The Walls Behind the Curtain Harold B. Segel,2012-11-11

Because of their visibility in society and ability to shape public opinion prominent literary figures were among the first targets of Communist repression torture and incarceration Authors such as Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn famously documented the experience of internment in Soviet gulags Little however has been published in the English language on the work of writers imprisoned by other countries of the Soviet bloc For the first time The Walls Behind the Curtain presents a collection of works from East European novelists poets playwrights and essayists who wrote during or after their captivity under communism Harold B Segel paints a backdrop of the political culture and prison and labor camp systems of each country detailing the onerous conditions that writers faced Segel then offers biographical information on each writer and presents excerpts of their writing Notable literary figures included are Vaclav Havel Eva Kanturkova Milan Simecka Adam Michnik Milovan Djilas Paul Goma Tibor Dery and Visar Zhati as well as many other writers This anthology recovers many of the most important yet overlooked literary voices from the era of Communist occupation Although translated from numerous languages and across varied cultures there is a distinct commonality in the experiences documented by these works The Walls Behind the Curtain serves as a testament to the perseverance of the human spirit and a quest for individual liberty that many writers forfeited their lives for

The Conscience of Humankind International Comparative Literature Association. Congress,Elrud Ibsch,2000 The traumatic experiences of persecution and genocide have changed traditional views of literature The discussion of historical truth versus aesthetic autonomy takes an unexpected turn when confronted with the experiences of the victims of the Holocaust the Gulag Archipelago the Cultural Revolution Apartheid and other crimes against humanity The question is whether and if so to what extent literary imagination may depart from historical truth In general the first reactions to traumatic historical experiences are autobiographical statements written by witnesses of the events However the second and third generations the sons and daughters of the victims as well as of the victimizers tend to free themselves from this generic restriction and claim their own way of remembering the history of their parents and grandparents They explore their own limits of representation and feel free to use a variety of genres they turn to either realist or postmodernist ironic or grotesque modes of writing

Stalinism and Nazism Henry Rousso,Richard Joseph Golsan,2004-01-01 In this volume Europe's leading modern historians offer new insights into two totalitarian regimes of the twentieth century that have profoundly affected world history Nazi Germany and the Stalinist Soviet Union Until now historians have paid more attention to the similarities between these two regimes than to their differences Stalinism and Nazism explores the difficult relationship between the history and memory of the traumas inflicted by Nazi and Soviet occupation in several Eastern European countries in the twentieth century The first part of the volume explores the origins nature and organization of Hitler's and Stalin's dictatorial power the manipulation of violence by the state systems and the comparative power of the dictator's personal will and the encompassing totalitarian system The second part examines the legacies of the Nazi and Stalinist regimes in Eastern European countries that experienced both Stalinism and Nazism features the latest critical perspectives on two of the most influential and deadly political regimes in modern history The Transformation of Property Regimes and Transitional Justice in Central Eastern Europe Liviu Damşa, 2017-01-03 This volume examines the property transformations in post communist Central Eastern Europe CEE and focuses on the role of restitution and privatisation in such transformations It argues that the theorisation of restitution in post communist CEE is incomplete in the transitional justice scholarship and in the literature on correction of historical wrongs The book also argues that for a more complete theorisation of post communist restitution the transformations of property in post communist societies ought to be studied in a more holistic way The main legal vehicles used for such transformations privatisation and restitution should not be studied separately and in abstract but in their reciprocal relationship and in connection to the dimension of justice which each could achieve Finally the book integrates privatisation in a theory of post communist transformation of property

Worlds Apart? A Postcolonial Reading of post-1945 East-Central European Culture Cristina Sandru, 2013-01-16 This study explores the relation of the Eastern European problematic to postcolonial critical practice interrogating the extent to which postcolonialism can help illuminate instances of imperial domination in non Third World contexts. It argues that colonisation is to be understood principally as a condition of ideological domination that has engendered similar forms of literary and cultural resistance; consequently it offers a comparative framework which enables a reading in differential contexts of texts that ostensibly have little in common but which on close examination reveal a shared imaginative space, rhetoric and narrative agency. The book consists of two interrelated parts. Part one is a critical discussion of the ideologies, cultural imaginaries and representational practices articulated in a diverse range of representative postcolonial and post 1945 East Central European texts; these are shown to share, despite dissimilar conditions of production, uncannily related narrative modes and thematic emphases. Part two is a comparative literature case study which discusses two authors whose work is both highly representative of the cultural formations discussed in the first part, Milan Kundera and Salman Rushdie, and at the same time highly controversial. The chapters dedicated to Kundera's and Rushdie's work examine the cultural geography of their novels, particularly in the writers' use of memory and story telling to reconfigure history and personal identity in conditions of literal and metaphorical displacement. While their novels thrive on ironic subversion and ambiguity, they simultaneously gesture towards a redemptive space of the imagination transcending the constraints of both locality and history.

Os Mártires Católicos do Século XX Robert Royal, 2001-09-13. Através do relato dos casos mais significativos do martírio católico no século XX, Robert Royal dá-nos uma visão completamente nova e surpreendente do mundo dos nossos tempos, que nos levará sem dúvida a olhar a história de outra maneira. Tendo sempre por pano de fundo a dimensão espiritual que dá sentido ao martírio e ao sofrimento em geral, o Autor acaba por concluir que, feliz o tempo que não produz uma abundante colheita de mártires. Mas ainda mais feliz o tempo em que as pessoas se comprometem a ficar com Cristo independentemente de isso significar o martírio, porque dessa disposição de ir até à morte nasce tudo aquilo por que vale a pena viver. Esta, portanto, é uma obra fascinante pelos emocionantes testemunhos de fé que relata e pelo inevitável sentimento que nos transmite de que, afinal, a nossa própria vida pode não estar tão distante quanto se pensa das desses homens e mulheres admiráveis.
