Jean Rhys and the Novel As Women's Text Nancy R. Harrison, 2017-10-10 Is a woman s writing different from a man s Many scholars and readers think so even though here has been little examination of the way women s novels enact the theories that women theorists have posited In Jean Rhys and the Novel as Women s Text Nancy Harrison makes an important contribution to the exchange of ideas on the writing practice of women and to the scholarship on Jean Rhys Harrison determines what the form of a well made women s novel discloses about the conditions of women s communication and the literary production that emerges from them Devoting the first part of her book to theory and general commentary on Rhys s approach to writing she then offers perceptive readings of Voyage in the Dark an early Rhys novel and Wide Sargasso Sea Rhys s masterpiece written twenty seven years later She shows how Rhys uses the terms of a man s discourse then introduces a woman s or several women s discourse as a compelling counterpoint that in time becomes prominent and gives each novel its thematic impact In presenting a continuing dialogue with the dominant language and at the same time making explicit the place of a woman s own language Rhys gives us a paradigm for a new and basically moral text Originally published in 1988 A UNC Press Enduring Edition UNC Press Enduring Editions use the latest in digital technology to make available again books from our

Decoding the Egalitarianism of the Qur'an Abula Hasan, 2019-10-28 This volume challenges a long history of normalizing patriarchal approaches to the Qur'an and calls for a questioning of the interpretive credibility of many inherited Qur'anic commentaries The author presents a fresh reading of the sacred text and Islamic teaching traditions as the rediscovery of a lost humanitarian and gender egalitarian textual richness that has been poorly and loosely handled for centuries The book stresses the importance of reviewing the interpretive linguistic choices that jurists and exegetes over the last fourteen centuries have adopted to semantically reshape the Qur'anic text The vigilant reading the author provides of carefully chosen texts and commentaries suggests that many interpretive approaches to the Qur'an are dominated by sociopolitical factors alien to the intrinsic values of the text itself More importantly inconsistencies across putatively sound books of tafsir indicate that the Qur'anic text often suffers from historical and systematic drainage of its humanitarianism gender egalitarianism and religious pluralism scholarship today Understanding Loss and Grief for Women Robert W. Buckingham, Peggy A. Howard Ph.D., 2017-05-18

This book can enhance everyone's understanding of how women experience loss and grief and how they transition to resolution. It is an invaluable resource to women and everyone who supports them: spouses, partners, and family members, as well as community and government. Women's grief is often a complex phenomenon, a natural, normal experience, but one that can seriously impact everyone, female or male, at every stage of life. Understanding Loss and Grief for Women: A New Perspective on Their Pain and Healing provides a way to look at how women experience loss through the lens of their socially constructed roles and in light of the theories and practice of grief therapy and support. The book begins by explaining the social construction of women's traditional, transitional, and modern/postmodern roles and then addresses the social construction of grief theory and practice in past eras and modern society. Several case studies enable readers to see how social constructs shape women's responses to various causes of grief, such as the death of a spouse or partner, child marriage, divorce, and career retirement. The final section of the book examines the health impacts of grief, offers suggestions to ameliorate negative health impacts, and emphasizes how loss and grief for women can be used as opportunities for self-growth. This book serves all members of the general population, as well as educators, academics, scientists, and students of disciplines such as psychology, psychotherapy, medicine, sociology, and women's studies. It will enable all women to better understand, deal with, and heal from their loss and grief experience. Male readers will empathize with what their spouses, partners, mothers, grandmothers, siblings, and friends are experiencing in loss and grief and understand how to support healthy transition through grief to resolution. The community at large and care providers will learn how to create a more nurturing and supportive environment for women's grief response.

Through the Reading Glass Suellen Diaconoff, 2012-02-01
2005 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title. Through the Reading Glass explores the practices and protocols that surrounded women's reading in eighteenth-century France. Looking at texts as various as fairy tales, memoirs, historical romances, short stories, love letters, novels, and the pages of the new female periodical press, Suellen Diaconoff shows how a reading culture, one in which books, sex, and acts of reading were richly and evocatively intertwined, was constructed for and by women. Diaconoff proposes that the underlying discourse of virtue found in women's work was both an empowering strategy intended to create new kinds of responsible and not merely responsive readers and an integral part of the conviction that domestic reading does not have to be trivial.

Reading from this Place: Social location and biblical interpretation in global perspective Fernando F. Segovia, Mary Ann Tolbert, Biblical studies are proving to be a test case of the large interpretive issues of how one's location, social, cultural, ethnic, and gender affects one's reading of the text and its import. Segovia and Tolbert gather 19 leading biblical interpreters from around the globe to address the complex hermeneutical and religious questions attendant to this paradigm shift.

Contemporary American Women Writers Catherine Rainwater, William J. Scheick, 2021-05-11
Ann Beattie, Annie Dillard, Maxine Hong Kingston, Toni Morrison, Cynthia

Ozick Grace Paley Marge Piercy Anne Redmon Anne Tyler and Alice Walker all seem to be especially concerned with narrative management The ten essays in this book raise new and intriguing questions about the ways these leading women writers appropriate and transform generic norms and ultimately revise literary tradition to make it more inclusive of female experience vision and expression The contributors to this volume discover diverse narrative strategies Beattie Dillard Paley and Redmon in divergent ways rely heavily upon narrative gaps surfaces and silences often suggesting depths which are lamentably absent from modern experience or which mysteriously elude language For Kingston and Walker verbal assertiveness is the focus of narratives depicting the gradual empowerment of female protagonists who learn to speak themselves into existence Ozick and Tyler disrupt conventional reader expectations of the anti novel and the family novel respectively Finally Morrison s and Piercy s works reveal how traditional narrative forms such as the Bildungsroman and the soap opera are adaptable to feminist purposes In examining the writings of these ten important women authors this book illuminates a significant moment in literary history when women s voices are profoundly reshaping American literary tradition

Ashgate Critical Essays on Women Writers in England, 1550-1700 Karen Raber, 2017-05-15 Elizabeth Cary s Tragedy of Mariam the first original drama written in English by a woman has been a touchstone for feminist scholarship in the period for several decades and is now one of the most anthologized works by a Renaissance woman writer Her History of Edward II has provided fertile ground for questions about authorship and historical form The essays included in this volume highlight the many evolving debates about Cary s works from their complicated generic characteristics to the social and political contexts they reflect to the ways in which Cary s writing enters into dialogue with texts by male writers of her time In its critical introduction the volume offers a thorough analysis of where Cary criticism has been and where it might venture in the future

Reading Trauma Narratives Laurie Vickroy, 2015-10-30 As part of the contemporary reassessment of trauma that goes beyond Freudian psychoanalysis Laurie Vickroy theorizes trauma in the context of psychological literary and cultural criticism Focusing on novels by Margaret Atwood William Faulkner Toni Morrison Jeanette Winterson and Chuck Palahniuk she shows how these writers try to enlarge our understanding of the relationship between individual traumas and the social forces of injustice oppression and objectification Further she argues their work provides striking examples of how the devastating effects of trauma whether sexual socioeconomic or racial on individual personality can be depicted in narrative Vickroy offers a unique blend of interpretive frameworks She draws on theories of trauma and narrative to analyze the ways in which her selected texts engage readers both cognitively and ethically immersing them in and yet providing perspective on the flawed thinking and behavior of the traumatized and revealing how the psychology of fear can be a driving force for individuals as well as for society Through this engagement these writers enable readers to understand their own roles in systems of power and how they internalize the ideologies of those systems
