Reflections Of Canada:

Ripostes Philip Marchand, 1998 Ripostes is a collection of essays on some salient features of the Canadian literary landscape a number of which were first published in the Toronto Star many of which appear in these pages for the first time Included are essays on Atwood Findley Ondaatje and Margaret Laurence as well as thematic explorations of Canadian literature such as an account of the demise of the Survival school of Canadian writing a look at the recent history of the Writers Union of Canada an examination of the role of fathers in Canadian fiction a study of the strange attraction of many of our writers to the occult and so on The tone is considered and critical rather than celebratory although the essays are respectful of the genuine achievements of Canadian literature in the past few decades They try to clear the air as it were of boosterism political correctness and other attitudes which hinder the appreciation and reception of good writing This is an honest re appraisal of Canadian literature undertaken at a time when we need no longer be overcome with relief and euphoria over the fact that some of our authors are now world famous or at least world famous in Hoboken New Jersey

Wake Up, Canada C. W. Peterson, 2017-09-18 Excerpt from Wake Up Canada: Reflections on Vital National Issues. There seems to be somewhere an unwritten law to the effect that no man shall write a book on any subject upon which he is not a recognised authority. This rule of course is frequently and painfully violated. It is going to be flagrantly transgressed in this case. Much of what appears in the following pages has doubtless been said before and probably much more effectively than I am able to say it. The whole contents are merely random reflections on leading political and social questions of the day. If I have any apology to offer for inflicting these upon the public in book form it is that I have perhaps enjoyed somewhat exceptional opportunities in the course of a wildly varied career of observing many of these problems from more than one angle. Reflections of a Siamese Twin John Ralston Saul, 1998. In Reflections of a Siamese Twin, Saul turns his eye from a reinterpretation of the Western world to an examination of Canada itself. Caught up in crises political, economic, and social, Canada continues to flounder, unable to solve or even really identify its problems. Instead, we assert absolute differences between ourselves: we are English or we are French, Natives or Europeans, early immigrants or newly arrived from the east or from the west. Or we bow to ideologies and deny all differences in the name of nationalism, unity, or equality. In a startling exercise in reorientation, John Ralston Saul makes sense of Canadian myths, real, false, denied, and reconciles them with the reality of today's politics, culture, and economics. Canadian Gazette and Export Trader, 1908.
