This book explores the developmental prospects risks and implications of foreign direct investment FDI in sub Saharan African SSA Despite the region s significant potential it continues to face complex challenges and significant capital shortages In theory FDI could promote development by supplementing domestic savings enhancing financial systems and promoting global integration but it can also weaken the balance of payments and undermine domestic investment In addition SSA s weak institutions and poor governance means that FDI may also contribute to dysfunctional capitalism and tax evasion This book argues that colonial legacies and flawed policy choices have entrenched institutional weaknesses and socio economic outcomes that deter diversified FDI and attract extractive FDI leading to underdevelopment and resource dependency while undermining industrialization and diversification This book will be relevant to students researchers and policymakers interested in development economics and the political economy of SSA Dance as Third Space Heike Walz,2021-12-06

Watt,2023-07-03 Higher education is facing a perfect storm as it contends with changing demographics shrinking budgets and concerns about access and cost while underrepresented groups both in faculty ranks and students are voicing dissatisfaction with campus climate and demanding changes to structural inequities This book argues that to address the inexorable changes ahead colleges and universities need both to centralize the value of diversity and inclusion and employ a set of strategies that are enacted at all levels of their institutions It argues that individual and institutional change efforts can only be achieved by implementing diversity as a value that is embracing social change efforts as central and additive rather than episodic and required and provides the research and theoretical frameworks to support this approach as well as tools and examples of practice that accomplish change The contributors to this book identify the elements that drive successful multicultural initiatives and that strengthen the effectiveness of campus efforts to dismantle systemic oppression as well as the individual and organization skills needed to manage difference effectively Among these is developing the capacity of administrators faculty and student affairs professionals as conscious scholar practitioners to sensitively manage conflicts on campus deconstruct challenging structures and reconstruct the environment intentionally to include in respectful ways experiences of historically marginalized groups and non dominant ways of being in the world The books focus on developing capacities for multicultural competence aligns with higher education s increasing emphasis on civic engagement and institutional goals promote skills to interact in meaningful and responsible ways around difference whether of people ideas or identities Designing Transformative Multicultural Initiatives provides guiding principles and practical strategies to successfully transform higher education to become fully inclusive and advance the success of all constituents and stakeholders

Real Effects of Capital Inflows in Emerging Markets Ms.Deniz O Igan, Ali M. Kutan, Ali Mirzae, 2016-12-06 We examine the association between capital inflows and industry growth in a sample of 22 emerging market economies from 1998 to 2010 We expect more external finance dependent industries in countries that host more capital inflows to grow disproportionately faster This is indeed the case in the pre crisis period of 1998 2007 and is driven by debt rather than equity inflows We also observe a reduction in output volatility but this association is more pronounced for equity rather than debt inflows These relationships however break down during the crisis hinting at the importance of an undisrupted global financial system for emerging markets to harness the growth benefits of capital inflows In line with this observation we also document that the inflows growth nexus is stronger in countries with well functioning banks
