Chambers, Francis Stapleton Chambers, 1922      Birdville School; A Portrait of Small-Town America in the 20th Century Bob Barrage, 2019-01-03 Birdville School opened in 1922 on the corner of two dirt roads at the edge of a fallow farm. Over the next 67 school years it witnessed and influenced the unfolding story of the town that grew up around it amid flood, brushfire, blizzard, tornado, and earthquake; poverty and prosperity, war, peace, and cold war; and even the collapse of the earth beneath its foundations. Its auditorium and cafeteria hosted PTA meetings, plays, movies, concerts, basketball tournaments, holiday parties, Girl Scout and Boy Scout meetings, polio vaccination clinics, and war-time rationing registrations and scrap collection drives. Local sand lot softball, baseball, and football teams competed in the same surrounding fields that swarmed with gleeful children at recess and that echoed with the roar of low flying aircrafts snagging mailbags on their tail hooks. Among its staff were thespians, musicians, firemen, outdoorsmen, and athletes, including a singer who performed in the Coolidge White House, a candidate for the state legislature, an army medic, and a ball player who faced off against the Homestead Grays and the Pittsburgh Pirates. By the time classes concluded for the last time in 1989, thousands of children, including the author, had benefitted from the care, instruction, and example of the Birdville School family. This book is a feeble tribute to those who made us who we are. The Artists Year Book, 1905 The Artists Year Book Arthur Nicholas Hosking, 1905 The Divided States Laura J. Beard, Riccia Anne Chansky, 2023-01-10 What is an American identity? The tension between populism and pluralism, between homogeneity and heterogeneity, has marked the United States since its inception. In The Divided States, leading scholars and critics argue that the US is and has always been a site where multiple national identities intersect in productive and challenging ways. Scrutinizing conflicting nationalisms and national identities, the authors ask: Whose stories get told and whose do not? Who or what promotes the idea of a unified national identity in the United States? How is the notion of a unified national identity disrupted? What myths and stories bind the US together? How representative are these stories? What are the counternarratives? And if the idea of national homogeneity is a fallacy, what does tie us together as a nation? Working across auto biography, studies in American studies, and human geography, all of which deal with the current interest in competing narratives, alternative facts, and accountability, the essays engage in and contribute to critical conversations in classrooms, scholarship, and the public sphere. The authors draw from a variety of fields including anthropology, class analysis, critical race theory, diasporic, refugee, and immigration studies, disability studies, gender studies, graphic and comic studies, Indigenous studies, linguistics, literary studies, sociology, and visual culture. And the genres under scrutiny include diary, epistolary, communication, digital narratives, graphic narratives, literary narratives, medical narratives, memoir, oral history, and testimony. This fresh and theoretically engaged volume will be relevant to anyone interested in the multiplicity of voices that make up the US national narrative. The American Magazine of Art, 1925 Magazine of Art, 1925
