Books in Early Modern Norway Gina Dahl, 2011-07-12 During recent decades much has been written about early modern book distribution but until now Norway has been absent from the discussion. Drawing on book listings this study seeks to fill this lacuna by exploring the market for books in early modern Norway. Its approach is multifaceted: consideration of the types of books accessed by different elements of Norwegian society is set alongside developments within the book market itself such as the extended life of popular books, the gradual replacement of Latin by the vernacular and the rise in the eighteenth century in the number of books available on the market. The study demonstrates the internationality of the Norwegian book market while acknowledging specific patterns that determine its Norwegian character.

Reclaiming Divine Wrath Stephen Butler Murray, 2011-09-02 Following the 9 11 terrorist attacks in the United States there was prolific misuse and abuse of the concept of divine wrath in church pulpits In pursuit of a faithful understanding of what he calls a lost doctrine the author of this study investigates the substantial history of how the wrath of God has been interpreted in Christian theology and preaching Starting with the Hebrew and Christian Scriptures and moving historically through Christianity s most important theologians and societal changes several models of divine wrath are identified The author argues for the reclamation of a theological paradigm of divine wrath that approaches God s love and

God's wrath as intrinsically enjoined in a dynamic tension Without such a commitment to this paradigm this important biblical aspect of God is in danger of suffering two possible outcomes Firstly it may suffer rejection through conscious avoidance of the narrow misinterpretations of divine wrath that dominate contemporary theology and preaching Secondly irresponsible applications of divine wrath may occur when we neglect to engage and understand the wrath of God as inseparable from God's justice and love in Christian theology and proclamation
