Wandering Women and Holy Matrons Leigh Ann Craig, 2009 This book explores women's experiences of pilgrimage in Latin Christendom between 1300 and 1500 C E Later medieval authors harbored grave doubts about women's mobility literary images of mobile women commonly accused them of lust pride greed and deceit Yet real women commonly engaged in pilgrimage in a variety of forms both physical and spiritual voluntary and compulsory and to locations nearby and distant Acting within both practical and social constraints such women helped to construct more positive interpretations of their desire to travel and of their experiences as pilgrims Regardless of how their travel was interpreted those women who succeeded in becoming pilgrims offer us a rare glimpse of ordinary women taking on extraordinary religious and social authority

Gemeindeordnung und Kirchenzucht: Johannes a Lascos Kirchenordnung für London (1555) und die reformierte Konfessionsbildung Judith Becker, 2007-06-30 This study describes the origins of early Reformed confessional development using the example of those congregations of religious refugees most heavily influenced by John Laski the congregation at Emden and the Dutch and French Strangers Churches in London At its center are questions about the congregation as the location of ecclesiology The outlines of Laski's theology which viewed the congregation as the communion of the body of Christ are described in comparison to the approaches of other Reformers and in relationship to daily reality in the second half of the sixteenth century Working from a rich base of source materials the author discusses the development of teachings on church offices and the practice of church discipline thus illuminating the self understanding of the three congregations Becker shows how reciprocal influences and attempts to conform led to the unification of doctrine and community life within these congregations

The Primacy of the Postils John M. Frymire, 2009-12-23 Scholarship on the German Reformation has long equated preaching with Protestantism just as many scholars have employed sermons but usually in supplemental and unsystematic ways Based on an analysis of over 400 standard sermon collections postils produced by Catholics Lutherans and Calvinists 1520-1620 this study offers the first comprehensive systematic presentation of these works from a cross confessional perspective It lays to rest the notion that preaching was somehow distinctively Protestant while tracing the creation production use and censorship of postils These sermon collections were nothing less than the applied distillation of Christianity delivered on a regular basis by the clergy to the laity and as such the most important vehicle for the dissemination of ideas in early modern Germany

 Studies in Central European Histories Justification and Participation in Christ Olli-Pekka Vainio, 2008-02-28 The unity of the early Lutheran reformation even in the central themes such as justification is still an open question This study examines the development of the doctrine of justification in the works of the prominent first and second generation Lutheran reformers from the viewpoints of divine participation and effectivity of justification Generally Luther's idea of Christ's real presence in the believer as the central part of justification is maintained and taught by all Reformers while they simultaneously develop various theological frameworks to depict the nature of participation However in some cases these developed models are contradictory which causes tension between theologians resulting in the invention of new doctrinal formulations Martin Bucer Briefwechsel/Correspondance: Band VII (Oktober 1531 - März 1532) Berndt Hamm, Reinhold Friedrich, Wolfgang Simon, 2008-10-31 Unlike most theologians of his age Martin Bucer proved to be farsighted with respect to European affairs In addition to his contacts within Alsace and Germany he established relations with almost every European country It was his ecumenical attitude that always led him to mediate between the parties in the religious battles of his time His deep commitment to the goal of reaching agreement can be traced in all his activities works and letters Since the first editor Jean Rott Strasbourg died in 1998 Bucer's correspondence has been edited in Erlangen This academic edition of source material provides future research with a broad basis for significant aspects of Reformation history about which very little is known Volume VII covers the period from October 1531 to March 1532 The 'Book' of Travels: Genre, Ethnology, and Pilgrimage, 1250-1700 Palmira Brummett, 2009-04-24 The early modern era is often envisioned as one in which European genres both narrative and visual diverged indelibly from those of medieval times This collection examines a disparate set of travel texts dating from the thirteenth to the seventeenth centuries to question that divergence and to assess the modes themes and ethnologies of travel writing It demonstrates the enduring nature of the itinerary the variant forms of witnessing including imaginary maps the crafting of sacred space as a cautionary tale and the use of the travel narrative to represent the transformation of the authorial self Focusing on European travelers to the expansive East from the soft architecture of Timur's tent palaces in Samarkand to the ambiguities of sexual identity at the Mughul court these essays reveal the possibilities for cultural translation as travelers of varying experience and attitude confront remote and foreign or

Syros,2008-08-31 This study is the first comprehensive treatment of the way Marsilius of Padua 1270 1290 1342 a seminal political thinker of the Late Middle Ages elaborated on Aristotle s political thought in articulating his political theory Its main thesis is that Marsilius is committed to the view of a sharp disjunction between ethics and politics thus deviating radically not only from Aristotle but also from the majority of medieval Commentators of Aristotle such as Thomas Aquinas Giles of Rome Peter of Auvergne and John of Jandun From a methodological viewpoint it follows the model of concentric circles its starting point is a detailed comparison of the main ideas of the Defensor pacis Defender of Peace 1324 Marsilius opus magnum on the one hand and Marsilius quotations from William of Moerbeke s Latin translations of Aristotle s works focusing in particular on the Politics the Nicomachean Ethics the Rhetoric and the Metaphysics as well as the Greek original on the other This method of exploring the use of classics in medieval political thought challenges the notion of reception as conceived of by recent research and brings out a number of crucial differences between Marsilius and Aristotle Further this study situates Marsilius ideas in the history of late medieval political thought podest literature etc the political realities that obtained in 14th century Padua and late medieval debates on the fortunes of the communal regime and on the rise of the signoria e.g. Albertino Mussato. It also argues against Marsilius's so-called Averroism and identifies Moses Maimonides' Guide of the Perplexed as a potential source of the Defensor pacis.
