Military And Naval Silver Treasures Of The Mess And Wardroom:

Military and Naval Silver Roger Perkins,1999 This work seeks to demonstrate that the silver owned by the armed forces is much more than beautifully crafted precious metalwork This is silver with a human face By virtue of the wording engraved upon it each piece has a story to tell Its provenance and history is there to be read and interpreted Echoes of Success:

Identity and the Highland Regiments Ian Stuart Kelly,2015-03-31 In Echoes of Success Ian Stuart Kelly uses new information about late Victorian Scottish Highland battalions to provide new insights into how groups identify themselves and pass that sense on to successive generations of soldiers Kelly applies concepts from organisational theory the study of how organisations function to demonstrate how soldiers experiences create a blueprint of expected behaviours and thought patterns that contribute to their battalions continued success This model manages the interplay between public perception and actual life experiences more effectively than current approaches to understanding identity Also Kelly s primary research offers a more certain description of soldiers life faith education and discipline than has previously been available Current
