Matthew and the Margins Warren Carter, 2005-02-15 This detailed commentary presents the gospel of matthew as a counter narrative showing that it is a work of resistance written from and for a minority community of disciples committed to Jesus the agent of God's saving presence. It was written and functions to shape the identity and lifestyle of the early community of Jesus followers as an alternative community that can resist the dominant authorities both in Rome and in the synagogue. The Gospel anticipates the time when Jesus will return and establish God's reign over all including the powers in Rome.

Lest We Lose Love Scherto Gill, 2023-04-18 Few are aware that since antiquity there has always been the philosophy of love at the core of Western culture. It articulates what makes life meaningful and worthwhile and how we can live a good life together through an ethic of love. This book fills this significant gap not only reconnecting the reader with such important wisdom and more crucially also reorienting our socio-economic institutions and collective actions towards more loving and caring and more concerned with the qualities of our lived experiences. By rediscovering the gifts of love we may challenge the existing systemic dehumanisation and draw from knowledge and understanding already present in our culture. This is timely because the global crises we are facing are catastrophic especially when it comes to climate change. Therefore we must respond from a place of love rather than fear. Whether it is reducing the use of fossil fuels lowering greenhouse emissions choosing the right food to eat or advocating for structural transformation our concerted endeavours start with an appropriate appreciation of the nature of our well-being which includes the planet's well-being. This book highlights a clear pathway forward to ensure collective healing and co-flourishing with nature we must practise the art of loving.

Preface to the Mishneri Dikshuneri William Arthur, 1897

The Problem of Self-Love in St. Augustine Oliver O'Donovan, 2006-11-01 The primal destruction of man was self-love. There is no one who does not love himself but one must search for the right love and avoid the warped. Indeed you did not love yourself when you did not love the God who made you. These three sentences set side by side show why the problem of self-love in St. Augustine of Hippo constitutes a problem. Self-love is loving God; it is also hating God. Self-love is common to all men; it is restricted to those who love God. Mutually incompatible assertions about self-love jostle one another and demand to be reconciled from the Introduction. In saying that self-love finds its only true expression in love of God Augustine is formulating in one of many possible ways a principle fundamental to his metaphysical and ethical outlook namely that moral obligation derives from an obligation to God which is at the same time a call to self-fulfillment from the Conclusion.
