Reflections From A Different Journey What Adults With Disabilities Wish All Parents Knew:

Reflections from a Different Journey Stanley Klein, John Kemp, 2004-03-22 Offers parents of children with disabilities inspiration and advice from those who've been there. Reflections from a Different Journey presents 40 stories by successful adults who grew up with disabilities. They provide insights into what it is like to persevere in the face of community prejudices and what it takes for families and children with disabilities to work together toward fulfillment. While there are many books for parents on raising a child with a disability, this is the first to help them learn from people with disabilities and to help children face the unique challenges and rewards of growing up with a disability. Reflections from a Different Journey will also encourage and inspire older children and adults with disabilities, other family members, and education and health care professionals who serve these families.

The Eugenic Mind Project Robert A. Wilson, 2021-02-02 An examination of eugenic thinking past and present, from forced sterilization to prenatal screening, drawing on experience with those who survived eugenics. Part science and part social movement, eugenics emerged in the late nineteenth century as a tool for human improvement. In response to perceived threats of criminality, moral degeneration, feeble-mindedness, and the rising tide of color, eugenic laws and social policies aimed to better the human race by regulating reproductive choice through science and technology. In this book, Rob Wilson examines eugenic thought and practice from forced sterilization to prenatal screening, drawing on his experience working with eugenics survivors. Using the social sciences standpoint theory as a framework to understand the intersection of eugenics disability social inclusiveness and human variation Wilson focuses on those who have lived through a eugenic past and those confronted by the legacy of eugenic thinking today By doing so he brings eugenics from the distant past to the ongoing present Wilson discusses such topics as the conceptualization of eugenic traits the formulation of laws regulating immigration and marriage and requiring sexual sterilization the depiction of the targets of eugenics as subhuman the systematic construction of a concept of normality the eugenic logic in prenatal screening and contemporary bioethics and the incorporation of eugenics and disability into standpoint theory Coping When a Parent Has a Disability Mary P. Donahue, Ph.D.,2018-07-15

Moving Over the Edge Pamela Kay Walker,2005 The Jeffrey Journey - 2010 Edition Helen Baldwin,2010-02-27
Revised and Updated 2010 with new resources and dedications In May 1997 Randy and Helen Baldwin eagerly welcomed their third child Jeffrey as did his older siblings Matthew and Katie Jeffrey s arrival unplanned but greatly anticipated sparked a few adjustments in this family long removed from diaper duty but Jeffrey was obviously a special gift Eight weeks later life took a completely unexpected downward spiral into the depths of despair when Jeffrey was diagnosed with Spinal Muscular Atrophy SMA a rare progressive genetic neuromuscular disease with deadly ramifications The neurologist handed over the utterly devastating news that Jeffrey had a severe case of the most destructive form without a morsel of hope that anything could be done to thwart the effects of the killer disease Faced with the nightmare that their baby was expected to die within two years and that there was no treatment or cure Randy and Helen took their faith in God to a higher level and embarked on a quest to defy SMA and its stranglehold on their precious baby s life They sought the expertise of alternative practitioners and relentlessly relied on prayers for Jeffrey s health and for strength courage and wisdom for themselves and their family The Jeffrey Journey is the story of how one family with friends and family prayer and God s grace rose to the challenge of caring for a dying child as they also realized the countless blessings left by their angel Developmental

Amanda Apgar, 2023-01-10 When children are born with disabilities or become disabled in childhood parents often experience bewilderment they find themselves unexpectedly in another world without a roadmap without community and without narratives to make sense of their experiences The Disabled Child Memoirs of a Normal Future tracks the narratives that have emerged from the community of parent memoirists who since the 1980s have written in resistance of their children's exclusion from culture Though the disabilities represented in the genre are diverse the memoirs share a number of remarkable similarities they are generally written by white heterosexual middle or upper middle class able-bodied parents and they depict narratives in which the disabled child overcomes barriers to a normal childhood and adulthood Apgar demonstrates that in the process of telling these stories which recuperate their children as productive members of society parental memoirists write their children into dominant cultural narratives about gender race and class By reinforcing and buying into these norms Apgar argues special needs parental memoirs reinforce ableism at the same time that they are writing against it

Disability and Communication Michael S. Jeffress, 2017-04-28 Research has long substantiated the fact that living with a disability creates significant and complex challenges to identity negotiation the practice of communication and the development of interpersonal relationships Furthermore individuals without disabilities often lack the knowledge and tools to experience self-efficacy in communicating with their differently abled peers So how do these challenges translate to the incorporation of disability studies in a classroom context and the need to foster an inclusive environment for differently abled students Bringing together a range of perspectives from communication and disability studies scholars this collection provides a theoretical foundation along with practical solutions for the inclusion of disability studies within the everyday curriculum. It examines a variety of aspects of communication studies including interpersonal, intercultural, health, political, and business communication as well as ethics, gender, and public speaking, offering case study examples and pedagogical strategies as to the best way to approach the subject of disability in education. It will be of interest to students, researchers, and educators in communication and disability studies as well as scholars of sociology and social policy, gender studies, public health, and pedagogy. It will also appeal to anyone who has wondered how to bring about a greater degree of inclusion and ethics within the classroom.

Becoming Remarkably Able Jackie Marquette, 2007-09. The Walking the Path Model is a much needed resource designed to guide youth with autism spectrum disorders to identify their gifts and strengths. The model leads youth into active community involvement during the transition to adulthood and provides emotional support throughout the process. With a focus on increased capability and independence, the guide/workbook helps establish goals and paths to pursue in the quest for self-value and a true quality of life beyond high school. The process is applicable to all levels of ASD.

Parent To Child-The Guide Natalie D'Annibale Bandlow, 2006-02. This guide provides parents with an opportunity to chronicle their own personal history and past experiences as well as the history and experiences of their child's life in a direct, loving, and supportive way. Don't wait! Let Parent To Child The Guide assist you in writing the legacy you want and need to leave for your children just in case.

Making It Work Carol Castellano, 2006-07-01. Making It Work is destined to be the definitive guide for years to come on how to make the regular school education a successful experience for blind/visually impaired children. With chapters flowing logically and full of detailed, useful information, it will be an essential handbook for school staff, specialized service providers, and parents of blind/visually impaired children. This is an exquisite, enlightened guide for the education of blind/visually impaired children in the new millennium.

Joe Cutter Early Childhood O.M. Specialist. With its scope, attention to detail, and skillful presentation of the larger issues involved in the education of students who are blind/visually impaired in regular school, Making It Work is a timely and most welcome resource for educational teams.
