the exploration of Central Africa should be made the principal object of the mission instead of a secondary one as had been originally contemplated In the meantime while letters were interchanged between Berlin London and Paris where Mr Richardson at that time resided my father whom I had informed of my design entreated me to desist from my perilous undertaking with an earnestness which my filial duty did not allow me to resist and giving way to Dr Overweg who in youthful enthusiasm came immediately forward to volunteer I receded from my engagement But it was too late my offer having been officially accepted in London and I therefore allayed my father s anxiety and joined the expedition It was a generous act of Lord Palmerston who organized the expedition to allow two foreign gentlemen to join it instead of one A sailor was besides attached to it and a boat was also provided in order to give full scope to the object of exploration The choice of the sailor was unfortunate and Mr Richardson thought it best to send him back from M rzuk but the boat which was carried throughout the difficult and circuitous road by M rzuk Gh t A r and Z nder exciting the wonder and astonishment of all the tribes in the interior ultimately reached its destination though the director of the expedition himself had in the meanwhile unfortunately succumbed Love at First Hike Michelle Pugh,2014-01-01 When recent graduate Michelle Pugh sets out to fulfill a childhood dream of hiking the A T from start to finish she enjoys the bliss of being surrounded by nature the peacefulness of small trail towns and the companionship of fellow hikers Moods of Future Joys Alastair Humphreys,Sir Ranulph Fiennes,2007-11-01 An updated edition including new color photographs and a new afterword looking back at the journeyAlastair Humphreys around the world journey of 46 000 miles was an old fashioned adventure long lonely low budget and spontaneous Cycling across five continents and sailing over the oceans his ride took four years to complete on a tiny budget of hoarded student loans Here is the story of the first remarkable stage of the expedition Just two weeks into the ride the September 11th attacks changed everything All Humphreys plans went out the window and instead of riding towards Australia he suddenly found himself pedaling through the Middle East and Africa and on toward Cape Town This book recounts an epic journey that succeeded through Humphreys trust in the kindness of strangers at a time where the interactions of our global community are more confused and troubled than ever Walking in Wide Places , God's Fire on Ice Kayy Gordon,2017-11-15 At the age of twenty two Kayy Gordon headed for the Arctic Circle to be a missionary among the Inuit There she adapted to the land of the midnight sun sharing with the Inuit their camp life and winter storms traveling with the reindeer herders learning to enjoy whale meat and frozen fish But most of all she shared with them the story of Jesus She prayed with them cried with them and ministered wherever she could Fifty years later Kayy still travels in the North And with her the power of the Holy Spirit has taken the ice and set it on fire The Birds of passage ,1884 My One and Only Piece of Hand Luggage Gareth P Jones,2024-05-23 It is an account of my fifteen cycling trips in many different countries in the world As a man in my late fifties I was more than aware that I had to improve my overall fitness After cycling around my local area I felt that I needed a change of scenery So I embarked on a 4 day 322km trip from the north of my beloved Wales to the south This fired up in me a desire to explore more of what the world could offer Completing a 525km cycling trip along the Normandy coastline of France gave me a good idea of what I would have to cope with while cycling in my first foreign country Thankfully it gave me the confidence to look further afield But first I had to attempt what I thought was a huge undertaking and that was cycling solo nearly a 1600km from John O Groats to Lands End Luckily I completed it without any problems and it certainly opened up to a whole new world of possibilities for me My next trip would be a long 1117km from Dunkirk to Denmark This required me to cycle through a little piece of France on through Belgium through the flat lands of Holland up through Germany and on to Denmark Attempting the historic Mille Millia parade of classic and vintage cars in Italy turned out to be a very memorable yet frustrating trip with me only completing half of the intended 805km due to inclement weather That Italian setback didn't deter me from completing a 405km trip from Western Australia's capital of Perth through vast open spaces to Albany on the south coast Cycling across Shikoku Japan's fourth largest island became a memory etched into my soul Full of spectacular scenery and cultural beauty Closer to home a trip with my wife Sue around the North Antrim coast proved to be a spectacularly ride due to its stunning coastline and its welcoming locals My teenage dream came true as I cycled around the hustle and bustle that is Hong Kong The stark unforgiving landscape of Iceland proved to be a breath of fresh air The 298km circular loop of the Cabot trail in Nova Scotia had me huffing and puffing up through its stunning Highland National Park My fears of a supported tour from Moscow to St Petersburg proved unfounded with an enjoyable trip full of surprises My eyes were certainly opened when I stayed in New Delhi and the stunning Himalayan mountain vistas from Shimla took what little breath I had away Eventually 2023 saw me resume with a gentle reintroduction with me cycling around the midlands of the beautiful Emerald island of Eire From the Cannon's Mouth Alpheus Starkey Williams,1995-08-01 Fifty one years old when the Civil War broke out Alpheus S Williams was commissioned brigadier general of volunteers in the Army of the Potomac These letters to his daughters written in the most rigorous wartime circumstances reveal the high ranking officer's views on events from Bull Run to Georgia and the Carolinas to Gettysburg He characterizes McClellan Sherman Hooker and Meade scorns a system of promotion that rewards grandstanders and press kissers and explodes in fury at the contractors whose graft cheats the soldiers of blankets and shoes in midwinter He pities the people and animals thrust in the path of the cannon and is acutely attuned to the weather and landscape Every line by Williams is stamped with intelligence and sensibility and his combatant's view of the battle at Antietam is the most stirring in Civil War literature The Living Age ,1860 Travels and Discoveries in North and Central Africa Heinrich Barth,1857
