The Art of Aging Sherwin B. Nuland, 2007-02-27 In his landmark book How We Die Sherwin B Nuland profoundly altered our perception of the end of life Now in The Art of Aging Dr Nuland steps back to explore the impact of aging on our minds and bodies strivings and relationships Melding a scientist s passion for truth with a humanist s understanding of the heart and soul Nuland has created a wise frank and inspiring book about the ultimate stage of life s journey The onset of aging can be so gradual that we are often surprised to find that one day it is fully upon us The changes to the senses appearance reflexes physical endurance and sexual appetites are undeniable and rarely welcome and yet as Nuland shows getting older has its surprising blessings Age concentrates not only the mind but the body s energies leading many to new sources of creativity perception and spiritual intensity Growing old Nuland teaches us is not a disease but an art and for those who practice it well it can bring extraordinary rewards I m taking the journey even while I describe it writes Nuland now in his mid seventies and a veteran of nearly four decades of medical practice Drawing on his own life and work as well as the lives of friends both famous and not Nuland portrays the astonishing variability of the aging experience Faith and inner strength the deepening of personal relationships the realization that career does not define identity the acceptance that some goals will remain unaccomplished these are among the secrets of those who age well Will scientists one day fulfill the dream of eternal youth Nuland examines the latest research into extending life and the scientists who are pursuing it But ultimately what compels him most is what happens to the mind and spirit as life reaches its culminating decades Reflecting the wisdom of a long lifetime The Art of Aging is a work of luminous insight unflinching candor and profound compassion informatics research and application The Business of Healthcare Innovation Lawton R. Burns, 2012-07-26 Second edition of a wide ranging analysis of business trends in the manufacturing segment of the healthcare industry Strategies and Priorities for African Agriculture Xinshen Diao, James Thurlow, Samuel Benin, Shenggen Fan, 2012 In the first decade of the twenty first century countries within Sub Saharan Africa reached milestones that seemed impossible only ten years ago macroeconomic stability sustained economic growth and improved governance Continuing this pattern of success will require enhancing the region s agricultural sector in which a large proportion of poor people make a living The authors of Strategies and Priorities for African Agriculture Economywide Perspectives from Country Studies argue that although the diversity of the region makes generalization difficult increasing staple crop production is more likely to reduce poverty than increasing export crop production This conclusion is based on case studies of ten low income African countries that reflect varying levels of resource endowments and development stages The authors also recommend increased more efficient public investment in agriculture and agricultural markets and propose new directions for future research The last ten years have been an encouraging time for one of the world s poorest regions this book offers an analysis of how recent promising trends can be sustained into the future Breaking the Boundaries B. Sanyal, 2013-03-09 Exploring the complex arena of international planning for development has until now been uniquely the privilege of influential senior western planners This book calls into question many of their hallowed principles and much of the conventional wisdom still evident in the halls of academe At a time of increasing enrollment of foreign students in North American planning programs the emergence of a new voice has coincided with a growing skepticism worldwide about old notions of planning and development in poorer and ex colonial countries Now there is a need for brave innovations to reshape our understanding of the global crisis and the potential for progressive and democratic local solutions in both rich and poor nations alike This new voice is given expression by academics and professionals from Third World nations who received their planning education in the west and who now hold posts in major western planning schools Breaking the Boundaries presents their views and those of concerned colleagues about the need for a radically changed curriculum based on a comparative one world approach to planning education Their personal experiences as young expatriate scholars and later as teachers of both Third World and First World students in western planning schools are seen as crucial to this need for change Through candid reflections and perceptive critiques of their own field the spatial environmental social design and communications disciplines the contributors explore crucial issues in development planning from theoretical and professional practice perspectives Milestones in Mass Communication Research Shearon Lowery, Melvin Lawrence DeFleur, 1988 Bulletin American Lung Association, 1926

Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Water Science and Technology Board, Committee to Review the New York City Watershed Protection Program, 2021-01-04 New York City's municipal water supply system provides about 1 billion gallons of drinking water a day to over 8.5 million people in New York City and about 1 million people living in nearby Westchester Putnam Ulster and Orange counties. The combined water supply system includes 19 reservoirs and three controlled lakes with a total storage capacity of approximately 580 billion gallons. The city's Watershed Protection Program is intended to maintain and enhance the high quality of these surface water sources. Review of the New York City Watershed Protection Program assesses the efficacy and future of New York City's watershed management activities. The report identifies program areas that may require future change or action including continued efforts to address turbidity and responding to changes in reservoir water quality as a result of climate change. A
