Pivotal Decisions Select Cases In Twentieth Century International Politics:

Pivotal Decisions Carolyn Rhodes, 2000 This brief accessible set of ten case studies includes a chronological range of pivotal decisions which have directly affected the course of international politics at the global level These key historical cases which have come to be regarded as crucial to our collective understanding of international relations since World War I provide an important context within which to analyze relations among nations

International Relations Stephanie Lawson, 2023-05-09 International relations emerged as a distinct academic discipline in the early twentieth century but its philosophic foundations draw on centuries of thinking about human nature power and authority justice and injustice the idea of sovereignty and the implications for relations within and between political communities The historic sources of these ideas appear to draw largely on European or Western experiences but as this book shows influences have emanated from much further afield while contemporary thought is becoming more open to insights from non Western sources In this fully updated and expanded fourth edition of her popular text Stephanie Lawson retains a broad world historical and contextual approach to the central themes and theoretical perspectives in IR while also addressing the most pressing issues facing the world today Topics covered include the emergence of states and empires theories ranging from classical realism and liberalism to postcolonial and green theory twentieth century international history security and insecurity global governance and world order international political economy and the prospects for a post international world in an era that has seen both deepening globalization and accompanying challenges to the sovereign state as well as the reassertion of nationalist ideas around the world With a range of additional pedagogical features to assist learning and class discussion this lively and accessible text is an ideal primer for beginner and intermediate students alike

Teaching International Relations Scott, James M., Carter, Ralph G., Jolliff Scott, Brandy, Lantis, Jeffrey S., 2021-08-27 This comprehensive guide captures important trends in international relations IR pedagogy paying particular attention to innovations in active learning and student engagement for the contemporary International Relations IR classroom

Identity and Institutions Neal G. Jesse, Kristen P. Williams, 2012-02-01 How can conflicts between various nationalist ethnic groups be reduced Combining theory with case studies of Spain and Ireland Neal G Jesse and Kristen P Williams develop an argument favoring a solution that links resolving issues of identity and perceptions of inequality to the establishment of cross national democratic institutions These institutions can affect deeply held attitudes by promoting overlapping identities and pooling sovereignty Overlapping identities reduce tension by creating an atmosphere where different ethnic groups lose their strict definitions of Self and Other Pooling sovereignty across a number of international and national representative bodies leads to increased access to governmental policymaking for all parties involved with each nationalist ethnic group having a stake in government Increased access moreover reduces threat perceptions and ethnic security dilemmas and increases trust all of which play an important role in overcoming such conflicts The Future of Europe Frances K. Scott, 2001 In support of the Academy Assembly the Directorate of Libraries Dean of the Faculty produces a special bibliography of Air Force Academy library materials relevant to the current year's theme The theme for the 2001-2002 academic year is The Future of Europe Integration or Fragmentation This year's bibliography number 98 in the library's Special Bibliography Series was prepared by Frances K. Scott Social Sciences Bibliographer and Reference Librarian who has prepared the annual Academy Assembly bibliography for the past ten years Regionalism, Multilateralism, and the Politics of Global Trade Donald Barry, Ronald C. Keith, 1999 The essays in this volume reflect the current debate about whether the new regionalism and interregional politics of the last decade support or undermine the global trading system Political scientists and international relations scholars from North America examine the changing relationship between regionalism and multilateralism and discuss the implications for national policy in the globalized economy The essays are arranged into four categories covering regionalism globalism and the state the dynamics of regional integration interregional relations and the policy implications particularly for Canada Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Contemporary Cases in U.S. Foreign Policy Ralph G. Carter, 2002 Why Leaders Choose War Jonathan Renshon, 2006-05-30 Preventive war has a long history in international politics but until it became an instrumental part of the Bush Doctrine it was mostly overlooked Renshon argues that the best avenue for understanding decisions to initiate preventive action is through a close examination of the individual leader responsible for such decisions In this work he develops a theory of psychological motivations for preventive action By examining five situations including the Iraq war he pinpoints the factors that matter most in decisions to take preventive military action There have been preventive wars throughout history but the motivations behind them have remained elusive and many crucial questions remain unanswered What exactly constitutes preventive action What differentiates preventive action from preemptive action Are there significant differences between preventive strikes and full on preventive wars What is the relationship of preventive action to traditional concepts of deterrence compellence and international law Finally why do states initiate preventive action Renshon argues that the best avenue for understanding decisions to initiate preventive action is through a close examination of the individual leader responsible for such decisions

Theory and Metatheory in International Relations F. Chernoff, 2007-10-15 This book uses three controversial contemporary American foreign policy problems to introduce students to the new debates in international relations in which the criticisms of constructivism interpretivism and postmodernism are presented against traditional positivist concepts of social science Selected Writings of John A. Hobson 1932-1938 John M. Hobson, Colin Tyler, 2011-03-17 John A. Hobson is widely recognised as the most important British New Liberal thinker of politics and political economy of the twentieth century The Selected Writings of John A. Hobson showcases an exciting and previously unpublished collection of Hobson's writings and lectures from 1932-1938 that Hobson presented at the South Place Ethical Society in the last decade of his life. The lectures and the introduction produce a fresh reading of Hobson's thinking and theorization of International Relations, thereby revealing a much more complex thinker than has conventionally been understood. Edited by Colin Tyler, a framing introduction written by the author's great grandson John M. Hobson situates these lectures in the context of his life work on International Relations between 1897 and 1940. Selected Writings of John A. Hobson 1932-1938 is an essential read for all Hobson scholars and students and scholars of globalization and political economy. The American People and Science Policy

Jon D. Miller, 2013-10-22. The American People and Science Policy: The Role of Public Attitudes in the Policy Process examines and evaluates the structure and efficacy of public participation in the formulation of science policy in the United States. Organized into 10 chapters, this book first reviews major science policy issues in the 20th century. This text then introduces a stratified model of public policy formulation that appears to fit science policy. The public participation in science policy is also explained. Other chapters explore the science policy agenda, attitudes of both policy leaders and the attentive public on resource and independence issues, and the future of public participation in science policy. Lastly, the formulation of science policy in a democratic society is addressed. This book will be useful for professional students engaged in this field of interest. 21st Century Political Science: A Reference Handbook John T. Ishiyama, Marijke Breuning, 2011. Offering full coverage of major subthemes and subfields within political science, this reference handbook includes entries on topics from theory and methodology to international relations and institutions. Selected Water Resources Abstracts, 1989.

Thinking About International Ethics Frances V. Harbour, 2019-04-09. This book describes and analyzes important moral theories as they pertain to international politics and the study of international relations, examining the role that moral thinking actually played in specific cases in American foreign policy. "The" Academy, 1889.
