Recent Advances in Indian Medical

Anthropology P.C. Joshi, Chakraverti Mahajan, 2021-01-01 Medical Anthropology is one of the fastest growing sub disciplines of anthropology. At a time when traditional medicines and alternative and complementary medicines are creating an important space within the domain of health care, medical anthropology with its specialized methodology and holistic perspective is becoming a crucial subject. In Indian context, the creation of a separate Ministry of AYUSH and importance given to traditional knowledge in the field of medicines has necessitated that the scattered knowledge located in the remote tribal and isolated rural areas be compiled and consolidated. This volume provides multifaceted insights into the current research in Medical Anthropology in India. Providing inputs from seasoned as well as budding anthropologists, it discusses the issues of disciplinary discourses, healing strategies, mental health and well being, gender and health and health policy in diverse contexts.

It will also interest policy makers, security experts and military personnel.

Gendered Militarism in Canada Nancy Taber, 2016-01-29. Despite Canada's claim to be a gender equitable nation, militarism continues to function in ways that protect inequality. From the Introduction, Little has been done to examine, critique and challenge the ways ingrained societal ideas of militarism and gender influence lifelong learning patterns and practices of Canadians. Editor Nancy Taber and ten other contributors explore reasons why Canadian educators should be concerned with how learning, militarism and gender intersect. Readers may be surprised to discover how this reaches beyond the classroom into the everyday lessons, attitudes and habits that all Canadians are taught, often without question. Pushing the boundaries of education theory, research and practice, this book will be of particular interest to feminist adult and teacher educators and to scholars and students of education, the military and women's and gender studies. Foreword by Patricia Gouthro. Contributors: Mark Anthony Castrodale, Gillian L. Fournier, Andrew Haddow, Cindy L. Hanson, Laura Lane, Jamie Magnusson, Robert C. Mizzi, Shahrzad Mojab, Snezana Ratkovi, Roger Saul, Nancy Taber.

Gender and International Security Laura Sjoberg, 2009-10-16. This book defines the relationship between gender and international security, analyzing and critiquing international security theory and practice from a gendered perspective. Gender issues have an important place in the international security landscape but have been neglected both in the theory and practice of international security. The passage and implementation of UN Security Council Resolution 1325 on Security Council operations, the integration of gender concerns into peacekeeping, the management of refugees, post conflict disarmament and reintegration and protection for non combatants in times of war shows the increasing importance of gender sensitivity for actors on all fronts in global security. This book aims to improve the quality and quantity of conversations between feminist security studies and security studies more generally in order to demonstrate the importance of gender analysis to the study of international security and to expand the feminist research program in Security Studies. The chapters included in this book not only challenge the assumed irrelevance of gender, they argue that gender is not a subsection of security studies to be compartmentalized or briefly considered as a side issue. Rather, the contributors argue that gender is conceptually, empirically and normatively essential to studying international security. They do so by critiquing and reconstructing key concepts and theories in international security by looking for the increasingly complex roles women play as security actors and by looking at various contemporary security issues through gendered lenses. Together, these chapters make the case that accurate, rigorous and ethical scholarship of international security cannot be produced without taking account of women's presence in or the gendering of world politics. This book will be of interest to all students of critical security studies, gender studies and International Relations in general. Laura Sjoberg is Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of Florida. She has a PhD in International Relations and Gender Studies from the University of Southern California and is the author of Gender Justice and the Wars in Iraq (2006) and with Caron Gentry Mothers Monsters Whores: Women's Violence in Global Politics (2007).

Mothering in East Asian Communities; Politics and Practices Patti Duncan, 2014-09-01. In Mothering in East Asian Communities, Duncan and Wong seamlessly rupture a homogenous identity category that of the tiger mom. The editors invoke the works of diverse contributors who critically challenge essentialized identity categories and racialized and sexualized experiences of women of color within the institution of motherhood and practices of mothering. Here the edited volume grapples with globalization, transnationalism and capitalism with an East Asian ethno-racial cultural context. Duncan and Wong offer a personal and political analysis of motherhood that is socially and culturally situated.

Peace and Security in Indo-Pacific Asia Sorpong Peou, 2021-11-21. Peace and Security in Indo-Pacific Asia is for the informed, the interested and the engaged. Sorpong Peou brings together the skills of the pedagogue with the knowledge of the scholar. Dr David Dewitt, University Professor Emeritus, Senior Scholar, York University, Toronto, Canada. Peou's excellent book provides both the lay reader and the specialist with six important theoretical frameworks which should provide the basis for better appreciation of what a security community in Indo-Pacific Asia means in our world today. There are very few scholars who understand the region like Peou. Dr W. Andy Knight, Professor of Political Science, the University of Alberta, Canada. Sorpong Peou's extraordinary breadth of knowledge of both International Relations theory and the key trends in Indo-Pacific Asia shines through in this authoritative analysis. Dr Richard Stubbs, Professor of Political Science, McMaster University, Canada. A pedagogical approach of the textbook that is appreciated is how the author respectfully engages with the theories of IR and is not pushing an agenda of denouncing some theories and trying to persuade the reader of others. We live in such polarizing times that it is truly refreshing to read scholarly work that avoids sensationalistic attacks on theories that have been debated for decades. Each theory in this manuscript is explored on its own terms and the reader is encouraged to figure out where they stand on these enduring debates in the context of Indo-Pacific security. The approach will lead to compelling classroom discussions of the theories and the politics of the region. This book is a must-read for any student or observer of security trends in the region. Dr Mark Williams, Chair and Professor of Political Studies, Vancouver Island University, B.C., Canada.
