Haghighi, 2007-08-31 This book offers the first comprehensive assessment of the various internal and external measures undertaken by the European Union to guarantee security of oil and gas supply It sets out and analyses in a coherent and thorough manner those aspects of EU external policy that are relevant in establishing a framework for guaranteeing energy security for the Union What makes the book unique is that it is the first of its kind to bridge the gap between EU energy and EU external policy The book discusses EU policy towards the major oil and gas producing countries of Russia the

Mediterranean and the Persian Gulf at the bilateral as well as regional and multilateral level It brings together not only the dimensions of trade and investment but also other important aspects of external policy namely development and foreign policy The author argues that the EU s energy security cannot be achieved through adopting a purely internal approach to energy issues but that it is necessary to adopt a holistic approach to external policy covering efficient economic relations as well as development co operation and foreign policies towards energy producing countries The book will be a valuable resource for students of EU law WTO law or international energy law as well as scholars and practitioners dealing with energy issues

Natural Gas Michael J. Bradshaw, Tim Boersma, 2020-04-23 Is natural gas the bridge to our low carbon future In power generation industrial processes parts of the transportation sector and for domestic use natural gas still has the potential to play a greater role in various energy transition pathways around the world But such a future is by no means certain In this book Michael Bradshaw and Tim Boersma offer a sober and balanced assessment of the place of natural gas in the global energy mix today and the uncertainties that cloud our understanding of what that role may look like in the future They argue that natural gas has become prominent in recent decades spurred by two revolutions the first has been the rise of unconventional natural gas production and the second the coming of age of the market for liquefied natural gas LNG However a third revolution is required to secure natural gas long term role in various energy transition pathways as countries are increasingly pushing to address air quality concerns and curtail greenhouse gas emissions This revolution has to take place as politicians citizens investors and shareholders are becoming increasingly vocal about the need to improve the environmental footprint of the fuel while simultaneously and perhaps paradoxically demand for it continues to grow in a world where geopolitical challenges seem to be mounting
