A Place Apart James Barrett Lamb, 1988 Cape Bretoniana Beaton Institute of Cape Breton Studies, 2005-01-01 Nova Scotia's Cape Breton Island is a beautiful region with a unique community whose history and ethnic composition have resulted in the evolution of a powerful sense of identity and place While outsiders may think only of the island's perennial economic woes and long economic dependence on coal mining and steel production it is also the home of a rich vibrant and distinct culture Brian Douglas Tennyson's Cape Bretoniana is the first bibliography to gather together all known publications relating to the history culture economy and politics of Cape Breton Island With more than 6000 entries it not only provides a comprehensive listing of publications and post graduate theses but also detailed annotations on the listings Each entry lists the author title place of publication publisher date of publication volume and issue number in the case of periodicals and page references followed by a brief description of the item Cape Breton has never been so thoroughly documented This bibliography will help to ensure that even in a world becoming increasingly homogenized by the forces of globalization unique cultural identities like Cape Breton's can be preserved and nurtured

Discover Nova Scotia Gr. 5-7, Cape Breton Portfolio Warren Gordon, 1991 The Notion of Near Islands Nenad Starc, 2020-09-30 Viewed from the mainland the history of the archipelago appears as a long list of non invited but irresistible disembarkations Viewed from on an island the archipelago has had a rich and unique history of sustainable use of scarce resources The main theme of this book is the exploration of the meanings of near islands of the archipelago General and particular features of 1 246 islands of the Croatian archipelago are starting points of stories about particular islands subarchipelagos and urban archipelagos The chapters question and analyse the archipelago identity from different perspectives Approached as a group of islands the analysis investigates features of subarchipelagos urban subarchipelagos mainland dependent islands outlying islands and island emigrant communities that are trying to restore and conserve their island This book highlights the identity and identities of the archipelago as both complex and multidimensional

A PLACE APART: THE CAPE BRETON STORY. PHOTOS BY WARREN GORDON. James Barrett Lamb, 1988 Re-exploring Canadian Space Jeanette M. L. den Toonder, Bettina van Hoven, 2012 A variety of productions and representations of Canadian identities are the central theme that runs through this book The different contributions explore imagined spaces by considering Canadian music poetry and novels they engage with political space by addressing various ways in which the people of Canada have made claims to different regions in the distant and recent past and they address lived spaces and their actual and symbolic meanings It is an unusual book as it encompasses the writings by those studying the arts and literature as well as writings by social scientists and it includes both English and French speaking scholars The richness that can be found in this multitude of perspectives and approaches to exploring Canadian space is characteristic of the way in which Canadian Studies is practiced nowadays It is therefore an appropriate volume to celebrate 20 years of Canadian Studies in the Netherlands

In Defence of Home Places Mark R. Leeming,2017-06-07 As environmental deterioration became a major political issue near the end of the twentieth century activists in Nova Scotia stood together to defend the places they called home They cooperated to protect local environments and economies but they disagreed about the causes of environmental problems the role of humanity in nature and the place of environmentalists in the political process In Defence of Home Places examines the diversity of environmental activism in Nova Scotia illustrating how radicals and conservatives combined efforts to achieve early legislative and social success It also chronicles the debates and disagreements over fundamental principles that then weakened and divided the powerful environmental movement Placing the evolution of Nova Scotian environmental activism within a broader theoretical framework Mark R Leeming considers its development in national and international contexts examining the environmental movement itself along with the choices and tactics that brought about its greatest successes and failures

Hometown Asylum Jack Martin,2020-11-24 Starting in 1911 and for many years the Alberta Hospital Ponoka or AHP was the largest and highest population psychiatric institution in the Western Canadian Province of Alberta. It was also located on the outskirts of Jack Martin's hometown and his father was employed there, which means that its story and Martin's intersect in varied and interesting ways. In Hometown Asylum, Martin explores the Hospital's history along with some of his own. In this journey, Martin considers past and contemporary issues in mental health services and treatments from the perspectives of those receiving them, those attempting to provide them, and the citizens whose attitudes and tax dollars inevitably guide and contribute to these efforts. In telling the history of the Alberta Hospital Ponoka, this book describes a wide and varied range of treatments for those suffering mental disorders and examines how societies past and present have responded to the challenges of caring for them. As a part of this, Martin raises questions about the nature of mental illness, the efficacy and ethics of treatments, the rights of the mentally ill, and the obligations and manner of their care.

The Cambridge Modern History, 1903     Canadian Books in Print, 1998     The Cambridge Modern History Sir Adolphus William Ward, George Walter Prothero, Stanley Mordaunt Leathes, 1907     The Global Politics of Poverty in Canada Will Langford, 2021-01-16

In the 1960s and 1970s, in the midst of the Cold War and an international decolonization movement, development advocates believed that poverty could be ended at home and abroad. The Global Politics of Poverty in Canada explores the relationship between poverty, democracy, and development during this remarkable period. Will Langford analyzes three Canadian development programs that unfolded on local, regional, and international scales. He reveals the interconnections of anti-poverty activism carried out by the Company of Young Canadians among Métis in northern Alberta and francophones in Montreal by the Cape Breton Development Corporation, and by Canadian University Service Overseas in Tanzania. In dialogue with the New Left liberal reformers committed to development programs, they believed would empower the poor to confront their own poverty and thereby foster a more meaningful democracy. However, democracy and development proved to be fundamentally contested, and development programs stopped short of amending capitalist social relations and the inequalities they engendered. The Global Politics of Poverty in Canada explores how Canadians engaged in informal and formal politics in the course of their everyday lives, locally and transnationally. Langford provides an enduring record of otherwise fleeting anti-poverty programs and their effects, the lived activism and opinions of development workers and ordinary people.
