The Herzman Collection Stephen Little, 2000. As a young man with an adventurous spirit and not much else, I had the opportunity to start a business in Swatow on the south China coast. That bustling city is not on the map anymore; the name has been changed to Shantou. The late 1930s was not exactly the perfect time to start this enterprise. The Japanese were moving down along the China coast after their Manchurian takeover and war was looming in Europe. Obviously, there was a notable lack of recreational opportunities for a lonesome Westerner. Having little else to do with my spare time, one day I wandered into an antique shop and browsed. My eye was caught by a blue and white porcelain plate and bowl. The owner identified them as 16th century Swatow ware. These were not Imperial porcelains by any means, but I liked them and bought them. That was the way it so innocently started. S. Herzman Chinese Art in the Cincinnati Art Museum Ellen B. Avril, Cincinnati Art Museum, 1997. Beautifully illustrated throughout, this volume presents Chinese art from the Neolithic period through the Qing dynasty. It surveys the Cincinnati Art Museum's important collection of Chinese bronzes, sculpture, painting, ceramics and decorative arts. The collection is noted for its superb Shang bronzes and Buddhist sculpture, fine ceramics and masterworks by such painters as Ma Yuan, Liu Yuan, Qian Xuan, Wang Jian and Badashanren. Organized by medium and including significant recent acquisitions, the 100 works of art are individually illustrated and discussed in light of recent research.

Artyear 1997, 1997 Zhang Zhung John Vincent Bellezza, 2008. Using archaeological, anthropological and philological methodologies, Zhang Zhung presents the formative elements in the development of civilization in Upper Tibet, the vast upland north and west of Lhasa. Part I of this major work provides a comprehensive examination of the monumental and aesthetic traces of the Metal Age and early historic period in Upper Tibet. Based on a field survey project of twelve years duration the morphological constructional mythological and cross cultural traits of the region's visible archaeological wealth are described in detail laying the groundwork for the meticulous textual analysis that follows In Part II of the book annotated translations of numerous excerpts from Bon and Buddhist texts present the traditional view of Tibet's ancient past These indigenous literary accounts of the early cultural religious and political complex of the Plateau are in turn systematically compared to the archaeological record revealing critical points of agreement Zhang Zhung has pioneered the application of empirical evidence to gauge the historicity and significance of Tibetan Bon sources Part III is devoted to the study of the archaic funerary heritage of Tibet which proves to be highly useful with regard to analyzing the cultural evolution of the Plateau New perspectives on the identity and contributions of the Tibetan ethnos are obtained by subjecting Dunhuang and Bon textual materials to rigorous archaeological and ethnographic interpretation Considerable effort has been devoted to analyzing Tibetan funerary literature and to discerning its links to northern Inner Asian mythology and burial practices of the first millennium BCE and the first three quarters of the first millennium CE Critically edited transliterations of the Tibetan works tables of all the surveyed archaeological sites bibliographies and extensive indexes complement the main text
