Critical Mineral Resources of the United States K. J. Schulz, John H. DeYoung, Robert R. Seal, Dwight C. Bradley, 2017 As the importance and dependence of specific mineral commodities increase so does concern about their supply The United States is currently 100 percent reliant on foreign sources for 20 mineral commodities and imports the majority of its supply of more than 50 mineral commodities Mineral commodities that have important uses and face potential supply disruption are critical to American economic and national security However a mineral commodity's importance and the nature of its supply chain can change with time a mineral commodity that may not have been considered critical 25 years ago may be critical today and one considered critical today may not be so in the future The U S Geological Survey has produced this volume to describe a select group of mineral commodities currently critical to our economy and security For each mineral commodity covered the authors provide a comprehensive look at 1 the commodity's use 2 the geology and global distribution of the mineral deposit types that account for the present and possible future supply of the commodity 3 the current status of production reserves and resources in the United States and globally and 4 environmental considerations related to the commodity's production from different types of mineral deposits The volume describes U S critical mineral resources in a global context for no country can be self sufficient for all its mineral commodity needs and the United States will always rely on global mineral commodity supply chains This volume provides the scientific understanding of critical mineral resources required for informed decisionmaking by those responsible for ensuring that the United States has a secure and sustainable supply of mineral commodities

China's Virtual Monopoly of Rare Earth Elements Roland Howanietz, 2018-06-12 Rare Earth Elements are a group of 17 metals which have a central role in modern industry increasingly used in the fields of green technologies high technological consumer goods industrial and medical appliances and modern weapons systems Although deposits of Rare Earths are globally dispersed over 90% of global demand has been provided by Chinese mines since the late 1990s leading to a situation where China has a virtual monopoly This book surveys the Rare Earths mining industry discusses the extent to which Rare Earths really are scarce elsewhere in the world and assesses the economics of production considering arguments for the rationing of supply for higher pricing and for a total export embargo This actually occurred in 2010 demonstrating the vulnerability of the rest of the world to China's control of these increasingly vital resources Global Business Environment Mansi
