The Red Sea Andrea Ghisotti,2004 Talking with Strangers Robyn Webb,2012-10 Why does a woman go to the Middle East alone Why would a mainstream fairly sane woman travel on her own through the Middle East through Greece Turkey Syria Jordan Lebanon and Egypt when she is not a journalist not rescuing any children and not on an archaeological trek With an interest in alternate travel and ancient history she ignores pulped opinion and terrorist hype and goes to find the truth She sketches an itinerary grabs her backpack and traverses the landscape from Athens to Cairo on local transport through towns markets and ancient ruins and mixing with the locals on the way Her pre conceived ideas are shattered by simple incidents The absence of ulterior motives creates opportunities for conversation hospitality and a re connection to people of many backgrounds and perspectives Successive incidents contrast the media s images and instead reveal similarities between cultures and a truth that is beyond what she could have envisaged Talking with Strangers confronts entrenched opinions It is a journey that takes the reader from Athens to Cairo and to a greater connection with people from all walks of life It exposes cultural differences and human commonalities and engages in an inquiry of what human needs are common and what the differences actually are It demands that we have a greater inquiry and compassion for people challenge ourselves and enjoy our humanity

Ancient Near Eastern Iconography and the Bible Hans Ulrich Steymans,2024-10-31 Examines the dilemma of whether ancient Near Eastern images while providing unique aspects of the world views of the cultures from which the Bible arose can be interpreted in a way that traceably relates them to the biblical text To avoid the danger of using images merely as illustrations for concepts found in the Bible one first needs to behold the image with its own right to been seen The essays within this volume describe the methods developed by Othmar Keel for bringing imagery into a dialogue with texts from the ancient Orient and their own interpretation including previously unpublished material from Keel The contributions begin with an overview of the scholarly work of Keel and the development of his aims and methods including a revision of an article dealing with semiology in the interpretation of art The book proceeds to address the research history of iconology in art history presenting the methodology of Erwin Panofsky and one of his influential predecessors Charles Clermont Ganneau in contrast with Keel s three methodological steps leading from iconographic analysis to iconology Contributors then present two case studies of how Keel's method can be applied to interpret Egyptian and Mesopotamian images allowing insights into the worldview of an ancient culture and the aim of iconology The book concludes with a report about how iconographic analysis and iconology is taught on University level
