The Story of the Redwood Lumber Industry, 1960 Building the Redwood Region James Michael Buckley, 2000 City of Wood James Michael Buckley, 2024 In City of Wood architectural historian James Buckley explores San Francisco's rapid urban development as a product of the physical and economic transformation of the natural environment of the American West. San Francisco is best known as a product of the gold and silver that were mined from California's mountains and streams but as Buckley shows the city's growth was in fact fueled by a wide range of natural resources that could be converted into marketable commodities. City of Wood investigates the architecture of a typical Western resource industry: redwood lumber, to determine how the exploitation of California's natural resources shaped the built environment of both San Francisco and its broader hinterland. Some Aspects of the Redwood Lumber Industry on Humboldt Bay Joanne E. Beer, 1959 A Study of Product Planning in the Redwood Lumber Industry Thomas M. McChesney, 1966 A History of the Redwood Lumber Industry in Sonoma County Vernon Charles Spence, 1962 Logging the Redwoods Lynwood Carranco, John T. Labbe, 1975 Distributed by the University of Nebraska Press for Caxton Press. The giant redwood trees are one of California's best known attractions. Thousands of tourists visit the Northern California groves each year. The story of the California redwood lumber industry also tells the stories of the men, the trains, and the land. This book is dedicated to the pioneer lumbermen who succeeded in launching careers as mill men by overcoming the tremendous obstacle of moving the giant redwoods from the woods to the mill by inventing equipment strong enough to handle the gigantic logs and by finding suitable markets for their lumber throughout the Pacific area and to Augustus William Ericson and the other early photographers who preserved the early history of logging in pictures.
