Places Far From Ellesmere:

Redefining the Subject Charlotte Sturges, 2021-09-20 This volume takes up the challenge of Canadian women's writing in its diversity in order to examine the terms on which subjectivity in its social political and literary dimensions emerges as discourse Work from writers as diverse as Dionne Brand Hiromi Goto and Margaret Atwood among others are studied both in their specific dimensions and through the collective focus of cultural and textual revision which characterizes Canadian writing in the feminine Current theorizing on the postcolonial imaginary is brought to bear in the interests of forging or unpacking those links which tie the Self to culture As such Redefining the Subject sets out to discover the limits of the aesthetic in its encounter with the political the figures and designs which envisage textual reimaginings as statements of a contemporary Canadian reality

Challenging Canada Gabriele Helms, 2003 In Challenging Canada Gabriele Helms examines novels by Jeannette Armstrong Joy Kogawa Daphne Marlatt Sky Lee Aritha van Herk Thomas King and Margaret Sweatman As resistance literature these novels question the idea of a homogeneous Canadian culture based on the idea of a peaceable kingdom Helms shows how narrative techniques can contribute to or impede a text's challenges to hegemonic discourses and social injustices novels become valuable sources for cultural studies because cultural experiences are translated into and meanings are produced by their narrative forms Challenging Canada is the first book length study to bring a Bakhtinian approach to bear on Canadian literature Gabriele Helms develops a cultural narratology to argue that the contemporary Canadian novels in English considered in this book challenge dominant constructions of Canada from positions of difference and resistance inscribing previously oppressed and silenced voices through dialogic relations She makes Mikhail Bakhtin's concept of dialogism amenable to textual analysis and problematizes its ideological forces by emphasizing elements of struggle and conflict Challenging Canada rejects dialogism as a normative liberal pluralism and understands the inequality between voices as historically and socially constructed
